'TWAS THE SEASON. . .

The holiday season over, 3-year-old Matthew Schendel of Novato mournfully hauls away the family Christmas tree. He deposited it today at the Novato Fire District's training tower on Atherton Avenue, where the professional firemen's association is to conduct a big tree burn this weekend. Trees will be accepted at the tower from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

COVE PROJECT

$2.34 Million Damages Asked

Two suits seeking $2,340,000 in damages from opponents of a 102-unit apartment project proposed on Strawberry Cove have been filed in Marin Superior Court by the developer and owner of the property.

The suits were their response to the Strawberry Recreation District's claim filed in the same court in November that the public had acquired an irrevocable right to cross the entire property to get to the bay.

The owner of the 6.7-acre property, Leonard B. Fleischman of Belvedere, filed a countersuit seeking $1 million in punitive damages and $300,000 in actual damages from the recreation district for blocking the development.

The developer, Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap, took a different legal tactic yesterday by naming 220 persons, including three directors of the recreation district, and 600 John Does, and charging them with "wrongful combination to slander title and interfere with property interests."

Broman's suit seeks $1 million in exemplary damages and $40,000 in actual damages caused by delay of the project by the recreation district suit.

Broman stressed in an interview with the Independent-Journal that his legal action was not aimed at conservationists, but at "obstructionists."

Broman noted that his plans were endorsed by Marin conservation organizations at the time they were approved by both the county planning commission and supervisors.

Broman's plans now face their final hurdle, a fill permit from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission for a boardwalk to allow public access along the entire waterfront of his project. Broman's application for a fill permit said the fill would be for eight hundredths of an acre, and account for $2,500 of the project's total $2 million cost.

The commission will hear the application at 2 p.m. on Jan. 21 in Room 1194 of the

British Envoy Abducted

A group of Tupamaros in a stolen car pulled in front of the ambassador's black Daimler-Jaguar in a narrow street of the old city seven blocks from the heavily-guarded British Embassy while a "fruit vendor" in the street produced the submachinegun from his basket. They dragged the ambassador's chauffeur from his car and used clubs to beat into submission the two bodyguards who were following in a small truck. Then, witnesses said, they drove the ambassador away in his own car with a stolen vehicle following.

The ambassador's car was found damaged a mile and a half from the scene, and witnesses there said they saw a man being transferred into a white car which took off at high speed towards the outskirts of the capital.

Jackson, 55, has been ambassador to Uruguay since July, 1969, and has held several other diplomatic posts in Latin America, the Middle East and Europe. He is an old friend of British trade commissioner James R. Cross, recently released by terrorists in Quebec.

Police immediately launched a widespread search, stopping all cars leaving and entering the capital, but the same group has been holding two other foreign officials for months while police have searched in vain.

On the same day they kidnaped Gomide, they also abducted U.S. police adviser Dan A. Mitrone and killed him when Uruguayan President Jorge Pacheco Areco refused to release political prisoners as ransom. The contest of wills between the president and the Tupamaros has gone on since.

Pacheco Areco has steadfastly refused to release prisoners as ransom for the kidnaped men on the grounds he is a constitutional president, not a military dictator, and as president cannot overrule the courts which have sentenced the prisoners.

The Tupamaros, who take their name from the Inca, Tupac Amaru, leader of an unsuccessful revolt against the Spaniards in Peru in the 17th century, are now demanding that the newspapers of Montevideo publish their manifesto as ransom for Fly and for Brazilian Consul Gomide. They are also asking $1 million.

Anti-Soviet Bomb Blast In Capital Escalates Crisis

Jewish Militants Claim Credit As Reds Deliver Stiff Protest

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A building housing some offices and apartments of the Soviet diplomatic mission in Washington was rocked by a bomb explosion early today. Moscow made a strong protest and the United States offered its "deep regret."

No one was injured in the explosion and aside from shattered windows and a damaged metal door, the building—actually a converted dwelling—was not seriously damaged.

A militant Jewish organization which has been leading protests to treatment of Jews in Russia was believed responsible.

Within minutes after the explosion, a woman telephoned Washington news agencies boasting of the bombing and proclaiming: "This is a sample of things to come. Let our people go. Never again!"

"Never again" is a slogan of the Jewish Defense League.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei I. Gromyko handed what a U.S. spokesman described as a "very strong protest" over the incident to the U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Jacob D. Beam.

Beam expressed "sincere regrets" and went to the Soviet Foreign Ministry, without being summoned, to discuss with Gromyko the recent series of incidents in Moscow and in the United States involving incidents directed at Russian personnel in America and Americans in Russia.

Even before Beam offered personal regrets, the State Department relayed to the Soviet Embassy in Washington "deep regret" over the bombing, together with a pledge to seek out those responsible and

Mrs. Meir's Ground Rules For Any Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli Premier Golda Meir met in sun-drenched Jerusalem today with U.N. negotiator Gunnar V. Jarring and laid down what observers called a stiff set of ground rules for Israeli participation in the Middle East talks. They included a demand that Egypt quit threatening war.

Before the talks began Mrs. Meir called them "the most important meeting I have had in a long time." Details of what was being discussed came today from Israel Galili, a cabinet minister without portfolio who is Mrs. Meir's close friend, confidante and speech writer.

In a speech to a Tel Aviv trade union gathering, distributed by the government press office and obviously reflecting the Meir-Jarring talks, Galili set forth these ground rules for the peace talks:

—An end to threats by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and other Arab leaders to resume hostilities. "Threats of renewed war will not make the talks wheels turn but constitute the source of hardening and failure."

—No attempt by the Big Four powers to impose a solution.

—Maintenance of the ceasefire without time limit after its Feb. 5 expiration date. "An ultimatum to reopen fire will bring renewed war and no softening on the part of Israel."

—Israel is ready to discuss withdrawal from Arab territories captured in the 1967 war but only to secure borders. "There is nothing to be gained in talking about getting Israeli obligations in advance for a total withdrawal." Any withdrawal must be part of a contractual peace and the pre-

Nearly Five Million Reported Jobless

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Uemployment increased in December to 6 per cent of America's work force, the highest level in nine years.

The Labor Department in reporting today the rise from a 5.8 per cent jobless rate in November, said 4.6 million people were unemployed last month. That was 2million more than were seeking jobs in December, 1969.

The jobless rate increased by 0.2 per cent despite the end of the General Motors strike which the Nixon administration had said was responsible for a substantial part of November unemployment.

White House Press Secretar Ronald L. Ziegler said last month that if it had not been for the "echo" effect of the GM strike, the unemployment rate for November would have been only 5.5 per cent.

The unemployment rate in December for white workers was 5.5 per cent while the rate for Negro workers was 9.3 per cent. Other rates were 4.3 per cent for all adult men, 3.3 per cent for married men, 5.7 per cent for adult women and 17.5 per cent for teenagers.

The unemployment rate of 6 per cent last month contrasted with 3.5 per cent level in December, 1969. The average jobless figure for the year was 4.9 per cent, highest rate since a 5.2 per cent monthly average in 1964.

December unemployment was the highest since December, 1961.

The number of persons unemployed 15 weeks or more exceeded one million on a seasonally adjusted basis, highest level since mid-1964. The average duration of unemployment was 9.8 weeks, up from 9.4 weeks in November.

The government's announcement of the unemployment figures came less than 24 hours after the Federal Reserve announced the third cut in less than two months in the interest rate it charges for loans to commercial banks. It cut the rate from 5½ to 5¼ per cent.

In another economic development, the Commerce Department predicted that U.S.

Reagan Promise On Welfare Saves Big Federal Fund Cut

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration today called off plans to cut off up to $500 million in federal welfare funds for California, citing a last-minute promise by Gov. Ronald Reagan to make more changes in the state's program for aid to welfare families.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Reagan sent a telegram late Thursday. An HEW official announced that the cutoff plan had been dropped at a news conference that had been scheduled to announce the cut.

"I have decided to give the state one last opportunity to solve its problem and thereby a cut-off of federal funds," said John D. Twiname, administrator of HEW's social and rehabilitation service.

The administration's chief objection was that California failed to abide by a law requiring updating maximum payments to poor families with children to reflect rises in the cost of living. Revisions in the monthly payments were supposed to have been made by last July 1.

Reagan said in his telegram that California has been hampered by state courts in an attempt to make state welfare regulations conform with federal welfare statutes. To overcome the logjam, Reagan said he would make a special appeal to the California Supreme Court.

Twiname said California could still lose the money if the court logjam continued, although the state legislature, now in session, could take action to change regulations and bring them into compliance with federal law.

"I am willing to withhold the drastic action previously contemplated for the expected short time it will take the court to resolve the matter one way or the other," Twiname said.

The long-running conflict between HEW and California involves the state's program of aid to families wth dependent children (AFDC). About 1.3 million persons, including 900,000 children, are affected.

California receives about $1 billion annually in federal welfare funds. Sources said the cutoff could have taken from $20 million to $500 million from the $684 million devoted by the state to AFDC.

Redwood Group Purchases Land

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Save-the-Redwoods League today announced the purchase of a 55-acre parcel of land adjacent to the Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park near Crescent City.

A spokesman for the conservation organization said the plot was important to preservation of the scenic foreground of the park and the approach road.

The purchase was made through funds donated by the group's 50,000 members.

Predicted Deficit

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The federal government's deficit this fiscal year will total $15.6 billion, a congressional committee predicted Friday.

Solano Jury Wrestles With Riot Trial Verdict

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — A Solano County Superior Court jury today was in its third day of deliberations climaxing the 11-week trial of seven men arrested during a violent demonstration at the Independent-Journal in San Rafael last Valentine's Day.

The case had been transferred to Solano County because the defense contended it could not get a fair trial in Marin County.

The 10 women and two men on the jury deliberated until 7 p.m. yesterday before recessing to dine and then to spend the night sequestered in a Fairfield motel.

Only once did jurors interrupt their secret discussions. Late in the afternoon, they asked Judge William E. Jensen to clarify a point in the 29-page set of instructions he had given them on Wednesday.

The panel went back to work at 9 a.m.today.

The seven defendants are accused of a total of 34 charges, including participating in a riot, failure to disperse, possession of weapons and resisting arrest. All were arrested on Julia Street during a day-long rally called in support of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, which struck the I-J one year ago yesterday.

Alarm Sounded On Open Space Property In Marin

By GEORGE NEVIN

Preserving open space in Marin County soon may require "telling a property owner he can't build on his land," a conservationist attorney told a symposium in Mill Valley yesterday.

Douglas B. Ferguson, who sometimes serves as a legal adviser to the Nature Conservancy, said this radical approach may be needed to acquire undeveloped ridgelands in Southern Marin although other tools are available as well.

Ferguson was one of three panelists speaking on "balanced housing, open space and Mill Valley in a regional plan" sponsored by the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club. Other speakers were Robert E. Burton, chairman of the Mill Valley Planning Commission, and John Blayney, of the regional planning firm of Livingston and Blayney.

Ferguson said the most common means of acquiring open space are through buying the land and through restricting development by zoning or other statutory regulations.

But, he said, the time may be coming when "we have to rethink our concepts of private ownership and realize that the public good may best be served by telling a property owner he can't build on his land."

Ferguson compared the idea of taking land from a private owner with freeing slaves in the Civil War. He pointed out that slaves represented a large investment to their owners, but that "social conditions change. Someone at some point had to tell them (slaveowners), 'Sorry, but society's needs are different now and you'll have to give up your property.' Something similar might have to be

Laird In Saigon For Vietnamization Rounds

SAIGON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird arrived tonight for meetings with top U.S. commanders in the Indochina theater, declaring the purpose of his four-day mission was to "assess the progress of Vietnamization and the military situation."

U.S. officials said a top item on the agenda would be what they described as the deteriorating situation in Cambodia where Communist forces have scored repeated successes in a campaign to isolate the capital of Phnom Penh.

Dispatches from Phnom Penh raised the possibility of a U.S. military airlift for transporting fuel to the capital if the situation worsens.

Laird arrived in an Air Force jet from the U.S. B52 base at U-Tapao, Thailand, with Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. They were joined here by Adm. John S. McCain, the U.S. commander for the Pacific and Vietnam, and the entire party was met by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, America's top Vietnam commander.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was at the airport when Laird landed, along with the South Vietnamese defense minister, Nguyen Van Vy, and Abrams' chief deputy—Gen. Frederick C. Weyand.

Weyand returned to Saigon Thursday night from a meeting with Cambodian Premier Lon

New Laws Asked On Grass, Guns

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A special study commission on federal criminal law has concluded marijuana offenses should be treated like traffic violations, handguns should be outlawed and capital punishment should be abolished.

The recommendations are included in a report by the 12-member National Commission on Reform of Federal Criminal Laws prepared for submission to Congress and President Nixon today.

The commission is headed by Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the former governor of California, who said the code would make simple possession of marijuana a misdemeanor, subject to a fine.

"We weren't ready to legalize it and have it sold like cigarettes but we did recognize that many people, particularly the young, are using it," Brown said.

It was anyone's guess what the response of Congress would be to the proposals. During its last session, Congress refused to outlaw handguns and added certain terrorist bombings to the list of crimes for which the death penalty may be imposed.

Spokesmen said there were several areas of disagreement among the commission members.

Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., the commission vice chairman, said he favored retaining capital punishment for crimes such as treason and premeditated murder.

The group studied with inconclusive results the 1970 report of the Commission on Obscenity. Brown said some important testcases in the field still were pending in the Supreme COURT. He said it was the feelng of the commission that the United States was "not ready to adopt the Denmark situation" under which all forms of pornography were legalized for adults.

The proposal would expand federal jurisdiction in criminal law to cover certain crimes committed in the course of another federal offense. It asks stiffer sentences for dangerous offenders, additional parole supervision for hardened criminals released from prison, and would make persistant misdemeanors a felony.

Alioto Asks For Justice Council

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor Joseph Alioto is asking the Board of Supervisors to create a permanent Criminal Justice Council to provide a united city front in seeking state and federal funds.

The council would recommend priorities in getting and spending money on the city's criminal justice system—the police, the sheriff, the courts, the probation department, the prosecutor and the public defenders.

Raphael Painting Is Seized

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston museum of Fine Arts proudly unveiled a previously unknown and uncatalogued Italian masterpiece in 1969 and valued it at more than $1 million. U.S. customs authorities seized it Thursday, saying it was smuggled into the country.

The painting, a girl thought to be 12 or 13 years old, is on a 10-1-2 by 8-1-2 piece of wood. Museum officials said the portrait was "presumed" to be Elenora Gonzaja, the daughter of an Italian nobleman. It was painted in 1505.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Willie Davis, who was present when the painting was seized under a search warrant, said the Raphael was legally purchased in Italy but taken from that country without a license and brought into the United States Sept. 4, 1969, without being declared to customs at the port of entry. He said a museum representative picked up the painting in London.

Ever since the painting was unveiled Dec. 15, 1969, Italian authorities have maintained it was smuggled out of their country. Rololfo Siviero, head of Italy's department for the recovery of works of art, announced Jan. 23, 1970 he had begun an investigation into how the museum got the portrait.

'Iron Monster' Eats Car Hulks

HOLLAND, Mich. (UPI) — Junk cars which clutter the American landscape are being chewed and shredded into bits of metal the size of large cornflakes by a machine known as the "Iron Monster."

The machine, which needs two minutes to render an old car into steel confetti, was put into operation here Thursday.

A junk car—less engine, tires and transmission—is fed into a hopper at one end of a huge machinery complex. Two minutes later bits and pieces of metal emerge from the other end.

Rippers, shredders, scorchers and magnetic separators work together inside the 650,000-pound machine — tearing, disintegrating and separating the materials.

The machine, costing nearly $1 million and installed at Padnos Iron and Metal Co., is supported by 339 cubic yards of concrete weight over 1.5 million pounds, bringing the total weight to 2.1 million pounds.

Seymour Padnos, president of the Iron and Metal co., said the "Iron Monster" will devour more than 10,400 junk cars in Michigan within a year. With the backlog of old cars, however, Padnos said it would take his company 10 years to clean up the Michigan landscape, working five days a week and eight hours a day.

In the effort to clean up the environment, however, ecologists have pointed out that it is not enough to just chew up the junk cars. For several years efforts have been directed not only at erasing old cars from the landscape but also improving the scrap metal.

Elzinga and Volkers, the Holland construction firm which provided the engineering and design for the 24-foot long, 43-foot wide, 44-foot high machinery, said the operation provides the refinement necessary to satisfy the steel industry.

Company president C. E. Haltenhoff said that although the unit at Padnos is the first in the industry, it may provide the breakthrough for other iron and metal companies to follow suit.

"What used to be considered as unsightly is now considered a serious health hazard and the discarded auto hulks have been properly brought into focus on the ecological scene," he said.

Egypt has 34 million people.

Train Catches Fire On Express Run

LONDON (UPI) — Nearly 200 passengers jumped to safety Thursday when the electric locomotive of a London-to-Birmingham express train burst into flames while moving at about 90 miles per hour.

The engineer guided the train to a gentle stop, then leaped clear of the flames. No injuries were reported.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Denies Romance

LONDON (UPI)—A spokesman for Princess Margaret said today "as far as I know" there is no romance between Margaret's husband, Lord Snowdon, and pretty Lady Jacqueline Rufus Isaacs. Lady Jacqueline's mother, the Marchioness of Reading, denied the story as "absolutely ridiculous."

Both were commenting on a report printed in the New York Daily News saying friendship between Snowdon and Lady Jacqueline, who met at a movie party, "apparently blossomed into romance."

The Marchioness, wife of the Marquess of Reading, said "the rumor is so very horrible. It's quite mad of anyone to think of such a thing."

Maj. John Griffiths, press secretary to Princess Margaret, said "as far as I know there is no romance. Both the princess and Lord Snowdon know the whole family well."

Help Costly

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Stock Exchange estimates it will cost nearly $69 million to liquidate and give financial assistance to 15 member firms that have been crippled during the Wall Street crisis since 1968.

Exchange President Robert W. Haack, in a letter to members Thursday, also said the board of governors has approved amendments to incorporate the exchange which is now an association. He said the board has been developing incorporation plans for the past two years.

In Final Week?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Tate-Labianca murder trial entered what was expected to be its final week tojay after seven long and stormy months.

Charles Manson's attorney, Irving Kanarek, assured the court he would conclude his final arguments by the end of the day. One other defense attorney was scheduled to give a summation.

90 Air Deaths

MOSCOW (UPI)—Ninety persons died New Year's Eve in Leningrad when a Soviet airliner's engines failed on takeoff, aviation sources said today.

The sources had reported the crash of the Ilyushin 18 of Aeroflot, the national airline, two days ago. At that time there was no information on the number of deaths. The Soviets seldom report air accidents, and they did not report this one in the public press.

The sources said the plane was taking off from Leningrad's Smolny Airport on a New Year's Eve flight to Yerevan, capital of Armenia.

Towel Cleared

TORONTO (UPI) — A surgical towel left in the body of a man during an operation did not lead to his death a week later, a coroner's jury ruled Thursday. But it recommended such towels no longer be used in surgery.

Wilfred English, 68, a retired customers inspector, died at Toronto General Hospital Nov. 22 a week after undergoing an emergency operation for a ruptured aneurysm on the aorta, the main artery leading from the heart to the legs.

An autopsy performed the day after his death showed an 18-by 30 inch towel had been left in English's body.

The jury did not attach any blame for the man's death to either the hospital or the surgeon who performed the operation. It ruled the major cause of death was shock caused by massive abdominal bleeding.

Nuclear Dust

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Radioactivity which leaked into the atmosphere from an underground nuclear test last month has been detected in 12 states and drifted as far as the Canadian border, a scientist said Thursday.

However, Dr. Melvin Carter, director of the Southwestern Radiological Health Laboratory, said the leakage was within the exposure limits established by the Federal Radiation Council and posed no danger to animals or man.

Carter told a news conference that radioactivity was detected Dec. 24 in snow at International Falls, Minn., near the Canadian border.

To Eye Strike

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers will decide Monday whether to strike Chrysler Corp. after rejecting the automaker's three-year contract offer.

The union, calling Thursday's offer "deficient", said the pact lacked a provision for retroactive pay for 120,000 salaried and hourly rated UAW workers in the United States and Canada.

The new offer, which would cost $1 billion in wages and fringe benefits, was virtually identical with the settlements the UAW won from General Motors Corp. after a 67-day strike and with the one it worked out with Ford Motor Co. without a strike.

Begins Sentence

MOSCOW (UPI)—Maj. Wolf Zalmanson began a 10-year sentence today for joining his family and friends in an abortive hijack plot.

The 31-year-old Jewish army officer was sentenced Thursday at the end of a three-day secret court martial in Leningrad, Jewish sources said. He was the last of a dozen defendants, most of them Jews, tried in the case.

All were accused of plotting to take over a small Antonov AN2 plane in Leningrad June 15 and flee in it to Sweden. There they hoped to obtain political asylum and emigrate to Israel.

The other 11 were civilians and were tried by a criminal court in Leningrad last month. Two of the 11 received death sentences.

Airline Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate subcommittee will hold hearings next month into the "deteriorating financial situation" of several major airlines.

The aviation subcommittee will start the hearings Feb. 2. Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., said the subcommittee would study "rising costs, lagging traffic growth and severe operating losses" facing several air carriers, including Pan American, United and Trans World.

Reports from New York Thursday said Pan American would be forced by multi-million dollar losses to eliminate the jobs of 1,400 unionized workers and 5 to 10 per cent of nonunion employes this year.

Bunche Hospitalized In 'Fair' Condition

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Hospital authorities today said United Nations Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, reportedly undergoing treatment for respiratory and eye ailments, was listed in "fair" condition and no visitors would be allowed to see him.

Hospital authorites said Bunche, 66, admitted last weekend, had been in "satisfactory" condition, but this had deteriorated to "fair." They would make no further comment on his condition nor would they discuss the nature of his illness.

Phosphate Ban Gets Court Challenge

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—The Soap and Detergent Association has filed suit against Akron's newly enacted ordinance banning the sale of detergents containing phosphates by June, 1972.

The association said its suit, filed Thrsday in Summit County common pleas court, means to challenge the law's "arbitrary deadlines to remove all phosphates."

State Water Plan Needs No New Dams

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The California Water Project can produce enough water to meet the state's needs "for the next two decades" without new North Coast dams, the Reagan administration said today.

The California Water Commission was told the state has "a breathing spell" of a decade or more on water supply development from convention sources such as major dams and reservoirs."

The report was made by the state Water Resources Department after an exhaustive survey of the state's water needs.

In a flat statement the report said, "Development on the Klamath River has been excluded from consideration at this time." Gov. Ronald Reagan last spring refused to endorse construction of the Dos Rios Dam on the Eel River.

The forecast eased the fears of numerous conservation groups, including the Sierra Club, that dams would be built on the Klamath, Eel and Trinity rivers to harness billions of acre-feet of water for transportation to Southern California.

The administration also reported that it was "very close to balancing the books" in financing the vast State Water Project.

The state water resources department cautioned, however, that, "even if all our costs and revenues turn out exactly as now estimated," the margin between deficit and surplus as forecast was "too thin for comfort."

The optimistic report was made to the California Water Commission after the agency studied the project's progress and the status of its financing.

A blue-ribbon committee set up by Gov. Ronald Reagan in 1967 predicted that the state because of improper financing might experience a project fund deficit of $300 million by 1972 and $600 million by 1975.

Department Director William R. Gianelli told the commission that a number of austerity measures have been taken and as a result "we believe we are very close to balancing the books."

Gianelli added, "It is reasonable to expect that we will have adequate funds to complete the project facilities necessary by 1972 and 1975."

The "financial integrity" of the $3 billion project will be maintained, he said, with the delivery of water and power already under contracts.

SUITS

State Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue.

Because of the recreation district's suit, however, the commission first may have to determine if the title to the holding has been clouded pending outcome of the suit. The commission could act on the application on condition that a permit be effective only after the suit is settled, and then only if Fleischman and Broman win the suit.

The three recreation district directors named in the suit were James K. Garner, Carl Schaefer and Arthur R. Senter. Broman's suit claimed that the district's suit was beyond their authority, and that they were acting on "their own desires and private purposes, and were engaged in their own private and capricious adventures, and those of other defendants."

Most of the other defendants are residents of Strawberry and the Tiburon peninsula.

Broman's suit noted that district directors previously signed an agreement with Fleischman acknowledging that Fleischman owned the property. The agreement was silent on the public rights later claimed by the district, according to Broman's suit.

The object of the defendants, Broman's suit declared, "was to prevent any improvement of the Fleischman property whatsoever by Broman or anyone else, and thereby keep the property unimproved."

He also charged that the defendants, "in furtherance of their common plan," had met both secretly and "under the 'front' or 'cover' of meetings of the aforementioned recreation board." The suit said that such board meetings "were used by some defendants as convenient pretexts for their own gatherings in pursuance of their private and wrongful plans."

Broman's 14-page suit claimed that the defendants "unjustly, maliciously and unlawfully combined to render worthless the ownership rights of Fleischman."

MIDEAST

war borders "were neither permanent nor secure."

—No international or big power guarantees can substitute for "secure and agreed borders backed by a contractual peace."

—Jarring must not go beyond his original mandate, if the U.N. Security Council gave him a new mandate this "will be for the worse and not the better" and a new meeting of the Security Council on the Middle East "might add obstacles and not clear difficulties."

—Israel still wants direct talks with the Arabs. "The U.N. envoy can help progress towards an agreement but real peace can be reached only by means of direct negotiations."

Galili said Mrs. Meir and Eban were empowered to discuss with Jarring "all that is necessary for the progress of his mission." But he said they would have to put to the cabinet "every new subject or any matter requiring a new decision."

She was smiling when Jarring arrived on the dot of 3 p.m. (8 a.m. EST) at her official residence. They posed briefly for pictures and she said, "We are very, very happy to have Ambassador Jarring here. Everything looks fine, including the weather."

Israel was sweltering in a June in January heat wave which pushed temperatures up to 86 degrees as the talks began.

Egyptian suspicion of the talks mounted steadily. Cairo's government-supported Voice of the Arabs Radio joined the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram in suggesting the United States was supporting Israel's demand for the Jarring talks so it could supply more arms to Israel.

The Radio also accused the United States of propaganda to justify its military aid to Israel. This came in a comment on reports from Washington that at least six Soviet ships carrying military equipment to Egypt and Syria had arrived during the past 10 days.

SOVIETS

to strengthen protection of Russian property here.

An official at the Russian Embassy said the explosion shook up one family—including a child—living in an apartment in the building. The building contains various kinds of offices including those of employes of the overcrowded Embassy, located on another street.

A few hours after the Washington blast, four blocks from the Soviet Embassy, a man telephoned UPI's New York office and said the bombing was the start of "a coordinated drive" against the Soviets that would spread to 22 American cities.

The callers did not specifically identfy themselves or who they represented.

The New York caller also concluded his message by saying: "Never again!"

While the New York caller spoke of further actions in 22 cities, Washington and New York are the only American cities where the Russians have any diplomatic or business personnel.

The United States expressed official regret to the Russians for the "senseless act of violence" and announced that "fixed" security posts were being set up immediately at all Soviet offices in Washington.

The U.S. apology was made by Richard T. Davies, deputy assistant secretary for European affairs, in a telephone call to the second ranking Soviet envoy in Washington, Minister Counselor Yuly M. Gorontsov.

The State Department said Davies expressed to Vorontsov "deep regret ... at the senseless act of violence perpetrated against the Eoviet commercial-information office this morning."

Davies told the Soviet official that until further notice, "fixed posts" would be mainlained at all Russian offices and that "every feasible effort was being made to find and arrest the perpetrators of this criminal act."

The Soviet Embassy has been the target recently of demonstrations by Jewish groups.

The demonstrations had been taking place periodically for some months but were greatly accelerated by the Leningrad trials and sentences of Russian Jews in connection with an airline hijacking plot.

In Moscow, meanwhile, a Pan American Airways official, Erastus Corning III of Boston and Albany, N.Y., told newsmen four Russian men had prevented him from entering his car in downtown Moscow for 15 minutes Thursday night and menaced him with such statements as "How would you like it if we beat you up right here on the spot?"

But they did not touch him, Corning, the son of Albany's mayor, said. His report was the second instance of verbal menacing by Russians of U.S. citizens, following that of an American diplomat who was grabbed by his lapels outside a theater Wednesday night.

Delegations of Soviet citizens continued to visit the U.S. embassy to hand in protest letters on the abuse of Russian officials and facilities in America. Four such groups visited by nightfall, making a total of 11 since Wednesday.

Some diplomatic sources said that although the State Department had been apprised of the sidewalk encounterees experienced by Corning and the embassy diplomat, they felt the situation should not be "exaggerated."

Corning, an official of the Moscow office of Pan American Airways, said he was menaced Thursday night by the four Russians in a parking lot alongside the Metropole Hotel.

"The men harangued me for about 15 minutes and without touching me they effectively prevented me from getting in my car," Corning said.

Corning said the four "asked me to do something about the situation for the Russians in the United States" and seemed particularly concerned about an incident where a bottle was thrown through the window of the Soviet U.N. legation into a room where a baby was sleeping.

Ceremony At Presidio For General

Maj. Gen. Stuart D. Menist of Kentfield will be presented the Army's Distinguished Service Medal at a Presidio parade ceremony tomorrow on his retirement as commander of the 91st Division.

General Menist has commanded the 91st, the Army's largest reserve training unit in California, since 1957 but has been associated with the division since World War II, when it was reorganized. The division's history dates to World War I as an outstanding combat infantry division.

More than 2,000 officers and enlisted men will take part in the 11 a.m. ceremony at the Presidio parade grounds. The general will be honored with a 13-gun salute.

In civilian life, Menist is executive vice president of the Firemen's Fund Insurance Co. He has held the position since 1969.

Menist graduated in economics from the University of California in 1934 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

He joined Fireman's Fund in 1937, but was called to active military duty at the outbreak of World War II.

He served as battalion and regimental commander in the Pacific and Far East theaters and was decorated with the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, the Army Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Combat Infantry Badge.

Menist, a resident of Kentfield for eight years, rejoined Fireman's Fund in 1946 and in 1959 was elected vice president of the company's Pacific Operations.

He has served as director of the American National Red Cross of San Francisco, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and the San Francisco Rotary club.

He has a wife, Elizabeth, daughter, Stacey 4 and a son, Robert, an Army captain stationed at the Presidio.

Recovering After Crash

A Mill Valley woman, driver of a car in which a passenger was killed in a San Francisco accident Wednesday night, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Her passenger, John Durfee, 67, who had just arrived on a plane from Tulsa, Okla., died of injuries suffered in the collision at 6:50 p.m. on the Central Freeway.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Mrs. Wenner's car jumped a divider strip and crashed headon into one driven by Henry Susskind, 66, of San Francisco. A third car, driven by Karen Bianchini, 26, of Piedmont, then hit Susskind's auto, officers said.

Susskind and his three passengers, Franny Bloch, 60, Milton Tick, 53, and Joanne Tick, 42, all of San Francisco, were reported in satisfactory condition today in San Francisco hospitals.

Notary Issuance

SACRAMENTO (CNS) — Edmund G. Brown Jr., secretary of state, today announced issuance of notary public commissions to Yolanda S. Sanchez, of 491 Cedar Hill Drive and Duncan P. Davidson of 25 Mount Tenaya Drive, both San Rafael.

SPACE

Blayney, whose firm is in the process of concluding a study of housing needs in Palo Alot, said that open space and low and moderate cost housing sometimes conflict, because some open space is suitable for construction.

But, he said, "Open land on hillsides is too costly for construciton sites." The result is that only expensive houses are built in the hills.

Blayney said he did not think that the public good is served by lands classed as agricultural preserves; on the contrary, he said, the system is against public interest and should not be used.

The Land Conservation Act of 1965, which provides for agricultural preserves, grants landowners tax benefits in exchange for agreements not to develop the property for at least 10 years.

The planner said that $650,000 in taxes in Marin were excused last year for agricultural preserves, "and you're getting nothing for it. There isn't one acre of that land would have been developed even if it weren't in the preserve program."

Moreover, he said, the act lulls conservationists into thinking "they have a tool for open space preservation," when actually they are merely subsidizing land speculation by making it attractive for property owners to hold their land and sell when the price is right.

"Landowners," he said, "will sign up for the program only if they see financial advantages to themselves, which means a financial disadvantage to the community at large."

Burton told the audience that Mill Valley has pioneered in acquiring low and moderate income housing. It did so by requiring a developer to build low-cost units in a huge apartment project as a requirement for approval.

Unfortunately, he said, compromises between open space and low cost housing sometimes are necessary. "Just like we may have to fill a small part of the bay in order to get a bicycle path, so sometimes we must give up a little open land to get housing," he said.

All the panelists said they felt problems in Mill Valley and Southern Marin are related to the rest of the county and to the entire bay area. Blayney said Southern Marin should "look at a regional district aimed at specific solutions to specific problems."

Moderator Harvey E. Bragdon, former Mill Valley planning director and now a county planning official, summed up the discussion: "This meeting isn't going to get up open space and balanced housing. We've got to put the pressure where it belongs — on the elected officials who make the decisions."

He urged the audience to attend city and county budget sessions and "play the truth game — tell them we want money in the budget for these things. That's the only way we'll get them."

Extension Granted For PUC Exception

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's Public Utilities Commission Thursday granted 28 additional days for the filing of exceptions to proposed changes in its rules.

At the request of Charles E. Mattson, deputy Los Angeles attorney, the time for such filing was extended from Jan. 13 to Feb. 10.

Angela In Prayer At Jail

Angela Y. Davis joined in prayer today in Marin County Jail with Rev. Jesse Jackson of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, who said he is her spiritual adviser."

Rev. Jackson, who arrived at the jail in a chauffeur-driven limousine accompanied by other SCLC leaders from Chicago, complained he was only allowed to talk to Miss Davis for 20 minutes.

One of the purposes of his visit, he said, was to bring her greetings from several black leaders and entertainers who support her. These included, he said, Coretta King, Ralph Abernathy, Billie Eckstein, Harry Belafonte, Sidney Poitier and Bill Cosby.

Rev. Jackson, who came to Marin from Chicago, said that he had been concerned about Miss Davis's spirits but found them to be high. He went on to say he had described to her how many people such as St. Paul, Joan of Arc, Malcolm X and Martin Luther King "used their time in jail to derive meaning out of suffering."

The clergyman, who described himself as a Christian minister of all denominations, said that Miss Davis feels isolated in the jail and that she is concerned that "other political prisoners such as the Soledad brothers" are not receiving their share of the attention.

The minister also suggested that President Richard M. Nixon owes the 26-year-old black militant and avowed Communist an apology and that he should give her an audience for comments he made when she was arrested. "I think that would be a classic conversation — Angela and Nixon," he added.

He also said a nationwide effort to raise money for Miss Davis's defense would begin on her birthday, Jan. 26.

Nol that touched on the fuel crisis in Cambodia and the continued inability of Cambodian troops to reopen Highway 4, the route between Phnom Penh and the oil refinery port of Kompong Som.

"I'm delighted to be back here in Vietnam again and I'm looking forward to the meetings and discussions we're going to have over the next four days," Laird said on arrival.

The Pentagon chief appeared weary after three days of travel from Washington to Paris, where he conferred with the U.S. negotiating team at the Vietnam talks, and a stop in Bangkok where he met Thai officials and inspected the UK Tapao base.

Laird said there would be no new announcements of U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam during his stay here, but the subject of more reductions in U.S. manpower was a principal topic of his conferences.

exports would exceed imports by about $2.2 billion in 1971, cutting about $500 million off the trade surplus of $2.7 billion recorded in 1970.

The department predicted that exports would increase by 10 to 12 per cent this year compared with a growth of 15 per cent last year while imports will rise 12 to 14 per cent in 1971 compared to a 10 per cent advance in 1970.

Assemblyman Fears Russians At Trial

A California legislator has joined those who have protested a State Department invitation to 14 Russian scientists to attend the trial of Angela Y. Davis.

Assemblyman Ray E. Johnson, R-Chico, introduced a resolution to revoke the invitation, saying the Russians might "send their 12 best propagandists" and turn the trial into a circus.

A State Department official sent the invitation with the blessing of President Richard M. Nixon after the scientists had written asking that the President "safeguard" the life of Miss Davis.

Earlier, Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who is in charge of courtroom and press arrangements for the trial of Miss Davis if it is held in Marin County, had also protested to the State Department.

Maloney, like some of Miss Davis's supporters, feared that the Russians, interpreters and guards might take all the seats intended for the public in the 104-seat courtroom.

Miss Davis, 26-year-old former philosophy instructor and avowed communist, is accused of conspiracy, murder and kidnapping in connection with the Aug. 7 shoot-out in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others died.

She is charged with having provided the guns and having helped plan the abortive kidnap-escape attempt.

At her arraignment Tuesday, she declared she was "innocent of all charges" and called the charges a frameup.

In asking that a "reasonable bail" be set for Miss Davis, her attorneys have called the evidence against her weak and termed the "state's case a sham."

The lawyers claim that the evidence presented to the grand jury was not sufficient to charge Miss Davis and that the case should be dismissed.

The record of testimony before Marin County Grand Jury which indicted her is still sealed and will remain so until at least next Friday. Miss Davis's attorneys have said it was all right with them to publish it immediately, but a court-appointed attorney for her codefendant, San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee, asked that it remain sealed.

Miss Davis and the 31-year-old convict are due to return to court probably the first week in March with an out-of-county judge to hear the various motions in the case.

Police Link Idea Gets Cool Airing

Proposed consolidation of the Cotati and Rohnert Park police departments got a cool response from the Cotati City Council last night, but a final decision will await a report from City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen.

Four of the councilmen said they largely opposed the merger because they were satisfied with the performance of Cotati's four-man department.

They noted that cities share a dispatching service and already cooperate and assist each other in serious situations.

Councilman Herbert T. Winter spoke in favor of the consolidation, saying it may save the city money in the long run.

Salfen said a full report and recommendation would be made soon.

The Cotati City Council also:

SALARIES — Approved salary increases for salfen, $1,000 to $1,200 per month; patrolman Wayne Barkhousen, from $601 to $644; and maintenance man Charles Hill, $465 to $491.

HIRED — Hired Ronald Baxman and Stanley Hayes as maintenance men at salaries of $465 per month.

ANNEXATION — Requested a joint study session with the Rohnert Park City Council to discuss proposed annexation of 58 acres on East Cotati Avenue planned for future subdivisions by the Forhim Corp.

SEWERS — Received a request for water and sewer service for four properties on East Cotati Avenue and said all property owners in the area should be contacted for possible participation.

Resurfacing Work On California

Resurfacing work which began today on San Rafael's California Street between Fifth and Windsor avenues was expected to be completed by late this afternoon.

Norris M. Rawles, director of public works, said yesterday the California Street project and one which was to start either today or tomorrow on K Street are the last of a street maintenance project started in December.

On Wednesday and yesterday, Mission Avenue between B and H streets was shut down in sections so a new surface could be laid. Contractor for the project is Breslin-Dalecio of San Rafael.

The K Street project will run from Forbes Avenue to Humboldt Street and is expected to take only one day.

Rawles said after the K Street resurfacing is complete, work on other city streets will not begin until April or May.

Holiday Inns Motel Plan Abandoned

Holiday Inns has abandoned plans to build a 210-room motel in Mill Valley because of the tight money picture, but another motel might be built there just the same, an attorney for the firm said yesterday.

Rodric L. Robinson said the four-story motel development, including shops, offices, a service station, a small boat marina and a launch ramp, was to have been built on Shelter Bay just north of Sabella's Restaurant, but the worsening economy made the project "unfeasible at this time."

Also included in the now-abandoned plans was a 13,500-square-foot building containing a restaurant, bar, meeting rooms and a coffee shop. It was to have been built partly over the waters of Richardson Bay.

The motel chain had gained approval of the project from the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission but had run into opposition from the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Robinson said the eight-acre bayside parcel, half land and half water, was "the most expensive site the company had ever considered," and that, coupled with the need for installation of pilings, walkways and floats, forced up the per-unit cost.

The attorney predicted, however, that another motel might be built on the property. "A related development may be going in there," he said, but declined to discuss specifics.

Chambers Plan Joint Sessions

The Rohnert Park Chamber of Commerce has agreed to join the Cotati Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring a merchants association to meet monthly.

At a meeting of Rohnert Chamber directors Wednesday, Ralph Jones and Stephen Jones of the Cotati chamber suggested the plan as a means of getting merchants together from both cities to discuss common problems. Merchants from Penngrove also have been invited to attend.

Meetings will be held the third Thursday of each month at noon at Chesney's Carriage House, Rohnert Park. Guest speaker at the Jan. 21 meeting will be Richard A. Van Gieson, Sonoma State College economics professor.

Boy, 6, Severely Burned In Car Fire

A Hamilton Air Force Base youngster was in "improved" condition at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco today after being severely burned in a car fire Wednesday.

Erick Mashburn, 6, was able to get out of his hospital bed briefly, his doctor said. The boy is the son of Sgt. William F. Mashburn of 130 Randolph Drive.

The boy was burned when the family station wagon burst into flames at 12:34 p.m. Wednesday, while parked outside the Ted Schuman auto agency on Redwood Highway, according to Novato Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The father was inside the agency discussing the purchase of a new car.

The Mashburn car "went up . . . poof," according to auto agency employee Louis Robinette. A customer, Steve Mena of Vallejo, saw the Mashburn boy's hand inside the smoke-filled wagon and pulled him out. Two other customers, Steven Davis and Louis Davis of Richmond, assisted.

Kidder said the fire's cause was under investigation.

Del Monte Lodge-Type Held Right For Marin

Resort centers of the type of Del Monte Lodge at Pebble Beach should be encouraged in Marin County to capture more overnight visitors, an official of Economic Research Associates of Los Angeles told members of the Economic Research Associates of Los Angeles told members of the City-County Planning Council last night.

Herbert Holley, vice president of ERA, presented a 110-page report on how to encourage overnight tourism in Marin. The planning council, meeting at Redwood High School, listed to the report and referred it to the council's tourism committee, headed by Carney J. Campion, manager of the Redwood Empire Association.

Holley recommended construction of 3,000 more resort hotel rooms in the county, with 75 per cent of them in West Marin along Tomales Bay south to Olema, and the remaining construction along San Rafael and Richardson bays.

He said the county could use 2,000 more boat slips, the bulk of these in San Rafael and Richardson bays.

Such tourism and recreation enhancement could generate 3,1000 more jobs and $2.3 million a year in tax revenues, said Holley.

Councilman Stephen Fraser of Sausalito, a council member, said however, he wants no part of Holley's program. "If it is implemented, please move it up north," said Fraser.

The next regular meeting of the planning council is scheduled for Feb. 4.

Children's Play To Be Given At High School

"The Cats and the Cockatoo," an original musical play for children by Shirley Bonbright of Ross and Joann Dunn of San Rafael, will be presented tomorrow at noon in the auditorium of San Rafael High School.

Presented by the Mosque Unit of the Junior Theater of Marin, the production features music by Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Mark Noble of Belvedere. Music director is Mrs. John Hoefer of Belvedere and 19 Marin women appear in the cast.

Two other performances at the high school tomorrow have been sold out, but tickets for the noon show will be sold at the door.

Additional performances are slated for Jan. 20 at 10:30 a.m. at Bolinas School and Jan. 22 at 10 a.m. at Marin Country Day School, 5221 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera.

Overdose Case

Hallie E. Boyd, 82, of 4221 Seventh Street, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Petaluma General Hospital after taking an overdose of sleeping pills. Police said Mrs. Boyd, found in her home yesterday, had been despondent because of poor health.

2nd Knifing Escape At Prison

One San Quentin inmate was stabbed and another escaped yesterday, less than 24 hours after a third inmate was fatally knifed in the prison.

Associate Warden James W. L. Parks aid today there was no evidence linking any of the three episodes, though there were rumors all three convicts had been involved in narcotics dealings.

The escaper was Ronald L. Krueger, 28, of Los Angeles. He was a prison electrician who was allowed to drive a maintenance truck outside the prison walls. He was reported missing at the 4:30 p.m. check, and was last seen at 3 p.m., Park said.

Inmate Leon Gilbert, 28, was found with a knife in his back at 1:40 p.m. yesterday alongside the east cell block. Park reported a 10-inch, prison-made knife was deflected by Gilbert's shoulder blades into his rib cage, and his condition was reported good in the prison hospital today.

Gilbert, a research clerk in the pre-release unit, was away from his office when attacked by an unidentified assailant. He had been sentenced to five years to life on four counts of robbery in Orange, San Diego and San Bernardino counties in October 1968, Park said.

The escaper, Krueger, was sentenced in July 1967 on a Los Angeles County conviction of receiving stolen goods. He was transferred to San Quentin last February after having trouble in a conservation camp, Park said.

The inmate fatally stabbed Wednesday was Harvey C. Fortner, 30, of San Pablo.

U.S. Team Will Visit South Pole

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The State Department plans to send a six-man inspection team to the South Pole Jan. 16 to tour international research stations, including some operated by the Soviet Union.

Officials said the tour was planned to prevent the inspection provisions of the International Antarctic Treaty from lapsing. Previous U.S. inspections were made in 1964 and 1967.

FDA Finds Most Tuna Untainted

WASHINGTON (UPI) The Food and Drug Administration says most canned tuna is free of excess mercury, but all swordfish may disappear from the market because of a high concentration of the poisonous liquid metal.

The FDA said tests on half the nation's entire stock of canned tuna found that less than 2 per cent contained mercury in excess of the safety limit of 0.5 parts per million.

But that limit was exceeded in 89 per cent of the swordfish tested.

The FDA Thursday announced a recall of 1.2 million cans of tuna in addition to the 1 million cans recalled last month. Initial tests of tuna in December found excessive mercury in 23 per cent of the samples, but this included a much smaller sample than the results announced Thursday, and the tests concentrated on lots suspected of containing the substance.

Virgil O. Wodicka, director of the FDA's Bureau of Foods, said when tests of the entire tuna crop are completed next week he expected excess mercury to be found in about 10 per cent. The higher final figure is expected because the remaining tuna to be tested is of the larger varieties, which are more subject to contamination than the smaller tuna.

He said FDA regulations were keeping tainted swordfish off the market.

The FDA said other foods had been tested and found to be free of excess mercury, including milk, eggs, poultry, flour, beef liver, shrimp, fruits and vegetables.

Five GIs Killed In Ambush

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today a Communist unit overran an American paratrooper patrol and killed five of its members in a clash that produced the heaviest U.S. casualties of the new year.

Military sources said the reconnaissance patrol of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade apparently was ambushed in rice paddy country 295 miles northeast of Saigon Thursday.

Another airborne unit found the bodies of the slain GIs after clashing with a larger Communist force. They said radio contact with the first group was lost suddenly some hours earlier.

The fighting broke out 16 miles south of Bong Son in the coastal plain. Helicopter gunships were called and two platoons of paratroops were brought in by helicopter after loss of radio communication.

Military spokesmen declined to say how large the ambushed patrol was but said there apparently were some survivors. There was no report on Communist casualties.

It was the heaviest American casualties since Dec. 31 when five American sailors were killed in an ambush of their boat on a canal deep in the Mekong Delta.

Binh Dinh province, scene of the fighting, has been a Communist stronghold for years and many Viet Cong pockets there have provided stubborn resistance to Allied pacification efforts.

Monsoon Rains

KUANTAN, Malaysia (UPI) —Monsoon rains today again drenched the flood-stricken east coast of western Malaysia where as many as 300,000 persons are homeless. The government said the flood had taken 48 lives.

Novato Police Urge Community Support

Novato Police Chief Allen V. Klemme, citing $152,645 in property loss due to crime last year, asked yesterday for community support in crime prevention at a Novato Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"We're trying to maintain a force on the streets, but we need public support," he said. "Not one neighbor has called to report a suspicious circumstance."

He suggested that residents show their support of police work by "becoming involved — and notifying police when they see or hear something suspicious."

He said the $152,645 loss resulted from burglaries, robberies, auto thefts, petty thefts and bad checks.

During the year there were arrests of 719 juveniles and 655 adults, he reported.

The department also issued 4,000 citations for various offenses during the year, he said.

There were 125 business establishments and 165 homes burglarized during the year, the chief said.

Reinstatement Hearing Set For Petaluma Officer

A hearing has been set for Jan. 25 in Sonoma County Superior Court on a suit filed by former Petaluma policeman Robert Blagborne seeking reinstatement.

The hearing will be before Judge Kenneth M. Eymann at 9:45 a.m. Blagborne has contended he was illegally fired from the department because of his activities during wage negotiations last year. In addition to reinstatement, Blagborne is seeking back pay since his Dec. 10 dismissal.

Blagborne was fired after a 15-month probationary period. Defendants in the suit are the City of Petaluma, the city council, City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and Police Chief Larry D. Higgins.

The city is expected to contend that Blagborne's activities in the negotiations that nearly led to a strike were not the basis for dismissal, but that he was fired because he had failed to meet departmental standards despite a lengthened probationary period.

Tape Deck Taken

Leftists Threaten Nerve Gas Move

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI)—The U.S. military today pushed ahead plans to ship 150 tons of mustard gas Monday while left-wing Okinawan groups threatened to forcibly disrupt shipment.

Chief executive Chobyo Yara Thursday announced backing for American plan to move gas by two convoys Monday morning through the seven-mile route from Chibana storage area to a waiting ship at Tengan pier.

Rubella Shots Can Still Be Had

Rubella make-up clinics will continue next week for children who missed the vaccination program November and December.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer announced the following make-up schedule for next week:

Monday — 1:30 to 4 p.m. at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Wednesday — 4 to 7 p.m. at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Friday — 4 to 7 p.m. at Corte Madera Recreation Center.

The clinics, an extension of the earlier program, are for children 1 through 11, said Dr. Albrecht. "No fee will be charged, but donations of up to $1 to the Marin Medical Society Rubella Fund would be appreciated from any parents who have not already made a contribution through the schools."

The mass vaccination campaign is aimed at preventing an epidemic of rubella (German measles), which has potentially harmful effects on unborn infants.

Clark Fails To Appear On Charge

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A bench warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Wayne M. Clark of San Rafael after he failed to appear for arraignment on charges stemming from a post-game scuffle among spectators at Kezar Stadium Sunday.

Clark, 27, was to appear before Judge Joseph G. Kennedy of the San Francisco Municipal Court.

Clark could not be reached today, but his wife said he had been in Monterey and did not learn of his scheduled appearance until it was too late. Arraignment had originally been set for Tuesday, but was continued to yesterday.

Clark and attorney Thomas H. Thorner of Kentfield were arrested along with 18 others after the Kezar Fray.

Thorner, 38, a former candidate for Marin Municipal Court judge, was arraigned Monday on charges of inciting to riot, disturbing the peace and interfering with a police officer. He is to plead Monday.

Closed Session On School Salary

The Tamalpais High School District board will hold a closed session Monday at 8 p.m. in the district office with its contract negotiating team.

Shift To Marin In 6th Predicted

Marin probably will replace San Francisco as the dominant county in the Sixth Congressional District, Rep. William S. Mailliard predicted yesterday.

Mailliard, whose Sixth District was last reapportioned by the Legislature under court orders in 1967, said that the reapportionment this year "logically" would shift more of his district into Marin.

But he acknowledged "there is a lot of politics in reapportionment, and I recognize there'll be a lot of political trading."

Mailliard, whose pre-1967 district was entirely within San Francisco, said that San Francisco's other congressional district will need to take a good share of the San Francisco portion of his district to meet the one-man, one-vote requirement. The other district, the fifth, is represented by Phillip Burton.

Mailliard, speaking on radio station KTIM's "Sounding Board" program, said that his district in turn probably would pick up part of North Marin now in the First District of Rep. Don H. Clausen.

Questioned about President Richard M. Nixon's criticism of the 91st Congress, Mailliard said that the President was aiming his remarks mostly at the Senate. It was the upper house, Mailliard said, that bottled up most of the administration's proposals.

He conceded that it was a "pretty poor way of running things" for Congress to have waited until half way through the fiscal year to pass the budget.

Mailliard said he would reintroduce in the next session a measure to create a Golden Gate National Recreation Area out of surplus federal holdings on both sides of the gate, and would push for minor expansion of Muir Woods National Monument to provide for parking and concession facilities that now are "crowding the grove."

Mailliard discounted new rumors that Hamilton Air Force Base may be closed soon, though he added its closing always was a possibility.

Asked to comment on Marin County voters' approval of a measure in November asking complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Southeast Asia by July, Mailliard said all combat ground troops probably will be removed by then — but he strongly disagreed with setting a deadline on removal of all forces from the area.

He said he favored total withdrawal as "an objective, but not on a deadline."

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Guilty Plea In Car Theft

George Edward Myers, 23, of no known address, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of car theft. He had earlier pleaded innocent.

Sentencing was set for Jan. 26.

Myers was arrested Oct. 29 after a high-speed chase through downtown San Rafael after being seen driving without car lights. The car had been reported stolen from a San Anselmo man.

Schapiro Named To Federal Grand Jury

Max Schapiro, 16 Pacheco Street, San Rafael, has been named to the New federal grand jury for the Northern California district.

Elmer E. Strand of Burlingame and Madeline J. Sheehan of Oakland were selected foreman and deputy foreman of the 23-member jury.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Baxter Labs For Growth Accounts

By Roger E. Spear

Q. We bought 100 shares of Baxter Labs at 32. Someone has advised that we buy more to average down. Do you agree? — L.K.

A. Yes. This leading producer of intravenous feeding solutions and medical specialty products has established itself as a true growth situation, having maintained an excellent record of sales and earnings gains since 1954. Despite inflated costs and the general economic slowdown, it appears that 1970 may be Baxter's fifteenth year of rising sales and earnings.

Record earnings of $10 million, or 37 cents a share, were posted for the first nine months of 1970, an 11 per cent increase over 1969's results. Sales rose 15 per cent year-to-year, to $134 million. A vital factor in Baxter's good growth performance has been the wide array of new products and marketing programs which the company has and is bringing into the field.

Continued gains are projected for Baxter, with an approximate 20 per cent earnings advance forecast for 1971. Product price hikes together with the healthy growth of disposable biomedical devices and medical solutions enhance the longer-range outlook. Use periods of weakness to add to shares.

Q. We have $20,000 which we wish to invest for maximum income. We must maintain the principal while the children are young as my husband is no longer insurable. What investment would you advise? — J.J.

A. High grade corporate bonds can be purchased with varying maturities from one up to 40 years, and, in your case, the maturity date would depend in part on the ages of your children. Maximum yield with a low risk factor can be obtained in AA or A-rated utility bonds with 25 to 35 year maturities.

In the 15-20 year category, yields to maturity are around 7 to 7½ per cent, about one per cent below the longer term bonds. Suggested issues include Boston Edison 4 5/8s of 1987, Union Electric 4 3/4s of 1991 and General Telephone of California 5s of 1987. These three issues are selling well below face value for current yield of 6.3 per cent.

NEW STORE FOR OLD FIRM

National Parts Co., on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael since 1936, has occupied this new store at 55 Vivian Way designed by Hageman-Thomas-Eklund and constructed by builder Al Villa. The automobile parts and accessories firm first opened at 910 Lincoln Avenue and has been located for the past 25 years at 809 Lincoln Avenue.

Construction Cost To Go Up, Builders Say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Inflationary labor wage settlement and increased materials costs will cause a sharp increase in construction prices, the Association of General Contractors of America said.

The AGC said projected new construction dollar volume for 1971 is $98.2 billion, up 7 per cent from 1970, but that actual physical volume put-in-place will increase little if any because of the increase in prices.

The AGC said a national survey it conducted indicated that stronger dollar gains will be made in residential construction which will increase 16 per cent to $32.7 billion, followed by utility and water suppoy construction which should increase 15 per cent to $9.2 billion.

Total building construction, the AGC said, including residential building, will increase 4 per cent to $65.6 billion. Heavy construction dollar volume will be up 4 per cent to about $13.2 billion and highway construction will be up slightly to a little more than $10 billion, the AGC said.

New Location For Bank Branch

Sierra National Bank will move its Corte Madera office from 5587 Paradise Drive this weekend and open for business Monday morning at 56 Corte Madera Shopping Center.

The office has been located on Paradise Drive since its opening about four years ago. Appointed manager at the new location is Wayne Polvado of Santa Rosa, who has been at the Greenbrae office.

FTC Hits Firm's Beauty Cream

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has claimed that a certain jar of beauty cream was not all it was crocked up to be.

The Federal Trade Commission took issue with "Irma Shorell Countour/35," which costs $27.50 a jar and is sold at such leading stores as Saks Fifth Avenue, Neiman-Marcus and Marshall Field. It is produced by Irma Shorell, Inc., New York.

The company had claimed that skin-restoring cream is equivalent and may be used instead of surgical face lifting, and will have a permanent or lasting effect.

Following the FTC complaint, the company promised to desist from such claims. "It's just a matter of changing phraseology and switching a few words here and there," a company spokesman said.

Dow Jones Off After Big Week

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks closed mixed in moderately active trading today.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.75 at 837.08 near the final bell. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.22 at 92.16. But of the 1,672 issues crossing the tape, advances edged declines, 713 to 689.

A volume of around 14,000,000 shares was down from 16,460,000 shares traded Thursday.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 50 5-8 up 1-8; Beth St 23 1-8 up 1-8; Chrysler 25 3-4 off 1 1-8; Dupont 134 3-4 off 1-4; Ford 55 up 1-4; Gen El 93 5-8 off 1-4; Gen Motors 78 3-8 off 3-4; and IBM 314 1-2 off 1 3-4.

The news background was mixed, but demand for stocks generally appeared to be restrained by profit taking following some sizeable market advances in the middle of the week, which had been attributed to President Nixon's encouraging statements on the outlook for the economy and a new wave of reductions on interest rates.

Late Thursday, the Federal Reserve Board (FED), which fixes the nation's credit policy, announced the third cut in less than two months in the interest rate it charges for loans to commercial banks. The move brought the rate to 5 1-4 per cent from 5 1-2 per cent.

The FED said "the move was in recognition of further declines that have taken place in short-term interest rates."

Record Sales In U.S. For VWs

ENGLEWOOD CLIFFS, N.J. (UPI) — Volkswagen of America Inc. has reported record sales totaling 569,692 cars in the U.S. market in 1970, up 3.3 per cent from 1969's 551,366.

Stuart Perkins, president of the German auto company's U.S. Sales arm, said the 1970 total could have been 50,000 higher if production difficulties had not reduced cars available for sale in the second half.

DINING OUT AND INNS

San Rafael Joe's Evokes Times Long Past Filled With Memories

One restaurant that for me seems to have an appeal that is most difficult to resist is San Rafael Joes.

Actually part of its attraction is based on something that goes back many more years than Joe's has been in business. As a boy I recall going with my family on numerous occasions to the old Saddle Rock Grill on downtown Broadway in Oakland. I am convinced that if it were in existence today it could very well be called Saddle Rock Joe's or some such, so strongly has my mind built up this association.

In the period before and during World War I and during some of the immediate years following, it was an Oakland landmark and had the same quality that Joe's has of being an "everybody's restaurant." It also attracted noteworthies of the day. Some I remember seeing were stage stars Jimmie Gleason and his mother (Jimmie later became a well known character actor in motion pictures) and J. Anthony Smythe (later to head the cast of radio's One Man's Family). And there, too, though I never saw him, came Jack London as a frequent visitor always with a stock of books under his arm, according to my dad, who seemed to know all of them by their first names. Apparently the famed novelist did not spend all his spare time in Oakland's waterfront square which now bears his name.

While I don't remember ever seeing a famous stage or movie star or writer at San Rafael Joe's, yet it is the type of place they would visit. It has some of those same qualities for its habitues that Damon Runyon found at Lindy's. It lives and breathes with its people, who do not go there to be seen but to enjoy it for what it is.

Joe's has other attractions, of course — the food and personal charm of the Rubinis and Farinas who own it — and for many the fine playing of Larry Vannucci, known as "the organists' organist."

For me these are frosting on the cake. In some way they are all part of the symbolism of that spot in my memories that was the old Saddle Rock Grill in Oakland.

THE HSIN HSIN RESTAURANT at 1559 Fourth Street, San Rafael is now serving a daily merchants lunch from 95 cents to $1.50 in addition to its regular Chinese menu.

Chinese family dinners are $2.50 per person. This restaurant is well attended and advance reservations are recommended. Closed Monday.

CAFE AMBROSIA, new venture of George, Bonnie and Angelo Loizos at 112 Spaulding Avenue, San Anselmo, has received its on sale wine and beer license which had been a little delayed.

Specialities here are Mediterranean food. Cafe Ambrosia is also retailing the wines of Fred Cherry, who formerly had his Cafe Bon Vin and Wine Discovery Shop here.

ANGELO AND VERA CAMPOREALE, who used to prepare the food at Anjo's at 535 Fourth Street, San Rafael, are back from New York and are living in Petaluma, I am told.

Food has not been served at Anjo's for some time, though Joe Scotto opens the bar daily at 3 p.m. He still keeps the name of Anjo's and has converted the dining room into a cocktail lounge. Guitarist Sal Sage provides entertainment Tuesday through Saturday nights.

MARIE'S PUEBLO, Marin County's oldest Mexican restaurant, now has a license for both wines and beers.

PIZZA PARLORS have been on the increase in Marin as elsewhere. There's one planned now for 7079 Redwood Highway, Novato - the Straw Hat Pizza Parlor. An application has been made for a wine and beer license, but the opening is still several months away. Straw Hat (a division of Saga Foods) has about 100 outlets in the West.

EITHER ONE of the Pizza Huts planned for Machin and Novato Avenue, Novato and 810 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo may open earlier. Michaels Construction Co. will build them.

NOW ON THE LUNCH MENU at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael: Veal fricadelles. The name doesn't indicate it, but this is a dish of Danish origin.

THE MARSHALL HOTEL at the coast is featuring Dixieland jazz by the five-piece Bay City Jazz Band for the next four Sundays through January. Concerts are from 3 to 7 p.m. and there will be dancing.

The band is led by Ev Farey, cornetist, who has been with Turk Murphy at various times over the past 15 years. With him are Bob Helm on clarinet, Lee Valencia on banjo, pianist Ray Skjelbred and Bill Carroll ontrombone. Beer, wine and other refreshments are available.

THE LION'S SHARE in San Anselmo has two entertainment billings for tonight and tomorrow night - Barry McGuire and the Doctor and Juarez.

Two more are down for Sunday — Big Mama Thornton and the Chico David Blues Band.

CHAMPAGNE DRINKING among Americans is increasing.

California sparkling wine shipment totalled about eight million gallons for 1969, but the first 10 months of 1970 topped the 10-million mark for the first time in history - almost 63 per cent more than during the first 10 months of 1969.

All table wines, in fact, are now outstripping dessert wines in volume. In the relatively few years since prohibition was repealed, wine is being used with greater frequency with meals in the home and restaurants.

TIBURON ARCHITECT M. Arthur Gensler Jr. designed the new English pub Thomas Lord's, which recently opened on Union Street, San Francisco. He managed someway to blend the decor with its surroundings and also make it reminiscent of London and New York pubs that have been serving fine foods and potable spirits for as long as 100 years.

It is owned by Peter Lee, Robert Freeman and Richard Bradley, who also own the Victoria Station Restaurant in San Francisco.

Menu includes a potted vegetable salad, hot and cold sandwiches, steak and kidney pie, Oxford stew, bangers and mash and Cambridge barbecued ribs. Aside from cocktails, only imported English beer is served. Food is served continuously from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. daily.

Priest To Spend His House Salary On His District

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., has answered some questions about how he will go about being the first Roman Catholic priest ever elected a voting member of Congress.

—He will continue to wear his clerical attire since "It's the only clothes I have. I haven't bought any others."

—He will live in the Jesuit community in Georgetown University and spend his $42,500 congressional salary, except for living expenses, on services for his district.

—He has no preference about being called "Father Drinan" or "Congressman Drinan" —"I don't mind what they call me, as long as they call me."

Rita Taxed By Hundreds Of Callers

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Rita Ann Galyean is probably the only 17-year-old high school junior in the United States whose telephone bill is paid by the Internal Revenue Service.

The embarrassed IRS volunteered to pay Rita's phone bill for an entire year last week after temporarily flooding her with calls from across the nation from people seeking tax information.

Rita's number was printed by mistake on one million income tax booklets distributed in the United States as that of the IRS center here.

Rita's telephone began ringing more than usual on Dec. 18 with taxpayers seeking information. By the first of the year, she was getting several hundred calls a day from across the nation.

"It's fun," said the brownhaired, dark-eyed girl before the IRS representative visited her and apologized. She said her boy friend "thinks it's funny-real hilarious.'

The fun ended quickly, and Rita's telephone rang less often after the IRS made arrangements with the telephone company to enable persons dialing the number listed in the booklets to reach a special operator who asks whether the caller is trying to reach the IRS or Rita.

Thief Likes Tiffany Lamps

PORTLAND, Maine (UPI)—Police report the existence of a burglar specializing in Tiffany lamps—those highly regarded antiques adorned with a stained glass shade.

One was stolen Wednesday from the living room of a Portland home, police said, and a similar lamp was taken from a Falmouth house earlier this week. In both instances, nothing else was missing.

Here's Campaign You Can Join: Free John Citizen

We've had "free Huey Newton "free the Chicago Seven," and "free the Soledad Brothers." Now we have "free Angela Davis."

All of these "free" campaigns have made a lot of noise, but none of them has attracted really widespread support. All have asked for freedom for persons accused of crimes — regardless of the evidence.

We propose a "free" campaign that should attract support from the great mass of Americans. It's in behalf of someone accused of no crime except working while others shirk, saving while other spend, voting while others demonstrate.

Free John Citizen!

FREE HIM from having to support, through his taxes, those who don't want to support themselves.

Free him from having to pay, through his taxes, for the wasteful prodigality of elected officials and appointed bureaucrats.

Free him from having to furnish for other services and amenities he cannot afford for himself.

Free him from the fear that haunts him when his wife and children have to go into the streets at night, that forces him to lock his doors in what used to be a safe, pleasant neighborhood.

Free him from the subjection of himself, his wife and children to the daily insults of obscenity and pornography in the mails, on the airwaves, in public places.

Free him from being gouged by manufacturers, merchants and service men, coerced by union bosses, harassed by the very public servants he employs.

IT REQUIRES no revolution to free John Citizen.

It requires merely those changes in laws that would restore them to the purposes for which they were intended, correcting the distortions that have made them serve the selfish purposes of pressure groups.

It requires merely that the laws be enforced and administered to protect society, not to provide a game of skill for those licensed for legal practice, and that those pledged to enforce the laws remember that their obligation is to society as a whole, not any special segment of it.

It requires merely that those in positions of power exercise the same careful husbandry of the taxpayers' dollars that they would if those dollars had to be earned by their own labor.

It requires merely that each of us — in office or out, in public or private employment, in business or unions — treat each other with the consideration we would like in return.

It requires merely that integrity and decency be recognized for what they are: the cardinal, necessary supports for an orderly, livable society — without which such a society cannot exist.

IT REQUIRES common sense, common decency, common effort.

Without these things, John Citizen cannot be free. With them, there is no place for bombs or bombast, riots or revolution.

Thoreau On Sparrows

"God did not make the world in jest; no, nor in indifference. These migratory sparrows all bear messages that concern my life. . .I see that the sparrow cheeps and flits and sings adequately to the great design of the universe; that man does not communicate with it, understand its language because he is not at one with nature. I reproach myself because I have regarded with indifference the passage of the birds."

Here, in Marin, we might well take heed of these words by the mystic wayfarer of Walden Pond. We have several varieties of sparrows that are winter visitors. We have no doubt that future generations will regard us as ignorant for neglecting the empathetic study of these migrants.

AFFAIRS OF STATE

Bigger Tax Bite Now Certain, With Welfare Drawing Blame

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Sometimes it appears redundant to talk so much about increased taxes, but there is no better method of making the fact known, loud and clear, that 1971 is going to be the year of another big increase in the state government's "take."

Even in the fanfare of inaugural activities, the new leaders of the legislature made it quite apparent their aim would be to cost the taxpayers more money this year.

Despite the aversion of Gov. Ronald Reagan to assessing increased taxes, the Democrats in Senate and Assembly have declared this is the only "out" to solve the immediate fiscal situation.

SEN. JAMES R. MILLS, D-San Diego, the newly elected president pro tempore of the Senate, says a tax raise is inevitable, while Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-Los Angeles, says he knows no way for the governor to go, except to ask for new taxes.

The people of the state do not yet know how the cloth will be cut, but do know it will be in one way or another. So the battle will be on to see who bears the brunt of the ever-growing burden of taxation.

Who it will be — the common people who even now have trouble making ends meet; the wealthy, who have grown wealthy in the process of despoiling the poor, or the big corporations, who some claim do not now and never have paid their share of the tax burden — depends on the legislative activities of the next few months.

THE BETTING around the capitol on the winner of this undesirable race is that the common people will come in first by several lengths.

The reason for the heavy odds on Mr. Average Taxpayer first is precedent. The people have always been the fall guys.

More odds are on the people because of the fact the wealthy and the corporate enterprises have sufficient lobbying interests at work to protect them in the clinches. And the tax battle is going to be a real clinch this year.

OF COURSE, the politicians are confronted with the task of finding a patsy to take the blame for the prospective tax increase, which won't hurt any of them individually very much as 1971 is an off-election year. If the governor and the legislature can manage to hold down the increases to something within reason, they will be forgotten come the 1972 elections.

The patsy wasn't hard to find this year. It is called welfare. And the reason it's throwing the state off its fiscal course is that it has progressed over and beyond its original purpose. Under welfare, the government is attempting to support a small army of non-producers at the expense of the taxpayers who earn a legitimate living.

But there is one thing certain in the potpourri of words and argument that will take place in the next few months — taxes will increase.

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

New Breed Of Scientists Challenge Objective Ideal

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — We have just survived a decade of war and assassinations, moon landings and massacre. It also was the first decade of the Age of the New Math. Now the products of schools where 2 x 2 no longer equals 4 are beginning to emerge from college into manhood and the professions, and predictably the results are scary.

Not because the young teachers and would-be leaders cannot add up a column of figures without a computer. That in itself is as immaterial as whether an aspiring politician has ever met a payroll. But the apparent illogic of the New Math symbolizes something broader.

What is unsettling is that in the past decade we have lost not only world leaders and romantic myths about the moon but also another few degrees of respect for a quality that gave each field of intellectual work a constant reference, like the North Star or the old-fashioned proposition that 2 x 2 does equal 4.

That is the concept of objectivity, in math, history, science, journalism and elsewhere.

IT HAS BEEN under attack for years, and of course the first sally against it always is that there is no such a thing as objectivity because every man is the prisoner of his own experience. Beyond that comes the contention that to be objective is to be neuter — that man is not a machine, and for his work to be a worthwhile human product it must reflect his own particular background.

Truisms all, all true. If historians stuck to dates and documents, American history would not have been enriched by Frederick Jackson Turner's idea of the receding frontier as the principal influence on our life and growth; if Albert Einstein had stuck to simple trigonometry, he would not have dared his theory of relativity; if Henry Mencken's ambition had been to be the most accurate wire service reporter living, we thousands would never have been inspired by his "Prejudices."

But none of those truisms adequately refutes the ideal of objectivity. Even if all the points cited against it are accepted, it remains the proper starting point for scholarship and reporting, the standard for production of that basic material around which opinions and theories are then validly developed. And that applies not only to the product, but to the producer: A man cannot qualify as theorist or interpreter before he is master of the unadorned raw material of research, portage.

ALL THIS STRUGGLES to mind now because in field after field young people are bringing their habits of thought and behavior from the New Math classroom and the streets where they demonstrate to challenge their elders in the professions. They demand to substitute their inexperience for experience and themselves for men already proven.

The radicals' complaint was that Seaborg was guilty of "the crime of science against the people," that research in technology was going into weaponry and research in industry was contributing to pollution. Reasonable complaints, perhaps, but paraphrased much more effectively by Stewart Udall, the former secretary of the interior, in a strong and orderly speech at the same convention.

At Boston, without knitting needles or disruptions, younger, more radical historians enlivened the American Historical Association convention by challenging the traditional views of the long-established Harvard professor, Oscar Handlin. Handlin's position, provocative to them, was that historians amid internal division and external racket had allowed their trade to "slip into the hands of propagandists, politicians, dramatists, novelists, journalists and social engineers."

THIS IS THE antithesis of the beliefs of the new breed of historians and scientists (and journalists) who conceive the very purpose of their work to be social engineering.

It is a struggle taking place in universities and academic conventions and somewhat less publicly in the newsrooms of the larger newspapers all across the country. It is one in which the young men who challenge the North Star as readily as their fathers' arithmetic do have a point, but in which they cannot be allowed to prevail, for the result would be to turn the whole body of our future learning into so many columns of propaganda.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Jan. 8, 1961

President Charles de Gaulle's plan for limited self-government for Algeria, to be followed by self-determination when the Algerian nationalist rebellion ended, won 54 per cent approval in a three-day worldwide French referendum.

Schoolboy Rowe, big league pitching great of the 1930s, died of a heart attack at his home in El Dorado, Ark. He was 51.

20 YEARS AGO

Jan. 8, 1951

Thomas F. Keating was installed as judge of Marin Superior Court, succeeding Judge Edward I. Butler, who retired at the end of his term after 31 years on the bench.

Allied forces yielded the ruins of Wonju, 55 miles south of Seoul, to Chinese and North Korean forces.

THE DRUMMONDS

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

He now knows that harsh partisanship made little appeal to the voters.

And he has concluded that another year of unproductive, partisan fighting between himself and a Democratic Congress will be hurtful to the nation and perilous to his re-election.

This is why Nixon has decided to change tactics in midterm. He began to make this change apparent in his recent TV conversation with network correspondents.

This is a good beginning and there is reason to expect that the President's olive branch will be reflected in his State of the Union message Jan. 22.

BUT WILL the new Democratic Congress respond in kind after putting on such a sorry performance last year?

The unanswered question is:

Will the liberal-oriented, election-minded, presidential candidate-packed Senate do its part to limit the excesses of partisanship and join with Mr. Nixon to do the urgently needed things?

The answer will come early in the new session.

IF THE PRESIDENT proves his own good faith in a firm determination to forego the excesses of partisanship, there is a fair chance that the Senate Democratic leaders will draw the same lesson he has — that it is better politics to get on with the job of governing than to play politics instead of governing.

It will not be easy for the Senate Democrats to match Mr. Nixon's offer of co-operation. The reason is that all of the Democratic presidential hopefuls are senators, and there are so many of them — at least nine now — competing for visibility and favor. They are nearly as suspicious of each other as they are of the President.

Each of them — Ed Muskie, Ted Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey, George McGovern, Henry Jackson, Harold Hughes, Birch Bayh, Fred Harris, William Proxmire — wants to get his name on popular legislation, and some would rather defeat a Nixon proposal than to have the President get credit for it.

NEVER HAVE there been so many presidential chefs busy in the senatorial kitchen. The outlook for co-operation is very uncertain unless they conclude that continuing the mess which the Democratic Senate made of itself last year will do much to defeat whomever wins the 1972 nomination.

They will avoid this mistake if they follow the best of their own past.

Under the leadership of Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn, Democratic congresses gave President Eisenhower constructive bipartisan support — and they didn't lose by it. They won the presidency in 1960 in part because Kennedy could run on a positive Democratic congressional record.

They will need such a record in 1972. They will need it badly.

RICHARD NIXON will be offering to Congress a far more imaginative, activist, meaningful legislative program than anything has has offered in the past. It will embrace the crucially needed welfare reform, greatly enlarged revenue-sharing to save the states and the cities from imminent bankruptcy, a new health program, and an expanded, deficit-spending budget to stimulate the economy.

This is what the nation needs. This is what the nation can't afford to be without. This is reordering priorities the way they need to be reordered.

We believe that those who do most to help bring these measures about will have the best chance of winning in 1972. We believe the voters will reward the doers, not the "do-notters."

Passenger Train Routes Show Extent Of Decay

(Reprinted from Washington Evening Star)

The tentative routes outlined for the government-sponsored rail passenger system point up the pitiful plight of what should be a healthy form of transportation. The Department of Transportation contemplates the retention of about 150 intercity passenger trains, less than half the number now operating and a laughable fraction of the 11,000 trains that ran in 1946 and of the 20,000 that chugged along in 1929.

Economically, this is all the service that DOT officials think the business will support when the new National Rail Passenger Corp. takes over next May 1. They may be right, though we hope that further study over the next two months justifies filling in a few gaps in the map, particularly on the West Coast, where there would be no north-south service.

The plan seems to make adequate provision for the congested Washington-New York-Boston corridor, where the demand for train seats has stayed relatively high and the potential is greatest for reviving rail service as an important and efficient means of moving people. Washington also would keep passenger rail links with the South and Midwest, though a trip to Chicago would require a connection en route.

The initial $40 million cash outlay by the government for the rail setup is small compared with the billions shelled out for highways and the hundreds of millions that subsidize air travel in the United States. Transportation Secretary Volpe cited the need to save rail service to avoid "intolerable" congestion of roads and airways. While the further disappearance of passenger trains under the present plan continues a gloomy trend, the service had no future at all under the management of most of the nation's railroads, which are interested only in moving profitable freight.

The crucial task will be for the quasi-public corporation to upgrade rail service, making it attractive to enough potential customers so that the passenger train can make a long-awaited comeback. This will require imaginative management and promotion — not the kind that the railroads, by and large, have employed in latter years.

Rubbish Collection Plan Failed; Recycling Depot To Take Over

A six-month rubbish collection experement has ended in Tiburon with mixed results.

Under the two-phase pilot project, begun July 1, monthly pickups were made in Little Reed Heights. Residents in other areas were allowed to take rubbish to a debris box located behind the Tiburon Sanitary District plant on Mar West Street.

The pickups appeared to work well, but the debris box phase had problems. Acting City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said that not enough residents used the box to make it worth the cost.

Kleinert didn't say so, but there were many objections to mounds of trash piled around the debris box, especially after Christmas. In fact, some people thought the removal of the box on Monday was a result of complaints about the post-holiday mess.

Abuse of the debris box also was reported. One man told of seeing a Belvedere resident dumping trash into the box. When confronted, the man grinned weakly and admitted the debris box in Belvedere was full.

The vacuum left by the demise of the pilot program will be filled to a certain extent by a recycling depot which opens tomorrow at the same site on Mar West Street.

Under the program, being operated by the Tiburon and Belvedere environment committees, residents of both cities may take bottles, cans, newspapers and cardboard to the depot each Saturday. There the materials will be separated and sold to scavenger companies. The committees hope the program will be self-sustaining after initial expenses are paid.

NORMAN WOHLSCHLAEGER, Sausalito's public works director, is living proof that not all city officials are faceless and humorless.

Witness an excerpt from the first issue of the department's monthly newsletter, "Public Works Works." It gives the department's telephone number and than invites: "Call us if you have something good to say — otherwise, forget it or we'll dig a hole in your street."

ALTHOUGH IT ISN'T a widely known fact, free parking for those who attend night meetings at Tiburon City Hall is available in the parking lot next door.

Developer Fred G. Zelinsky, who owns the lot and much of downtown Tiburon, agreed to make the parking available at the request of the city council some years ago.

But the fact was so little known that one city councilman paid the 75-cent parking fee for months before finding out he was entitled to park free.

A DINNER marking the 20th anniversary of St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon will be an unusual affair. Fred and George Mantegani, co-chairmen of the event, shot most of the 200 pheasants which will be served.

The anniversary celebration will begin with cocktails at 7 p.m. on Jan. 23. Dinner will be served at 7:30.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

How Column Came Into Being, And Glimpses Of New Year

This being the start of a new year, it seems a proper time to say some things about this column and about you and me — about the fine rapport that has developed between us.

Late in December of 1964 Jack Craemer, the managing editor of the I-J, called me up and said, "Bill, did you ever consider being a columnist for the I-J?" I said heck no. "Well, I think you should. If you were on the board, you would have something to say about what was going on." I asked for a day or so to think it over. Then I called him and said OK, just what kind of column do you want? He told me to write what I thought and that with certain obvious limitations they would print what I sent in.

We agreed to try it for three months and that either one could quit at any time. At the end of three months he said go ahead — keep it coming.

DURING THE PAST six years, I have missed very few issues. There is one thing that few of you have known about. I have been in the hospital six times and have written the column there. I watched President Nixon's inauguration on TV while the doctor and a nurse worked me over, then wrote the column the next day.

After a four-hour operation on both legs in June of '67 I was forced to stay in the hospital for a month and wrote the column there each week. The past two years I have had eye trouble — a sort of double vision which has been a nuisance. But you know, the show must go on.

My sincere thanks to you wonderful ones who sent me the big stack of Christmas cards, with the warm personal concern and encouragement. They came at a time when this guy deeply needed them, I tell you.

YOU KNOW, it doesn't give me any pleasure to put down other human beings, but if their performance is such as should not go unnoticed or be swept under the rug, I owe it to you to comment. This I shall do.

During the sojourn with those remarkable British Columbia Indians, I have been clipping and filing quite a batch of items and I propose to give some of them a bit of airing.

An editorial in the I-J on Dec. 22 headed, "Cuts in Private Sector — How About Public One?" certainly had material in it deserving some serious contemplation. It's more than possible that because of the closeness to Christmas Day it may have not been ready by many of you.

Then there was a fine profile story by Paul E. Peterzell in the Marin Magazine of Dec. 26. It was about Dale W. Luehring, manager of the Golden Gate Bridge District.

This brought to mind a situation that few of you were aware of at the time it occurred. This will be opened up for some post-observation.

THERE IS A NEW chairman of the board of supervisors for the year ahead — Bud Baar. I have been told by close observers of the scene out at Brasilia that he was the only one of the supervisors who really did his home work. It will be interesting — extremely so — to watch what will happen.

My very best wish to each of you for a really good year during '71.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

If Your Tax Life Is Simple, Let The IRS Figure It Out

We have a new revised individual income tax return form 1040 for the calendar year 1970, with the tax computation on the reverse side instead of being on a separate piece of paper. Otherwise, the form remains a summary of the attached tax schedules.

The tax return is actually a building block type of thing wherein for each individual kind of income or deduction, you prepare a separate form and attach these separate forms to your tax return.

You list on page 1 or page 2 of form 1040 the separate forms you are attaching and the amount of income, or deductions shown, and put the summary total on your tax return.

Does this sound too complicated? Actually, it's probably the only way in which the law can be reduced to a tax form.

COMPLEX LAW

It has long been said that some day Congress would pass a law so complex that it would be impossible to get it on a tax form and they almost made it. In fact, you can't get it on one form or even a dozen forms and so the Revenue Service is taking the most practical way by creating a tax return form which is in effect a summary of the various tax return forms that are necessary in order to report your income and expense.

This year, form 1040 has a little joker at the top of page two and you must answer the question, "Did you, at any time during the taxable year, have any interest in or signature or other authority over a bank, securities, or other financial account in a foreign country (except in a U. S. military banking facility operated by a U. S. financial institution)?"

If you answer yes, you must complete and attach form 4683.

The purpose of this question is to turn up those taxpayers who have so-called secret numbered bank accounts in Switzerland and other countries. Most of us can answer with a clear conscience — No. A very few will have to answer — Yes, and fill out form 4683 and the secret bank account will be secret no more.

SIMPLE LIFE

If you have a very simple tax life with total income of less than $20,000 consisting of wages reported on form W-2, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities, all you have to do is complete the top part of the return and lines 1 through 18, 24, 26, 27 and 28, if applicable, and attach a copy of your W-2 forms and send the return to Uncle Sam.

The IRS will figure it out for you and it may well be that you would be better off to let them do it for you than it would be for you to struggle with this form or pay someone else to do it.

There are no less than 15 separate tables for determining the amount of tax that you owe if your income is less than $10,000 and you elect to use the standard deduction, plus the surtax tables or computation.

By letting the IRS figure this, you automatically claim the low income allowance and standard deduction allowed by law for personal expenses such as contributions, taxes, interest payments, medical expenses, and the like. If your allowable deductions for these items is in excess of 10 per cent of your income or $1,000, you should itemize your deductions.

If you elect to have the IRS compute your tax for you and there is any additional tax due, they will send you a bill. This can result in your having a little extra time in which to pay the tax due since, otherwise, you have to pay it on April 15th.

You are expected to pay your taxes on the lowest basis possible and if you have anything in the way of itemized deductions or employee deductions or business expnese, chances are you would be better off to use the long form.

Possessions Taken From A Truck

Homestead Group to Elect Officers Slate

Homestead Valley Community Association will elect officers at its meeting Jan. 27.

Placed in nomination by the nominating committee are: Paul Peyrat, president; Orville Erringer, vice president; Virginia Spalding, secretary, and Ira Okun, treasurer. Nominations from the floor also will be accepted, said secretary Audrey Peterson.

The meeting at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, will begin at 7 p.m. with cocktails. A potluck dinner will start at 7:30.

Club directors Tuesday agreed to allow Education on Location, an experimental education group from Tamalpais High School to meet at Brown's Hall on a trial basis.

Explosion Kills 3 In Building

DIJON, France (UPI)—A violent explosion of unknown origin reduced a three-story apartment building virtually to dust today, leaving only a gaping hole shrouded with smoke and flames.

Police said at least three persons were killed and six injured.

Police said no trace of gas was found in the area. An investigation continued into the cause of the explosion.

Meanwhile, in Auch, France, funeral services were held for 11 of 14 persons killed in the explosion of an apartment building Jan. 4.

Hub Schools Face Cutback, Tax Issue

The San Anselmo School District board has been informed it will be faced with deficit spending and a cutback in programs within two years.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry said he informed the board Tuesday the district is currently depleting its reserve fund at a rate of $100,000 per year.

At the begincing of this fiscal year, he said, the district had a reserve of $150,000. But he predicted a reserve of only $50,000 would be left 1971-72.

Lowry said he recommended the board consolidate its April 20 trustee election with a tax increase election to avoid deficit spending. The board will decide Jan. 19 whether to go to a vote. Lowry said the district could cut programs next year to keep from entering the red, but added: "It's the year after that we have to worry about. Fiscal 1972-73 will be the year we actually begin a deficit if voters turn down" a tax hike.

The district currently has a tax rate of $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation. Lowry said a rough estimate of the minimum tax hike needed would be about 50 cents, but added he would probably recommend 85 cents — the added funds to be used for program improvements.

Lowry said if the measure is turned down by voters, the Miller-Unruh reading program, remedial reading teacher positions and psychological services offered by the district could be jeaporized.

He said the San Anselmo district has been especially hard hit because it has the lowest tax rate of any Marin district and it is third lowest in assessed valuation.

The San Anselmo School District also:

CUSTODIAL — Heard a report that a revised staffing plan for custodial and maintenance work in the district would save about $10.50 per day, or $1,300, through the rest of fiscal 197)-71. The board approved using the savings for added maintenance.

SKI CLUB — Approved use of a district bus by students from a seventh and eighth grade ski club.

PROGRAM — Approved preliminary plans for a mentally gifted student program which will begin Feb. 5. The state-required program will serve as a model for personalized instruction.

PRINCIPAL — Set a special meeting for Jan. 12 to interview candidates for the position of principal of Hidden Valley School.

Furniture Stolen

Office furniture valued at $1,183 was taken Wednesday from Capital Planning Associates at 121 Paul Drive, San Rafael, owner Thomas Allen Sartain reported to police.

Strawberry Rec Board Chooses New Chairman

Carl L. Schaefer has been selected chairman of the Strawberry Recreation District board, replacing Arthur R. Senter, who was chosen vice chairman at Wednesday's meeting.

According to clerk Jeanne Heick, James K. Garner was elected to a second term as secretary and Manuel K. Lehua for another term as property manager.

Directors also appointed Senter and Lehua to a committee to meet with representatives of the Strawberry Swim Club to discuss renewal of the club's lease for the swimming pool and bathhouse.

The lease will not expire until April 1972, but Mrs. Heick said swim club members have asked the board to consider an extension now.

Hidden Legs To Come Out For Spring

LIVELY PRINTED city shorts outfits, such as at left promise the leggy look to come alive and kicking for spring. But even long skirts are opening to the idea of the leg showing, with slits up the side. At right, a long siren slink in blazing orange, purple and green is slit to reveal the model's patterned hose underneath. (UPI Telephoto)

NEW YORK (UPI)—Who said legs went into hiding under the midiskirt? Not so. Despite the midis on the winter scene, the latest female style stepping into spring is the minishort aimed to guarantee one of the leggiest of leg shows come warmer weather.

Already New York's avant garden in fashion is wearing the short shorts under furs . . . and wearing cropped pants for all occasions too, even for evening, not just for sportswear as in the olden days of the so-called short shorts.

"SOME OF the new gener of city pants are so abbreviated, they make the micro-mini seem conservative," said Betty Curry, fashion director at Burlington. She spoke at Burlington's leg-attire show this week during the New York Coature Business Council's semi-annual shows for visiting reporters.

Just who kicked off the city shorts fad is up for the guessing. Paris claims the idea. So does New York. And certainly New York's fashion industry at all price levels is giving the new leg-showers the full push.

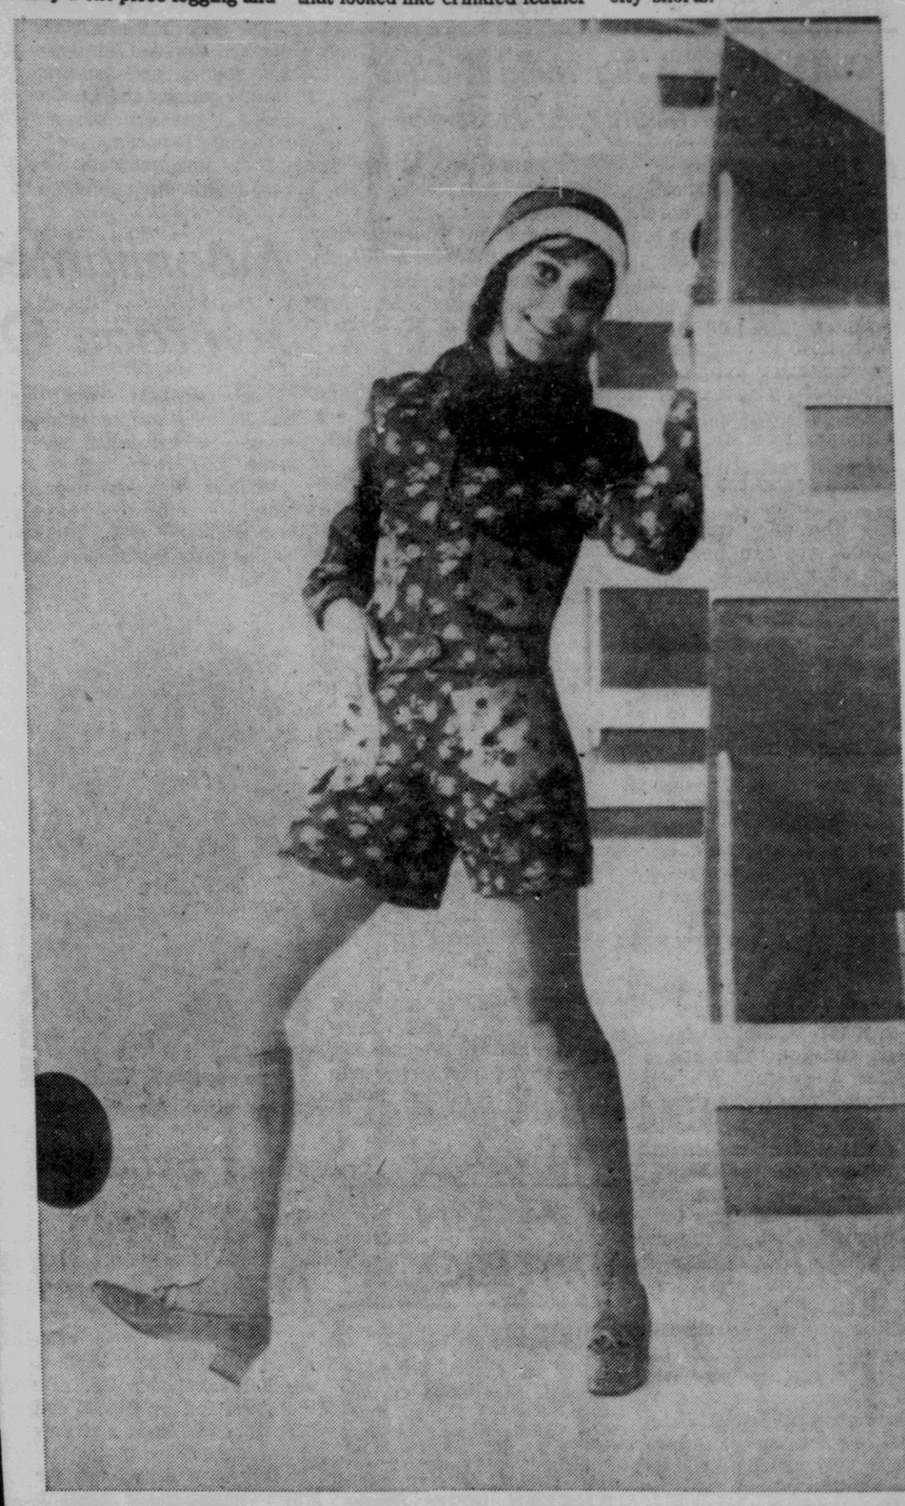
Adolfo's spring collection, opening this week but apart from the couture group, was laden with shorts paired with blazer or cape tops.

At the Burlington show, shorts supporters included "haute couture" designer Halston, who made an evening shorts costume of a piglet-printed pink stretch satin, Dorothee Bis who featured a one-piece knit with navy bottom and orange-striped top, and manufacturers Benson & Partners who did shorts like a sawed-off jumpsuit in a lively print.

It is not the minishorts alone which stress that the leggy look is alive and kicking. When skirts are long, the designers slit them up the sides or front to show legs, with patterned hose beneath.

Something new in bootery also arrived at one firm. They were "Shin-Shams," fake boots actually a one-piece legging and foot that went inside regular shoes. Shown with pantyhose, the new "boots" were of imported stretch nylon fabric with a plastic sheen coating that looked like crinkled leather but was very light (for summer days) and flexible.

They were shown in many colors, often patterned, and most often coupled with the city shorts.



MINI SHORTS such as these may guarantee a rebirth of the leggy fashions come spring. And to go with the shorts is something new in bootery — the "Shin-Shams," fake fur boots worn inside regular shoes. Lightweight Shin-Shams are fine for summer days and will come in a number of colors and patterns. (UPI Telephoto)

NEW NOSTALGIA

Fashions From Yesteryear Inspire The Latest In Hats

By CAROLYN A. BOWERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new nostalgia for the clothes of yesterday lends inspiration for the hats of today. The peasant look, spats laced up boots and the long clingy dresses of the 1930s and '40s have brought back the wide brimmed leghorn, milans and straw braids.

Most are trimmed with feathers or such nostalgic flowers as roses, poppies or buttercups. These styles were featured Wednesday by the Millinery Institute of America during the 56th semiannual "Press Week" for visiting fashion reporters.

The "new nostalgia" designs included a creation by Frank Olive in purple felt with a matching ostrich feather in the back, inspired by the peasant look. A winged number in shiny red straw by Chanda was worn with a long slinky outfit from the 30s.

HATS ALSO followed the lead of classic clothes such as plaid capes, shirtwaist dresses and blazers. These millinery styles included the snap brim felts, milan fedoras, and other brims that sculptured the face or turned up at the side. Westbury offered the classic Stetson and Adolfo Boutique did a lovely wide-brimmed number in natural straw.

Milliners were inspired also by the apparel of the workingman. Clothes from the working man's wardrobe already have been copied for ladies sportswear, from porter's suits to overalls to cowboy apparel. Matching hats will provide complete coordination.

"The look —new respect for the working man and his type of clothing —will be the spring replacement for the hippie fashion," said Maybelle F. Hall, producer and director of the millinery show.

Pants, which have become so big on the fashion scene, can be topped with their special hats too. Most were done in felt or straw and ranged from the wide off-the-face in milan to the puffy crowned newsboy cap in leather to the printed silk scarf. The newsboy cap was shown with a jumpsuit and matching jacket or a gypsy scarf hat with knickers.

To combat the smog soot and grayed-over sunshine of our times, there was a special group of hats in anti-pollution colors —muted green, beige, white, blue orange and coral. One striking style was done in red felt with a big floppy brim that looked like a garden of poppies.

Hats are made for evening wear too. They varied from turbans to wide straw brims with a garden of flowers. One by Frank Olive was natural straw with two large pink roses on the front. Netting over the roses and top of the hat completed the look. Another by Jack McConnell was a gigantic collection of flowers.

CLOTHES FROM the workingman's wardrobe have already been copied for women's sportswear, from overalls to porter's suits to cowboy's range apparel. Now the hard hat of the construction worker gets the bid from millinery designers for spring. (UPI Telephoto)

What Causes Tooth Decay?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Tooth decay and gum disease are the result of specific oral bacteria which colonize on the teeth when certain substances are present in the mouth, according to Dr. Paul H. Keyes, of the National Institute of Dental Research in Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Keyes, reporting at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association here, said the bacteria become especially active when dextran-producing foods are present in the mouth, especially sucrose (sugar).

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

Don't Make A Big Thing If Child Is Treated Roughly At Hospital

DEAR HELEN:

Recently our little seven-year-old girl went to the hospital. Upon admission, she watched open-eyed and without tears as the technician took blood samples. There she was told she was a "very brave young lady."

Arriving at her destination, fourth floor pediatrics, she heard again how brave she was.

After a restful night, our brave patient was taken to the operating room. When she awoke in a strange recovery room, she became frightened. Then the tables were turned. Now the nurse in charge called her "cry-baby," and a few other choice words, even though the anesthetic hasn't worn off yet.

Well, thanks to that "devoted nurse," our little patient now hates hospitals and doctors' offices and especially nurses.

I wonder if this woman would use the same forceful hand and harsh voice to her own children — if she has any? — DISGUSTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

Probably,

A good nurse isn't always a gentle soul. That's why it's best, if possible, for a parent to be at the bedside when the child comes out from under the anesthetic.

As for lasting traumas: Not if you handle this incident wisely; which means, don't make a big thing of it. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

After reading your column on "favoritism in families" I just had to write this letter.

As I grew up I could list a thousand and one examples of the way my parents showed favoritism to my brothers and neglected me. One day when my older brother was home on leave from Vietnam, he, my younger brother and I sat up all night talking.

Somehow we got around to the subject of "who was the favorite." I shared with my brothers how lonely and isolated I felt because the folks made so much over them . . one was older and got all the new stuff; the other was younger and got his own way; one was athletic; the other a brain; one had a delightful personality; the other was handsome. Poor little me was Miss In-between Nobody. So I thought.

"You?" my older brother exclaimed. "Why I thought I was neglected and you two were the chosen one." And on went his list: My brother and I both got high grades; we were better looking, and favored as the youngest and the only girl, besides my being the only granddaughter on both sides.

My younger brother, the silent member of the family, shrugged his shoulders and said, "And here all the time I thought I was the outcast. Do you two know what it's like to live up to the athletic prowess and academic standards you have set? And so it went . . .

I guess when there is more than one child in the family there will be times when each feels he or she is the least loved. — NEGLECTED, OR WAS I?

DEAR NEG:

How right you are — and this even in families where communication is no great problem. — H.

This column is dedicated to family living, so if you're having kid trouble or just plain trouble, let Helen help you. Address Helen Bottel in care of the Independent-Journal.

Dana Bea Jones became the bride of Arthur John Okkerse in a ceremony held yesterday in Chapel in the Pines in Carmel. A reception followed at the Highlands Inn, also in Carmel.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. Clyde Jones of San Rafael, and the bridegroom's parents and Lt. Cmdr. (ret.) and Mrs. Warren W. Okkerse of Honolulu.

Dana was graduated from San Rafael High School and attended College of Marin. Douglas R. and Curtis C. Jones are her brothers, and her local grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Jones of Corte Madera.

Arthur is a graduate of Kailua High School in Honolulu and is employed by Sausalito Boat Works.

The couple will live in San Rafael until the spring when they plan to leave on a world cruise aboard the yacht Manuiwa.

Moonlighters Work An Average Of 13 Hours

Does moonlight conjure up thoughts of a soft romantic evening — or exhaustion over a second job?

Whatever the term imparts, there are some 4 million "moonlighters" — persons holding down two or more jobs in 1970 America — notes the Institute of Life Insurance.

In a special study, the U.S. Department of Labor said that 5.2 per cent of the 78 million persons employed last May held two jobs or more. This figure was just a fraction higher than the preceding year.

MALE TEACHERS, policemen and firemen had the highest moonlighting record, more than double the rate for all other dual jobholders.

The issue of holding down two or more jobs has raised some questions, however, such as: is it healthy? does the family suffer? does the primary job suffer?

The National Industrial Conference Board recently published findings on how the corporation reacts to outside jobs. Their survey found that 80 per cent of the companies that responded neither explicitly permit nor forbid outside employment for their full-time workers.

WHETHER THE second job is permanent or temporary, the main reason for holding it is a financial one. The Labor Department survey found that second job earnings of moonlighters averaged $30 a week for a median work span of 13 hours. Although earnings on the second job varied widely in industry and occupation, men in the manufacturing field pulled in the highest moonlighting paychec.

However, there are some detriments to working at two jobs. It is often taxing psychologically. If the second job is similar to the first, monotony and fatigue result.

ARLENE SNYDER

Miss Synder To Be New Noble Grand

Arlene Snyder, new noble grand of Mill Valley's Blythedale Rebekah Lodge 305, says that "working with kids" and her organizational activities are what she enjoys most.

Driver of a school bus for Marin County, she is assistant advisor of Mill Valley's Chaparral Chapter 122 of Theta Rho Girls, Den Mother for Pack 66 of Cub Scouts of Santa Venetia and a Sunday School teacher at the Mill Valley Methodist Church. She also does a great deal of baby sitting and is second bard of Mill Valley's Tamalpais Circle 183 of Druids.

A member of Blythedale Lodge two years, Miss Snyder served previously as vice noble grand last year and as warden before that. She says her special project this year will be to get equipment for the kitchen in the IOOF Hall in Mill Valley.

The new noble grand is a native of Baker, Ore., and was graduated from Columbia High School in Richland, Wash., and attended Heald's Business College in San Francisco. Before becoming a school bus driver she worked five and a half years for Fireman's Fund Insurance Co. in San Francisco. She has lived in Marin 14 years.

ON BEING BLACK

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

Contemporary society has been bombarded with theories that motherhood is void and defunct.

Spokeswomen for Women's Lib and population control extremists have cited every possible reason — reasonable and unreasonable — for throwing out this long revered institution.

In the black society, however, most of us still dig mama. This could be a matter of programming. (After all, we have been diagnosed by the various ologists as being a matriarchal society. But experts no longer buy this theory.)

Most blacks have neither had the opportunity (or experience) of being personally analyzed (too expensive) nor have studied the theories of Freud and the like — to any great extent. Consequently, we have not been apprised of the fact or theory that it is natural — even chic — to hate your mother.

Yes, we still dig mama. Notice, I said mama — and not mother. Let me explain who mama is.

Mama is a legend in her own time. Of the generations of black mothers — ranging from the mammies of slavery days to mommies of today — mama has perhaps worked the hardest and sacrificed the most.

Mama is probably between the ages of 40 and 60. She very likely looks much older — hard work and abandonment of artificial adornments and attention to beauty aids have taken their toll on her appearance. She is not as chic and beautiful as the 20-to 30-year-old mommies.

Mama is tired. She raised her own parcel of children and may be currently raising her grandchildren. She is nowhere near being senile like "Ma-Dear" (her own mother whom she takes care of also) but there is much about the younger folks that she finds difficult to understand.

Mama has always worked outside of her own home — and worked hard. Sh's probably done domestic work most of the time. She can cook like "nobody's business!" and her own home is always orderly and clean. (Mommies wonder how she does it!)

The younger generation is often impatient and even critical of some of mama's funny ways, but ironicaly they pay tribute to her in many indirect ways — like: after a delicious meal saying "Oooh, Mama!" in approval of how good the food is. When little black children play hide-and-seek, scaring each other, they utter "Oooh, Mama" (Of all people, she's the one person who can save them.) Or when the kids on the playground play past curfew hour and a friend says "Your mama's callin' you . . ." The day and the play are over.

When a male friend (even your husband) says "Oooh Mama! You're lookin' kinda' good!" It's a compliment in a very special way.

Whatever happens to motherhood (in the verbal sense) may mama live on.

ART REVIEW

Guatemala Weaving, Urns On Display At College Gallery

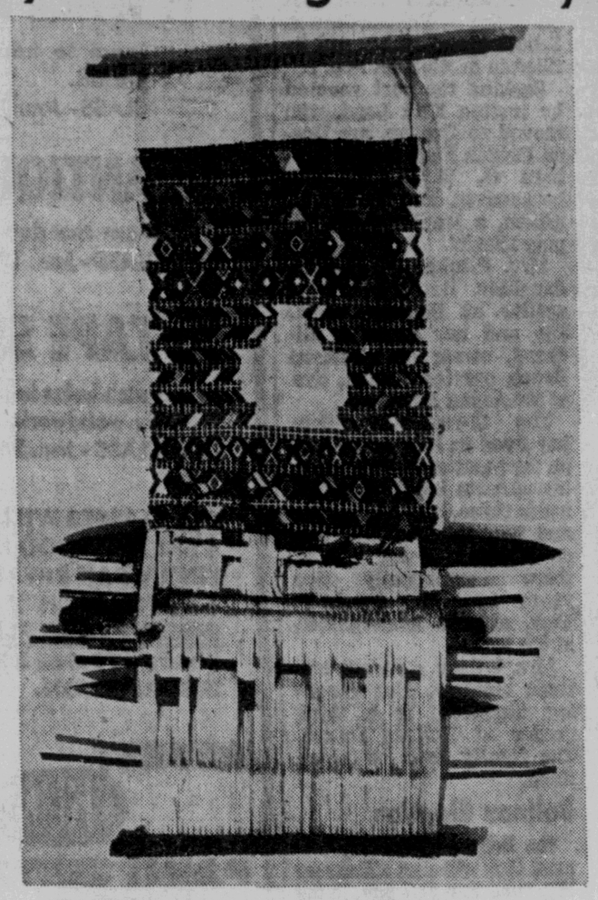
By MARY LOU STRIBLING

Guatemalan folk art is on display through next Friday at the College of Marin Art Gallery, Kentfield. With the exception of one case of artifacts belonging to Alonzo Gonzalez, the exhibit is from the collection of Anne Hermann Lamborn, who served in Guatemala for two years as a member of the Peace Corp.

The majority of the pieces — retaining the flavor of an ancient Mayan civilization — are contemporary and were created for personal use, rather than commercial trade.

Guatemalan Indians are recognized as masters of weaving and a variety of techniques are demonstrated among the large fabrics designed for skirts, and narrower strips which are used for belts, sashes, and grocery "knapsacks." Some of the weavings are as delicate and smooth as fine linen. Others incorporate soft, thick yarns with tightly twisted threads for high-low patterns in brilliant colors.

From the aspect of technical and decorative excellence, the weavings would merit high praise from any critic. But when they are evaluated against the primitive devices used in their production, the accomplishment becomes awesome, indeed. Several looms with incompleted garments are included in the show. They consist of tree branches, some of which are twisted or bowed, and crudely shaped heddles which appear to have been polished by years of use.



GUATEMALAN LOOM — Guatemalan weavings still follow traditions established hundreds of years ago, as exemplified by this primitive loom and incompleted shirt. It is part of an exhibit of Guatemalan folk art at the College of Marin Art Gallery. (Independent-Journal photo.)

Earlier examples of Guatemalan art are represented by ceramic urns, masks, miniature vases, and beads, baskets, hand made tools, and combs carved from horn and bone. A glimpse of more ambitious work is provided by a large crayon rubbing on muslin of a carved stone bas relief.

There are many boxes, ranging from tiny matchbox sizes to large storage chests, all painted in bright streaks and splashes which have a spontaneous, carefree quality.

In the collection of Gonzales, several artifacts strike a macabre note. Several of these, including a "witch whistle" and a carved obsidian torso, are very old and extremely rare. There are also ceremonial knives, chipped from obsidian, which were used in ancient rites to extract the hearts of sacrificial victims.

Commute Bus Expressway 'Works Well'

UNION CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Partial relief to the massive traffic jams which accompany the daily commuting of New Jerseyans to Manhattan has been afforded by a 2½ mile road reserved exclusively for commuter buses.

The road, which connects the Jersey Turnpike with the Lincoln Tunnel, was opened on Jan. 18, 1970. A Port of New York Authority spokesman said Thursday that the 35,000 persons who travel it daily have found their commuting time cut down by 15 minutes each way.

The road was financed jointly by the U. S. Department of Transportation ($500,000) and the New Jersey Turnpike Authority ($134,000). The Port Authority, however, is responsible for its maintenance as well as the police who patrol it.

A State Transportation Department spokesman said that it is believed to be the first of its kind in New Jersey.

And, he added its "working out well."

Switchboard is in need of funds as a result of a Dec. 8 fire which destroyed its San Rafael headquarters.

Classic Film Slated At Youth Center

"The Barretts of Wimpole Street," a 1934 film starring Norma Shearer, Frederic March and Charles Laughton, will be shown tomorrow at 8 p.m. at the Sausalito Youth Center, 180 Harrison Street.

The film will begin the center's seventh Friday night classic film series. Other film scheduled include: "The Navigator," with Buster Keaton (Jan. 15); "The Letter," starring Bette Davis (Jan. 29); "The Passion of Joan of Arc" (Feb. 12); "Tugboat Annie," with Marie Dressler (March 12); "Bill of Divorcement," Katherine Hepburn (March 26), and "Horse Feathers," starring the Marx Brothers (April 16).

Plans Group Names Leaders

Robert Eklund has been named chairman and James Gordon , vice chairman, of the Novato Plan Review Committee.

In other business at its meeting the committee opposed construction of a mechanical equipment enclosure atop the Novato Branch of the Marin County Library being built off Novato Boulevard, near Seventh Street.

The committee also approved landscaping plans for Rancho Village Unit 10, a 12.5 - acre subdivision, and gave architectural approval to Sambo's for a restaurant at the northwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Seventh Street.

Petaluma Dairy On Group's Agenda

A Petaluma dairy and two in Santa Rosa will be visited next Wednesday and Thursday by two busloads of dairymen from Southern California and the San Joaquin Valley, under a program sponsored by Genetics Inc. of Petaluma.

Sleepy Hollow dairy at 7689 Lakeville Highway is the Petaluma facility. Dairymen also will visit the Genetics Inc. farm at 1464 Middle Two Rock Road, Petaluma.

FAMILY

Aristocats" — Very clever, delightful musical animated feature in the best Disney tradition about a high society cat who inherits a fortune and the villianous butler and his plans.

"Niok, Orphan Elephant" Charming story of a baby elephant who is befriended by a native boy. Photography, customs and rituals of Cambodian people adds interest.

"Smith" — An inteesting and amusing but compassionate contemporary western that depicts the Indian as thoughtful people with gentle humor, whosw way of life is different from ours but not inferior.

"Son of Siubber" 8 Reissue of Disney's comedy about Prof. Brainard's perfected rainmaking device that produces a crop of mammoth vegetables. Good cast.

"Twelve Chairs" — Slapstick historical comedy about family jewels that were hidden in a chair before the revolution in Russia. Motivated by pure greed the frantic search provides a delightfully entertaining treat. Don't miss it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Monte Walsh" — That time in history when Eastern progress came rolling over the old West. Work for the cowboy disappears and hungry men turn to violence. It is a serio-comic study of two cowboys in this situation.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. A strong film makes use of violence and frequent profanity.

"Rio Lobo" — A typical John Wayne vehicle, the story of an ex-Union Colonel out to uncover men under him who informed of Union activities to Rebel soldiers, causing several of his troops to be killed. Plenty of beatem-up, shoot-em down violence. (Motion Picture Daily).

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Getting Straight" — Cynical thought provoking melodrama presents a cogent satiric view of the Establishment and the radicals on college campus. Violence, explicit sex and foul language is abundant.

"Loving" — The quiet desperation of suburban life is artfully explored in this bitter contemporary drama. Well acted by excellent cast. Language and sex scenes extremely frank.

"Strawberry Statement" — A hokey expooitation of student unrest with lots of music and psychedelic photography that substitute for an honest examination of the issues. Unnecessary scenes of sex and nudity inserted and an orgy of police brutality proves only that riots are very cinematic.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary Of A Mad Housewife" Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. Good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"Joe" — Chilling but excellent tragi-comedy about our troubled society. Two men form an unlikely alliance founded on their envy and hatred of today's youth. Language and sex scenes are shockingly bold and the violence of the ending will haunt the viewer.

"No Blade of Grass" — Unsubtle melodrama. Pollutors have triumphed worldwide - Red China has nerve-gassed its entire urban population. A British family escaping from choking London conditions to the north, resort to killing all who block their path. This spectre of doomsday is a sensationally contrived vision. (Catholic Film Newsletter).

"There's A Girl In My Soup" — A shallow little sex farce about a 40-ish Lothario, a hypersexed television gourmet, galloping from kitchen to bedroom practicing his well perfected but corny technique to conquer any female he meets. (Motion Picture Daily).

Bagshaw To Speak

T. F. Bagshaw, former secretary to the state Division of Highways, will speak at the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Silver Dollar Inn, Point Reyes Station.

6.5 Million Crossing For N. Bay Span

Vehicle crossings of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge rose to 6.5 million for the year ending Sept. 30, 1970, the state has announced.

In the preceding year, 5.96 million motorists paid tolls, the division of the Department of Public Works said.

Gross revenue rose from $4.98 million to $5.3 million despite a toll reduction in July 1970 from 75 cents to 65 cents.

Pumping Station Bids Are Due

San Rafael Sanitation District directors will open bids for construction of its new Francisco Boulevard pumping station at 5 p.m. Feb. 3.

The board approved plans and specifications for the project at its regular meeting Wednesday, according to Norris W. Rawles, district administrator. The plans were preapred by Dan Coleman Associates.

The pumping station will replace a major storm drainage pumping facility displaced by work on Highway 101. It is expected to cost about $400,000, Rawles said.

Hike In Taxes

CARSON CITY, Nev. (UPI)— The Nevada State Gaming Commission reported Thursday that gamblers in the state paid $58.4 million in direct federal, state and local taxes during fiscal 1970. It was an increase of $10 million over the previous fiscal year.

Foes Hit Plans On Bay Filling

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Proposals to ease two restrictions on bay filling were condemned yesterday before the Bay Conservation and Development Commission by both conservationists and those who want to develop the bay.

Conservationist argued that the amendments of the commission's bay plan would open the door to wholesale filling of the shoreline, while the developers objected that the amendments would not go nearly as far as they should in lifting restrictions.

The first change would allow filling for water-oriented commercial-recreation when an amount of existing fill equivalent to the new fill is removed from the bay.

The second change also would extend to publicly owned land the right, now limited to private holdings, of filling for water-oriented commerical-recreation where the property is "substantially on existing land."

Both amendments were proposed by the BCDC staff to meet the need to upgrade deteriorated waterfront areas. They would apply in Sausalito and Tiburon as well as in San Francisco and Oakland.

Spokesmen for San Francisco city agencies objected that the amendments still would not allow hotels and office buildings on the waterfront.

The BCDC last month rejected a permit for the Ferry Port Plaza project north of the Ferry Building, which would have put a hotel and office building on fill and piers. The rejection came after the attorney general ruled that such projects must be water-oriented.

The commission never has defined precisely what was meant by "water-oriented commercial-recreation," and both conservationists and developers yesterday argued that a precise definition must be made.

The commission has preferred to be vague about the definition generally on the grounds that such vagueness prevented polarizing the commission and permitted greater flexibility in dealing with bay projects.

In other business, commissioners asked the attorney general start legal action against what they called illegal filling by the City of Oakland. The action came after they rejected a staff compromise with the city, which is filling in San Leandro Bay for a corporation yard.

Oakland contended its project was exempt from BDCD jurisdiction because work on the fill began before the commission's powers became effective in September 1965. The commission disputes with the city's contention.

Pantsuits Get Legislative Nod

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Female employes today had the permission of the Assembly to wear pantsuits on the job.

Chairman John L. Burton of the Assembly Rules Committee Wednesday circulated a memorandum stating pantsuits are acceptable dress for the women.

"I'm for minis and against maxis but I haven't banned maxis," said Burton, D-San Francisco.

Women employes had been allowed to wear pantsuits when the legislature was not in session. They had been instructed to wear skirts during legislative sessions.

Session Off

The regular monthly luncheon meeting of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce at the Palate Restaurant will not be held tomorrow because the restaurant is closed. The luncheon has been rescheduled for Jan. 16 at noon according to secretary-manager George Beedle.

Man Found Way Out Of Working

Since 1963, when he was involved in an automobile accident in Zagreb, Buzancic, 37, spent his time in hospital beds all over Yugoslavia.

On that first visit he was treated for a minor injury and when asked for his social insurance card he said he had left it at home.

When nobody questioned his lack of the card he decided to use the same ruse to gain admittance to other hospitals, claiming involvement in traffic accidents or pretending heart attacks.

Last August he gained admittance to a hospital at Zenica, central Yugoslavia. He spent a comfortable four months there until doctors decided there was nothing physically or mentally wrong with him.

On Wednesday police called at the hospital and took him to jail. They said he told them he had never worked in his life.

Marines Get Unique Warplane

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A British-made fighter-bomber that takes off vertically like a helicopter has been added to the equipment of the U.S. Marine Corps.

The Marines took delivery Wednesday of their first AV8A Harrier, produced by Britain's Hawker-Siddeley Corp. It is the first aircraft used by the American military capable of taking off straight up and the first U.S. warplane built outside North America.

The Marines hope to buy 114 of the Harriers. They cost $4.8 million each.

Filling Land For Bike Path Snagged

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's hope for quick approval of a permit to fill one-sixteenth of an acre in Richardson Bay for a bicycle path yesterday ran into a last-minute hitch before the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The unexpected hitch arose when the BCDC staff objected that the fill permit would be for property only leased by the county. The owner of the property, the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, could cancel the lease in the future and then use the fill for railroad purposes, the staff noted.

The staff suggested that a solution to its fears could be for the railroad to dedicate the narrow strip to the county. The railroad, however, traditionally is reluctant to abandon any portion of its right-of-way.

The staff objections were raised informally before the commission's regular meeting, and a scheduled public hearing on the fill permit was postponed to Jan. 21 at 2 p.m. in Room 1194 of the State Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue. The hearing was postponed because other agenda items consumed the afternoon.

The fill would be 450 feet long and up to six feet wide. The narrow area has been leased by the county from the railroad for three years at $1,000 a year. The lease is renewable on a year-to-year basis after the first three years.

The fill would be part of the final link in the bicycle path between Sausalito and Mill Valley. The $30,000 cost of the link, running from the northern boundary of Sausalito to the southern end of the Richardson Bay Bridge, will be met under a state grant. The path already connects south over the Golden Gate Bridge to San Francisco.

Lie Detector Test For Elvis

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A Superior Court judge has ordered Elvis Presley to undergo a lie detector examination and blood tests in a paternity suit brought by a 21-year-old waitress.

Judge William P. Hogoboom ordered the tests Wednesday at a hearing in which Patricia Parker claimed Presley, 35, was the father of her son, Jason, born Oct. 10. She is seeking medical costs and $1,000 monthly child support.

Presley, currently at his home in Tennessee, was represented in court by his attorney who agreed the singer would submit to the tests which Miss Parker also will undergo. Presley is married and the father of a daughter.

Three File For Trustee In Bolinas

Three Bolinas residents have filed for a vacant seat on the Bolinas-Stinson School board which will be filled in an election Feb. 2.

Seeking the post vacated by trustee Erik Lund, who moved to Oregon, are Donna Driggs Fischer and Barbara G. Wilson, both housewives, and Michael E. Aitken, a Marin County deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Fischer, 35, has one daughter, Beverly, a third grader at Bolinas School. She and her husband, Richard, owner of a Stinson Beach service station, live at 320 Aspen Road.

The 27-year-old Aitken has lived in Bolinas off and on for most of his life, since his parents had a summerhouse there. He and his wife and two children, who live on Bolinas Road, moved there permanently five years ago. His daughter, Tina, attends kindergarten at the school.

Mrs. Wilson, a widow, has three children. Her daughter, Rebecca, is a third grader at Bolinas School. The family lives on Alder Road.

Bolinas Election

The Bolinas Beach Improvement Club will elect officers for 1971 tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the Mesa Clubhouse, 270 Elm Road, publicity chairman Alice Silva reported.

HEROIN SUBSTITUTE

Methadone Program Planned

By MARY LEYDECKER

Although the drug methadone has been highly praised for allowing heroin addicts to lead useful lives, officials in the drug treatment field are concerned it is available only on a limited basis in Marin County.

Officials estimate there are at least 1,000 heroin addicts in the county, with short-term users making the number even higher.

Methadone, a synthetic drug which provides an addictive but harmless substitute for heroin users, is now given out only at a few locations designed for in-patient treatment of withdrawal symptoms.

Concerned that the drug is not available yet in Marin under legislation passed last year which allows methadone to be used on a full-time basis, several Marin doctors and other leaders in the drug field are trying to put a program together.

Roger Smith, a criminologist who heads Open House, a newly opened center for drug abuse therapy in San Rafael, is attempting to set up a program under which 100 persons could be treated with methadone during the first year.

"We think if we can get a methadone program going, we can demonstrate that secondary criminality can be reduced drastically," Dr. Smith said.

By "secondary criminality," Dr. Smith means the thefts, robberies — and even prostitution — committed by addicts in order to pay for their expensive heroin habits.

(Heroin addicts who are what Dr. Smith calls "fully immersed" in the drug subculture usually spend $50 to $100 a day for the illegal narcotic. Law officers have estimated the expensive habit means addicts must steal $500 to $1,000 in goods daily since they often only get about 10 per cent of the value from persons to whom the contraband is sold.)

Even on the clean streets of Marin, women addicts practice prostitution in order to maintain their habits.

"It's more subtle than in the big cities," said Marvin Cahn, an attorney who has represented in court many persons absorbed by the drug culture.

Cahn said that Marin's prostitutes operate very quietly in bars for the most part, and few patrons suspect the activity. "They probably turn one or two tricks a night," he said.

Cahn, too, became concerned about getting a methadone program established when he tried to find the drug for a client who is a heroin addict.

He explained in a court hearing that the drug is now available only for withdrawal symptoms and that his client, a jail inmate, had already gone through withdrawals "cold turkey" while locked up.

Neither Dr. Smith nor others in the treatment field suggest that methadone will solve completely the drug addiction problem. Dr. Smith sees it as a "holding action" which can be used to give an addict "time to work on the real problems" which caused the addiction.

He estimated the cost of methadone treatment at about $10 a week for the first year, dropping off in the second year. The biggest cost, he explained, is for initial physical and psychological examinations.

Once a person is on methadone, Dr. Smith said, he expects the person to get a job or start training or schooling which will lead to employment, thus enabling him to pay for his own methadone.

Federal laws provide the drug must be administered under strict provisions. First, the addict must have been using opiates for at least two years and secondly, he must have tried at least one other cure for addiction and failed.

Other rules require a complete physical examination and prohibit the drug use for persons under 18 years, pregnant women and those with serious physical illness.

If Dr. Smith is able to get a methadone maintenance program going, the Community Mental Health Center plans to contract for 20 patients.

Dr. John S. Guerrant, head of the center, said the only facilities there now for drug addicts are those available to patients with withdrawal symptoms. Methadone is also available at OpenHouse and Ross General Hospital on the same basis.

Buses Over Rail Land Backed

Residents of San Anselmo want a bus rapid transit system over existing railroad rights-of-way, generally paralleling Highway 101 and not cutting a "swath" through Ross, Kentfield and San Anselmo.

That was the consensus expressed last night at a public hearing on five alternate rapid transit plans under consideration by the Golden Gate Bridge District directors. The hearing, at Sir Francis Drake High School, was attended by about 100 persons.

A committee of the bridge district, including Board President Lowell Edington of Napa County, presented the alternate plans with the help of bridge engineers and consultants. Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley presided.

Of the five plans presented, one calling for rapid transit buses on exclusive rights-of-way from Montgomery and Post streets in San Francisco to Novato drew the most support from the audience.

The buses would use a lower deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, emerge at the north end on an aerial structure between the north and southbound lanes of highway 101, and go through a third Waldo Tunnel. To the west of Richardson Bay Bridge, it would join the Northwestern Pacific right-of-way and follow it to Novato.

Strongest opposition came on a proposal which calls for an underwater tube from San Francisco to Sausalito with a fixed guideway (perhaps rails) through Corte Madera, Larkspur, Kentfield, Ross and San Anselmo. At the Hub, the fixed guideway would tunnel under Red Hill and emerge near the Marin Civic Center.

Anne West of San Anselmo said she favored the bus plan because of its lower cost ($495 million, compared to the more than $900 million required for each of the other systems) and its flexibility.

She asked bridge directors to plan the bus system so that it could be converted later to rails if necessary.

"I would oppose the rail plan because it would send rails through Ross Valley," said Mrs. West. "Rails through Ross and San Anselmo would be a pity."

Warren R. Perry, a San Anselmo city councilman, joined Mrs. West in opposing any rails or major construction through Ross Valley.

"Any swath for rail or right-of-way through town would be unacceptable," he said.

John F. West of San Anselmo, a county planning commissioner, asked the bridge district to coordinate closely the rapid transit system with Marin's local transportation systems.

John F. West of San Anselmo, a county planning commission, asked the bridge district to coordinate closely the rapid transit system with Marin's local transportation systems.

John Clow of Ross called for removal from consideration an alternate plan which calls for the extension of Bay Area Rapid Transit trains over the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and north to Novato. The area south of San Rafael would be served by buses.

Clow also complained that each plan would provide major stops in Marin City but showed no stations to serve valleys like Ross Valley or Terra Linda.

Robert E. Shields, bridge engineer, assured him that feeder systems would serve the valleys and connect with the main north-south system.

Several others in the audience said they favored the bus system and opposed any rail line through the Ross Valley.

Last night's hearing was one of more than 20 scheduled in various communities from Crescent City to San Francisco to enable bridge directors to sound out public opinion on the five alternates.

Flood Of Applicants At College Of Marin

Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond told the Marin Junior College District board last night that 3,500 applications are expected for the spring semester. A total of 2,000 were received last spring, he said.

To date, Diamond said, 2,649 applications had been received, compared to 1,480 last year.

In the fall, enrollment was 5,616, compared to 5,679 last year, but Diamond said the normal spring dropoff will be very small this year.

Diamond also presented reports on the characteristics of the student body, dropouts and the number of black students.

He said that 157 blacks enrolled for the fall, compared to 142 last year. More than one-third received financial aid each semester, he said.

Diamond also pointed out that the typical student in the fall of 1970 tended to be older, a resident of Marin and a military veteran.

His report of dropouts indicated that 60.2 per cent of 216 students surveyed in the spring of 1970 dropped some units. Diamond said this was not cause for alarm, given the experimental nature of students, but the board ordered a study that included all students.

The Marin Junior College District board

RAISE — Raised the pay of Hazel Torres, dental assisting instructor and coordinator of the program. The increase from $15,025 to $16,706 on the basis of credits earned made her pay equivalent to the possessor of a master's degree.

TRAINEES — Approved an agreement whereby the University of California will provide not more than three student teachers this academic year.

NAME — Deferred consideration of changing the district's name to Marin Community College District until after a contemplated resubmission of a $16.9 million bond issue to voters. The issue was turned down in November.

COMPUTER — Declined to sign a letter of intent for purchase of almost $400,000 worth of computer equipment because the wording of the letter was unacceptable and because the board felt the district could drive a harder bargain with Radio Corporation of America on the cost of interim equipment and signing of the final contract.

COURSE CHANGES — Set Jan. 21 for approval of proposed course changes for 1971-72.

COMMITTEE — Discussed a revised set of procedures proposed for the college's committee system.

SCHOOL YEAR — Set Jan. 21 for final approval of school dates for 1971-72.

INSTRUCTORS — Set for Jan. 21 discussion of a proposal to restrict part-time instructors to nine units of teaching to avoid confusion over tenure.

BACK LOANS — Set for Jan. 21 signing of an agreement with National Account Systems whereby that company would collect delinquent student loans for 35 per cent of the amount collected.

Wanted Man Surrenders

An 18-year-old San Rafael man, wanted by San Rafael police and the Army has surrendered to Novato police.

Dennis Hugh Jensen of 425 First Street, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary and being absent without leave from the Army. He was being held for the army.

San Rafael police said they sought Jensen in connection with the theft of $200 cash and $75 in liquor Nov. 11 from the Country Club Bowl at 88 Vivian Way.

Millin Elected By Knoll Homeowners

Louis G. Millin of Mill Valley has been elected to the board of directors of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association, President Robert B. Rankin reported.

Millin, a truck salesman for a San Francisco firm who resides at 67 Millay Place, will replace Robert Murphy, who resigned because of business commitments, Rankin said.

Group Seeks An 'Open' Civic Center

A new organization called County Employees For An Open Civic Center was launched yesterday to encourage fellow workers and the public to express opposition to what they call "repressive security measures" at the Civic Center.

Raymond J. Ahearn, a member of the group's steering committee, said the organization will invite all interested employees to a meeting at noon next Friday in Room 308 of the Civic Center.

"We hope to get widespread employee involvement so that their views can be expressed at a public hearing which the county supervisors have set for Jan. 19," said Ahearn.

He said the organization agreed that certain security measures are necessary. "However, several present building security measures clearly infringe upon individual civil rights and deter the public's lawful use of their Civic Center," he said.

The group wants to stop personal searches, reopen the building at night and weekends, halt the use of employee identification cards, and stop physical changes to the building.

The steering committee is composed of Ahearn, a member of the county planning staff; Barbara Coffie of public social services; Jan Fairchild, county library; Ursual Gealey, human rights department; Marjorie Macris, county planning department, and William Schutt, social services.

Hike In Postal Rates Is Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Federal sources have predicted a 33 1-2 per cent boost in postal rates by May.

A new U.S. Postal service board of governors will ask the five-member Postal Rate Commission for the increases in order to make the post office pay for itself, the sources said Thursday.

Under postal reform legislation passed last year, the board's proposed increases will go into effect within 90 days if the rate commission fails to act.

Ferry Accident

SEOUL (UPI)—A fish-freezing boat rammed an overcrowded ferry Thursday just outside Yosu port. Thirty persons died, most of them women trapped in the ferry's cabin, police said today.

Coors To Pay Cent Per Bottle

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI)—The Adolph Coors Co. announced Wednesday a new program to recycle empty beer bottles. Coors will pay one cent a bottle for all Coors beer bottles that are returned.

The bottles will be broken up and sent back through the bottle-making plant to be melted down and made into new bottles.

The returnable bottle program will be effective in colorado immediately and will be put into operation throughout the company's 11-state marketing area within the next several weeks. Last year Coors used 618 million bottles.

Misspelling

Tough Smog Guidelines

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The County Board of Supervisors Thursday approved the nation's strictest standards for control of oxides of nitrogen from power plants.

Under the plan, existing generating facilities must be modified by 1974 to bring oxide of nitrogen emissions down to 125 parts per million when burning gas and 225 ppm while using fuel oil.

There were no guidelines for maximum emission under existing laws but county air pollution control officer Robert Chass said most boilers emitted approximately 650 ppm.

$35,000 Bubble On The Market

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Anybody want a $35,000 bubble that will fit an olympic size pool or football field?

The University of Oregon has a surplus three-ton inflatable nylon bubble it no longer needs.

The bubble had been used for two years to cover rainy weather outdoor sports, but was removed when indoor courts and astroturf were inserted. It has been deflated and placed in storage.

ALMANAC

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, Jan. 8, the eighth day of 1971.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

On this day in history:

$10,000 Award To Margaret Mead

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Anthropologist Margaret Mead Wednesday became the first woman to win the $10,000 Arches of Science award, characterized by the sponsoring Pacific Science Center as "an American Nobel Prize."

The award, which includes a medal as well as the $10,000 cash prize, goes annually to the American who "has made an outstanding contribution to the public understanding of the meaning of science to contemporary man."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Make Risky Bids To Avoid Bad Score In Tournament Play

Tournament bridge is hard to explain in a single column or even in a whole week of columns. It's quite different in many important respects from rubber bridge, and the best I can say in a few words is: Try it. Go to your local club and watch a tournament for an hour or so; and then play a whole session at a later time. All it can cost you isan evening of your time and your card fee (usually less than a first-run movie). Millions of enthusiasts like it better than rubber bridge.

IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE

One of the important differences between the two games is shown in today's hand. At rubber bridge, South should cut his losses; in a tournament, he should play desperately to avoid a bad score.

Few rubber bridge players would bid two spades with the South hand; every tournament expert would make this risky bid like a shot. The object is to push East to three hearts, at which he would be beaten by four top cards in the black suits and a spade ruff.

ANOTHER POSSIBILITY

A further possibility is that South may not get doubled at two spades. In that case he can afford to go down two, for a loss of only 100 points. This is better for South than allowing East to score 110 for making two hearts. (East would get 50 points for making a part score and 60 points for the tricks.)

DESPERATE PLAY

The defenders lead three rounds of hearts, and South ruffs the third. He leads out dummy's two top trumps and returns to his hand with a club. If South then leads another trump, and finds that West has both the queenand ten of spades, the defenders will take the rest and South will be down four.

The alternative is to play the clubs, allowing the defenders to take the queen and ten of spades even if they are not both held by West. That way South is down a "safe" two. But South would get a zero (or a bttom score) for being minus 300; and he would not be any worse off for being minus 700.

Therefore South must lead a trump and hold his breath. When the trumps break favorable, South is down only one. Minus 100 is an acceptable tournament score.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your right, bids one heart. His partner bids two hearts, and this is passed around to you.

♠ - A K
♦ - 9 4 2
♣ - Q 10 9 6 3.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Pass at rubber bridge, but bid three clubs in a tournament.

You should not risk a disaster at total points, but you can afford to compete actively at match points.

CRLA In Denial To New Counts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The California Rural Legal Assistance (CRLA) Thursday labelled charges against it by the Reagan administration "totally and absolutely untrue."

Martin Glick, director of litigation for CRLA, said the group had not yet been furnished a copy of the charges, but had investigated most of those made public and found them false.

The charge that CRLA lawyers tried to arrange a meeting in prison between Angela Davis and the convict brother of a youth killed in the San Rafael shootout "just didn't happen," Glick said.

He said he had talked to every CRLA attorney in the Salinas office and all denied the charge. The report of Reagan's antipoverty chief, Lewis K. Uhler, said attorney Faye Stender and CRLA attorneys interceded at Soledad in an attempt to arrange a visit for Miss Davis with George Jackson.

David Kirkpatrick, an attorney in the Salinas CRLA office, said he had written to the governor demanding "a full retraction" of charges against him he said were "totally false and untrue." He said he was "considering libel action" if no retraction was made.

The report said documents showed that Kirkpatrick "subtly threatened an inmate at Soledad and suggested that the inmate, at best, suppress evidence, and, at worst, commit perjury in the soul brothers murder case."

Kirkpatrick said he had merely been contacted by former CRLA attorney Peter Haberfield of the Marysville office to see if an inmate recently transferred from Folsom to Soledad was satisfied with the transfer and if he had any more need for Haberfield's services.

"I saw him and he said he was satisfied with the transfer. I asked if he wanted further help and he said to thank Mr. Haberfield and tell him he needed no more help. That was the extent of my involvement," Kirkpatrick said.

Glick said of 18,900 cases filed by CRLA last year, only eight dealt with prisons. He also mentioned that the administration report claimed CRLA was excessively interested in "class actions" and not interested enough in individuals.

"Since 1966 there have been 70,000 individual cases handled by CRLA and only 55 class actions," he said.

The report said Judge Claude J. Miller of the Yuba Judicial District had stated that in 1970 at least five cases had come before him in which CRLA attorneys had represented criminal defendants.

Glick said the Marysville office was investigating this charge but he felt that the administration was not distinguishing between criminal cases and those that were juvenile or habeas corpus actions.

Mario Obledo, director of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund, attended the news conference and called the administration charges against CRLA "frivolous."

"The governor has his own war on poverty," Obledo said, "but it is not a war to alleviate it —just to perpetuate it."

He called the veto of CRLA funds "purely a political issue" and "a shameful act on the part of the governor."

Board Refuses To Delay U.S. Steel Corp. Order

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A state antipollution board today refused to postpone implementation of an order directing U.S. Steel Corp. from discharging wastes into waterways of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.

But the state Water Resources Control Board did order its staff to examine the petition of U.S. Steel seeking a review of a cease and desist order and to report back Jan. 21 with a recommendation.

The cease and desist order against the giant firm was issued in November by the San Francisco Regional Water Quality Control Board. The state board is the parent of the regional agency.

The order said the firm's plant near Pittsburg violated state antipollution rules. The company dumps about 20 million gallons of waste and cooling water into New York Slough each day, the board said.

The five-member state board unanimously denied the steel company's appeal for a stay of the regional board's order. Member Ronald Robie called grounds on which U.S. Steel sought the stay "fairly weak."

The firm said the order should be stayed to avoid labeling petitioner (U.S. Steel) as a polluter and unfairly subjecting petitioner to severe penalties."

The state agency said that the only "penalties" provided by the regional board's order was requesting the attorney general to prosecute the discharger unless its directives were obeyed.

A U.S. Steel representative, William Everetts, told the board the company "regretted" the denial. He asked that it be given the opportunity later to present "evidence" to support its position.

"We'd like very much to hear from you," said Kerry Mulligan, board chairman.

U.S. Steel, in seeking the postponement, asserted that the San Francisco board's timetable for construction of additional discharge facilities were "too vague" and "unenforceable."

Want Not, And Ye Shall Receive

WALSALL, England (UPI)— Rev. James Curtin said today he only bet that $25 on the soccer pool lottery only with an eye to paying church debts.

"I had it in mind to win only a few thousand pounds to pay off outstanding bills on a new church hall," the 51-year-old priest told newsmen. "I do not consider gambling wrong when it brings benefit."

Father Curtin won more than the "few thousand pounds" he'd bargained for. He won $240,000.

Marin Prep Basketballers To Open League Season

By David Einstein

The Marin County Athletic League, as powerful as it has ever been and probably better balanced, opens its 1971 league season tonight after more than a month of preseason play.

All teams will see action in four games beginning at 8 o'clock. San Rafael is at Marin Catholic in Kentfield, Redwood is at Novato, Terra Linda is at Drake in San Anselmo, and Tamalpais and San Marin meet at the College of Marin.

The favorite to win the title, now as before the first jump ball of the season last November, is Tamalpais of Mill Valley. The Indians are seventh ranked among Bay Area teams, and have won nine of 11 preseason games. They took the championship of the Redwood Empire Tournament in Healdsburg, and beat such powerhouses as Sacred Heart, Oakland and Petaluma.

Yet Tam is no lead-pipe cinch to win the crown, for there are two other tournament-winning teams in the MCAL, and three besides those which have shown brilliance at times.

Redwood, league champions for the past two years, has achieved a No. 17 ranking in the preseason, having won the Yuba City Tournament and defeated eighth ranked St. Ignatius.

The Larkspur team lost four of its first six games, but since then has won five of six, for a 7-5 preseason mark.

The other tourney winner, and the Cinderella team in the league this year, is Marin Catholic. The Wildcats of Kentfield, last place finishers in league play last year, have run up an impressive 10-4 record so far. With a starting lineup composed of four juniors and a senior, the Wildcats won the Rose City tourney in Santa Rosa, and their other preseason wins include a victory over powerful Lowell of San Francisco.

San Marin (6-7), Terra Linda (7-4) and Novato (6-5) all will have much to say about the title race. Terra Linda has been more consistent than the others, but has played a somewhat weaker schedule. San Marin has shown a tremendous ability to score, but like Novato has fallen prey to inconsistency.

Finally, there are San Rafael and Drake, the only weak teams in the league. Each suffers from inexperience and lack of height; for them, 1971 will be a building year.

Tamalpais' Will Garner — a junior transfer from Texas, Garner is, right now the best player in the MCAL. He does things seldom seen outside of college, relying on tremendous body control and incredible leaping ability. He can score almost at will when he's hot, and will control the boards almost all the time. At 6-foot-3, he's not the tallest man on the team by far, but he can jump so high there's no place to put him but in the center.

John Earl Huff — He's the only returning starter from last year, is the team's playmaking guard. He has all the tools — can drive, control the ball, pass, and shoot from anywhere on the court. He's also a determined defensive player, who can break up any game. He was named most valuable player in the Healdsburg tourney.

Redwood: Scott Trobbe — Last year's sixth man, Trobbe has matured into something of a superstar in the preseason. Voted to the all tourney teams both at Fresno and Yuba, the 6-foot-6 forward has consistently scored in the 20s, sometimes in the 30s. His touch from anywhere around the circle is precise.

Steve McGee — Steve is the brains of the outfit - the only holdover from last year's starting five. At 6-foot-6, he may be the best big man in the league. He has speed, great rebounding ability, and can work the fast break to perfection.

MARIN CATHOLIC: Bill Donellan — He is the only senior in the starting lineup. He's the most consistent scorer on the team, averaging about 15 points per game. He's the founda-

Outdoor Sports Can Go Indoors

Tom Rooney, the squire of Kenwood in Sonoma County and originator and managing director for the San Francisco Sports and Boat Show, was holding court on the eve of the 29th annual event which opens today at the Cow Palace.

Naturally, Rooney likes to talk about money because his show features thousands of outdoor sports and recreation items and it makes the record of 550-plus exhibitors feel good to sell a few items.

"We feel very optimistic for 1971 for the marine and outdoor industry," Rooney told a group of scribes, "based on the number of exhibitors for our show. The marine industry showed a large economic upturn this fall, and the boating industry held remarkably well this year — better than color TV, appliances and commercial travel. The history of recessions shows that there is a great turn to recreation as the dollar for big items is not necessarily there, but it is for recreation which is generally a low-priced item."

The boat show, which utilizes every inch of space in the mammoth Cow Palace, always features the usual outdoor sporting equipment.

Asked to describe his spectacle which brings the great outdoors indoors, Rooney succinctly called it: "The World Series of Folk Sports. A toy shop for children eager to explore the wonders of the outdoors."

This show, which runs through Jan. 17, again will feature the perennially popular Huck Finn Fishing Pool where many youngsters get their first taste of angling. Also, the canny Rooney estimated there are 20 million fishermen in the country and pointed out that as of last November the California Fish and Game Commission had issued 2,197,084 fishing licenses.

Yes, anglers will find every imaginable fishing item on display.

One of the biggest hits of the show, Rooney pointed out, will be the unique skyboat, the "Boataloon." It's a round, fiberglass boat attached to a rubberized plastic 48-foot high balloon which enables it to travel on water or in the air.

"It's no gimmick," the veteran managing director said, "because it is grand for people who want to change their lakes without fighting the traffic. It is powered by a 30 h.p. outboard motor which acts as a fan when airborne. The boat will be flown four times daily in the center arena of the Moo Mansion.

"Hot air or free air ballooning is becoming a big sport and we are the first to introduce an 'airphibious' model," said Rooney.

Boaters will have a field day because every type of craft ranging from an inflatable model that can be carried in the trunk of a car to a 51-foot houseboat will be on display. Also, many sailboats, cruisers and powerboats.

Bring your checkbooks.

The colorful Rooney, whose work at the S.F. show has earned him such titles as "Superb Showman" and "Super Salesman," added that camping and hunting and Vacationland Hall will get their share of exhibit space.

"We'll have many more innovations which won't be revealed until the show opens," he teased as he headed off on a whirlwind tour of the Guernsey Gym to make sure everything would go on schedule.

Show times are 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturdays and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sundays.

See you there, sports.

Trio Tied In L.A. Open; Arnie's Beer Can Trouble

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bob E. Smith, handsome Sacramento, bachelor, gets off to an early start today in the second round of the 72-hole $110,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open to break out of a three-way tie for the lead.

This was the scene:

Defending champion Billy Casper and Tom Shaw, the boyish-looking pro from Milwaukie, Ore., both involved in the first round tie with Smith, had to wait until around noon to begin the second round of this tournament, the first event of the new year on the $7 million 1971 pro tour.

Smith, 28, who loves to describe himself as "still a bachelor," finished about dusk Thursday (hence the early start today) with 32-34—66, five under par for the Rancho Park municipal course.

Palmer took a par 71 on nines of 38-33 but should have been two strokes lower. On the fifth, hole, his tee shot landed in the rough under a beer car.

Palmer, 41, a pro for 15 years, said he should have called for a ruling and he could have gotten out of the fix without a penalty. Instead he moved the can and the ball moved. He played his second shot and it hit a tree and bounced onto the fairway. He took a par five on the hole but when, like a dutiful and impeccably honest pro, he reported the beer can incident, officials ruled he had to take a two-stroke penalty.

So the man who has won this tournament three times fell victim to a litter bug. He wouldn't name the brand of beer but swore off it on the spot.

"It was really my own fault," said honest Arnold. "Sometimes you don't do what you know you should do."

The first round was chilly and the start was delayed a half hour because of frosty greens.

Thirty-five golfers broke par 36-35 — 71 and another 20 equalled it.

Former San Rafael golfer Ron Cerrudo, who missed about half of last year with a bad back and subsequent operation, fired a 71.

Bob Payne, 27, an unknown pro from Mt. Vernon, Ill., was a stroke behind the leaders with 33-34—67. There were eight at 68 including the veteran Jerry Barber, George Archer, Dale Douglass, Bert Greene, Bob Lunn and Ray Floyd.

Tony Jacklin and Bruce Crampton, representing the British Empire, landed at 69 with Don January and five other pros.

Net Tourney Reaches Semi-Finals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — America's premiere woman player, Billie Jean King, has her work cut out in the semi-final round today of the $15,000 British Motors' Women's Professional Tenns Tournament.

Mrs. King, making a comeback from knee surgery, has looked anything but steady in her first two matches. She had to battle 1 hour, 45 minutes Thursday to defeat France's Francoise Durr to advance to today's match against Ann Haydon Jones, 1969 Wimbledon winner, who stretched her set victory string to four by downing Kerry Melville.

Mrs. King's scores over Miss Durr were 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, and Mrs. Jones defeated Miss Melville by counts of 6-1, 6-0.

In the second semi-final match, hometown product Rosemary Casals, 6-1, 6-3, victor over Mary Ann Curtis, St. Louis, will meet Nancy Richey, who topped Peaches Bartkowicz, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Strange Happenings In America Bowl

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney and Miami Coach Fran Curci battled time and the elements today to put together the opposing teams for the American Bowl football game Sunday.

Players for the all-star game did not begin arriving until Tuesday and drills have been hampered by the weather.

The offensive units of the two teams got together for the first practice Wednesday but some players had yet to arrive.

Thursday the teams were chased inside by day-long rain and the defensive units got together for the first time.

Both Devaney and Curci hoped for clearing weather for today's sessions and will send the teams through full-scle workouts Saturday.

Kickoff for the game is 2 p. m. EST. Games officials said an estimated 15,000 fans are expected.

Joe Spagnola, who led Arizona State to an undefeated season and a Peach Bowl victory over North Carolina, will share quarterbacking duties for the South with Bill Montgomery of Arkansas.

The American Bowl, counted out by many after two years of financial losses and lawsuits, was revived late this year and received NCAA sanction late in September, long after many college seniors had been approached by the Senior Bowl game and the Hula Bowl game, both of which will be played Saturday.

But former college Coach Chelo Huerta was hired to round up the talent and came up with players for 30-man squads.

But there has had to be some juggling done, Huerta said, to keep the teams balanced. So the game will have the unique situation of two players from one college playing on opposite teams in the all-star game.

Speedy Bobby Tolan Has Serious Injury

CINCINNATI (UPI) —A torn achilles tendon suffered in a basketball game will put Cincinnati Reds outfielder Bobby Tolan out of action at least through the first two months of the 1971 major league baseball season.

The fleet-footed Tolan, who led the majors in stolen bases last year with 57, was playing a benefit game in Frankfort, Ky., with other members of the Reds, including Johnny Bench and Pete Rose, when he injured the tendon in his right heel Wednesday night.

"He was in center court on a fast break when it happened," said Reds utility pinch hitter Jimmie Stzwart, a member of the basketball team formed by a group known as Professionals, Inc.

"There was no one within ten feet of Bobby when it happened," Stewart said. "He just went down."

Tolan underwent surgery Thursday at Christ Hospital here and following the operation was placed in a full leg cast which he will keep on for four weeks.

Team physician Dr. George Ballou said he would not be permitted any visitors for at least 24 hours.

Dr. Dale Fox, who performed the surgery, said Tolan would be fitted with a walking cast after four weeks and wear it for another four weeks, after which he will start a slow rehabilitation process.

Offensive Fireworks Expected

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—The favored North today made public its battle plan for Saturday's Senior Bowl football game: the Yankees plan to attack by air and figure the Rebels will do the same.

"We won't be surprised if the South puts the ball in the air and so will we," said North coach Lou Saban of the Denver Broncos.

"I'm rather impressed with our squad. We've got two great quarterbacks (Don Pastorini of Santa Clara and Lynn Dickey of Kansas State)," added Saban, "they can really throw the ball."

Saban coached the North here last year and with Terry Bradshaw, the pros' No. 1 draft choice, at the controls the Yankees waged a 37-37 tie with the South, quarterback by Dennis Shaw who was this past season's American Football Conference rookie of the year.

"Both of these squads have great offensive ability," said Saban. "I wouldn't be surprised if this year's game turns out a lot like last year's."

"Hunter has a knot on his shoulder," Ewbank explained. "He's not throwing like he used to. He will have to throw better than he is now to make it in the pros. If I was going to draft him, I'd have an orthepedic man look at him."

But if Hunter does bog down, Ewbank has Duke's Leo Hart standing by. Hart was good enough to break most of the Atlantic Coast Conference passing records —erasing the names of such standout pros as Roman Gabriel, Sonny Jurgenson and Norm Snead.

Cool, clear weather is forecast for Saturday's 1 p.m. CST kickoff. A sellout crowd of 41,000 is expected for the nationally televised (NBC) contest.

This will be the first play-for-pay game for the college seniors. Members of the winning team get $1,500 (plus expenses of course) and the losers get $1,200. If the game ends in a tie like last year, all players get $1,375.

PROTHRO SUCCESSOR

Pepper Rodgers In UCLA Return

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Franklin "Pepper" Rodgers has cashed in on the popularity he won in two years on the UCLA campus as an assistant coach. Rodgers was named Thursday as the Bruins' head football coach to replace Tommy Prothro.

The appointment of Rodgers to succeed Prothro, who took the head coaching job with the Los Angeles Rams last Saturday, came as little surprise.

Rodgers had been brought West by Prothro when he was named UCLA's head coach in 1965 and the former Georgia Tech quarterback's ability was noted quickly by the University of Kansas. Kansas hired him in December, 1966, as its head coach.

With four years as head coach to season him, Rodgers did not take long to accept the UCLA job and the Jayhawks immediately named long-time assistant coach Don Fambrough as his replacement.

UCLA athletic director J.D. Morgan announced Rodgers' hiring after having conferred with the 39-year-old coach earlier in the week. Rodgers came here after receiving permission from Kansas Athletic director Wade Stinson to talk to the Bruins, returning to Lawrence, Kan., prior to the announcement.

"He is a fine student of the game and relates well to the student athletes, to his associates in the athletic department and to the academic community," Morgan said.

"He has served the University of Kansas well and we felt indeed fortunate to be able to attract him to UCLA."

At Kansas, Rodgers had a 20-22 record but he coached the Jayhawks to a tie for the Big Eight championship with Oklahoma in 1968 and took his team to the Orange Bowl where it lost a disputed 15-14 decision to Penn State that season.

"It is a tremendous thrill and challenge in replacing someone who is such a good friend and outstanding a coach as Tommy Prothro," Rodgers said. "I am thrilled UCLA would think enough of me to ask me to be their head football coach."

During his tenure at UCLA Rodgers helped develop Gary Beban, who won the Heisman Trophy in his senior year, and Mal Farr, who went on to star for the Detroit Lions. At Kansas, he turned quarterback Bobby Douglass and end John Zook into nationally prominent performers.

Within hours of his appointment, Rodgers announced four of his Kansas assistants—Doug Weaver, Terry Donahue, Dick Toma and Billy Matthews—would accompany him to UCLA. He said he would retain Bruin assistants Jerry Long and Tony Kopay, both of whom had been on Prothro's staff with Rodgers.

San Rafael Wrestlers Win

San Rafael High School's wrestling team won in 10 of 13 weight classes yesterday to defeat Redwood, 38 to 13 in a Marin County Athletic League opening match at San Rafael.

Gurney: A Natural In World Of Racing

The secret of race driving is measuring up exactly to your limits of courage, reflexes, judgment, daring, eyesight and strength. If your limit is 174 miles-per-hour and you drive 174 miles-per-hour, you're a race driver. If you drive 173.8 miles-per-hour, you're a motorist. If you drive 174.6 miles-per-hour, you're dead.

The arithmetic equation of race driving is that your limit is the square of your potential. Dan Gurney was one of the great American race drivers because he knew precisely that. He knew precisely how fast to go. And he knew precisely how slow to go.

"YOU HAVE to feel the car is an extension of yourself," is the way he explains it. "It is an extension of your nerves and senses. If you feel it is a foreign body you are struggling to control, you will end up in a pit, on a wall, on foot, or on a stretcher."

When Dan Gurney hung up his goggles last year after 15 years as probably the best Grand Prix driver America ever produced, auto racing had to be as relieved as it was saddened. No one ever went through the corners at Indy or the turns at LeMans, or the trees of the Nurburgring any smoother than Dan Gurney. Even the most timorous never hesitated to dice with Dan. He was as natural to race driving as Snead to golf, Mays to baseball, or the shark to swimming. He fell out of bed with his ability. For Gurney to have ended up in a burning race car would have argued that nobody had a real chance in this game, that it is a rigged wheel and the house always wins.

AMERICAN race drivers are usually cigar-chewing, dirt-track types. The urge to go fast in a circle is incomprehensible to the average 9-to-5 guy. But the guys who do it are usually blood brothers to the ones who rustle steers, or die for gold, or jump out of planes, or ride sharks. They don't usually like to drive where people talk funny or drink tea with three fingers.

Dan Gurney's people, on the other hand, come from concert and opera. They hadn't had a monkey wrench in their hands in that family for generations. A salad fork was more their utensil.

WHAT WAS not so surprising was that Gurney graduated from Riverside drag racing to sports cars to Grand Prix. What startled the automotive world was, when he was an established Grand Prix and Formula One driver of the stature of the Marquis de Portago, Count Von Trips, Fangio, Jimm Clark or Stirling Moss, he came to Indianapolis in 1963 with a daring scheme for an international invasion of that muscular, he-man 500-mile character-tester.

It was Gurney who recommended (first to Chevy who declined and then to Ford who agreed) that the rear-engined Lotuses be equipped with Detroit motors, and take on the brutish Offenhauser roadsters at their own game.

INDIANAPOLIS was never the same. Gurney's teammate, Jimmy Clark, finished second that year, and was to win two years later. Gurney was to take two seconds and a third at Indy in the next six years, although he finished seventh that first year in a car slightly less well set up than Clark's.

Gurney won Grand Prix races in three countries. He won endurance races, Can-Am races, stock car races. Grand Prix drivers had historically shuddered at the thought of taking on the reckless Americans on their macadam tracks with searing heats and treacherous winds and for prize money that frequently drove a man to exceed his personal limits in a desperate gamble for a lifetime of gold —or a lifetime of one lap. Gurney was almost the first to take the challenge.

GURNEY RETIRED to Moosehead Lake in Maine, a snowmobile and a fishing boat last year. But he will be grand marshal at the Motor Trend Riverside 500 for "Dan Gurney Appreciation Day" this weekend. He will be a spectator at a race he has won five times.

As usual, Dan Gurney, now 39, knew exactly when his limit had been reached and he brought it in well before fate would have to black-flag him off the course. He also knew precisely when to park it.

MR. LUCKY — Evel Knievel, who became a motorcycle stunt rider five years ago, plans to become the first rider to make a million dollars and says, in fact, he may do it this year. He starts tonight in Houston's Astrodome, where he intends to set an indoor world record by jumping over 13 cars. (UPI Telephoto)

MOTORCYCLE MADNESS

Evel Knievel At It Again; This Time In Astrodome

HOUSTON (UPI) — Robert "Evel" Knievel, who used to crack safes for the thrill of it, plans on becoming the first man to make a million dollars riding a motorcycle and he said Thursday he may do it this year.

Knievel, who became a motorcycle stunt rider five years ago, starts his $1 million conquest with a $25,000 appearance in the Astrodome Friday and, if he's still healthy, Saturday night.

The 32-year-old Butte, Mont., native will try to set an indoor world record by jumping 13 cars placed side by side in the floor of the domed stadium. He holds the world record of 11 set in the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

He tried to jump 12 last year in Vancouver, B.C., and failed. Undaunted, he tried to jump 13 outdoors at Mount Pocono, Pa., last October, missed again and suffered a broken back.

At Mount Pocono, he had a half mile runway to gain speed and momentum for the spectacular leap, but missed. At the Astrodome Friday night, he will have 80 yards.

"That's why this thing has got me spooked here," Knievel (as in devil) said. "The chance you got to make it, the runway is the main thing. The track here is rough and that's a damn big problem."

But by starting in the hallway of the Dome, he can get enough room to accelerate to 75 miles an hour by the time he reaches the jump ramp and he can go out the centerfield ramp into a parking lot to slow down — if he makes the jump.

He plans to try to jump 19 cars, which would be a world outdoor record, during the Grand National NASCAR race at Ontario, Calif., next month. That's worth another $25,000, he said.

The last time he tried to jump 19 cars, in Seattle, Wash., last year, he missed and suffered another broken back. He had set the record of 18 at Seattle.

The biggest leap of Kneivel's career will be sometime next year when he attempts to jump a mile-widewide section of Snake River Canyon which he bought when the government refused to let him jump Grand Canyon. The canyon is 1,000 feet deep where the jump is planned and Knievel has installed a parachute on a specially built cycle.

The vehicle, which resembles a rocket with two wheels and uses jet fuel and beer, cost $100,000. It travels 350 miles an hour.

Knievel, who walks with a cane with a golden knob, has had 13 accidents since he graduated from motorcycle racing five years ago. He's such a bad risk now that he can't buy insurance.

It even costs him $5,000 a year insurance for a $100,000 trailer truck he uses.

1971 World Series Game To Be Under The Lights

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thirty-six years after Larry MacPhail introduced night baseball to the major leagues, a World Series game will be played under the lights.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Thursday that the fourth game of the 1971 Series — in the park of the National League champion on Wednesday, Oct. 13 — will be the first night game in the history of the classic.

The decision by Kuhn follows several years of speculation that baseball would put its showcase event on at night for the benefit of national television.

SPORTS SHORTS

Football

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jerry Williams will be back at the helm of the Philadelphia eagles next season, but on a "win or else" basis.

Eagles' owner Leonard Tose said Thursday that Williams would be retained to finish the third year of a three-year contract, thus sparing him the fate of three other pro football coaches the past week.

Tose, who had said after the Eagles finished the 1970 season with a 3-10-1 record that he was going to "reevaluate" the coaching job, made the announcement accompanied by Williams and general manager Pete Retzlaff.

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Cleveland Browns quarterback Bill Nelsen has confirmed that he does not plan an immediate operation on his right knee, which hampered him much of the season.

Nelsen has undergone two operations on his knees and played without cartilage in either of them last season.

Golf

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—Dick Hart of Hinsdale, Ill., took a three-stroke lead into today's final round of the PGA stroke play golf championship.

The Don Rumpf Golf Shop beat Pinky's Pizza, 55-48, Southern Marin Towing defeated the Harding Gophers, 50-40 and Cal's Steakhouse downed the Centaurs, 52-46.

Wilcox Replaced For Pro Bowl

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco Forty Niners announced Thursday that leftside linebacker Dave Wilcox, an All-NFC selection, will undergo surgery on his right knee next Tuesday and will not be able to play in the Pro Bowl game Jan. 24.

Wilcox has cartilege problems in the knee, which will be operated on at Eugene, Ore., his home town.

He will be replaced in the Pro Bowl by Paul Naumoff of the Detroit Lions.

Brodie, Blanda Win N.Y. Honors

NEW YORK (UPI)–John Brodie of the San Francisco Forty Niners and George Blanda of the Oakland Raiders were named the players of the year in the NFC and AFC Thursday by the New York chaper of the Pro Football Writers of America.

The two players will be honored along with the top player of the Super Bowl at the chapter's annual dinner in New York, May 24.

A GREAT SKI SEASON

Most ski resorts in the Sierra Nevada area are reporting great ski conditions these past few weeks. Shown getting in on some of the action at Sugar Bowl in the Tahoe Basin is ski patrolman Jim Rogers of San Rafael. The report from the Sugar Bowl at Donner Summit is 25 feet of packed powder, and that should be enough snow for just about anybody.

FISH AND GAME

Father-Son Night For Novatans

By AL GIDDINGS

Tonight is the big night at the Novato Community Club. The Novato Kiwanis Club, in cooperation with the Novato Creek Committee, will present a first Novato Father-Son sportsmen's night, starting at 8 p.m. You can get your tickets at the door.

What's it all about? A group of sportsmen decided to give their sons a look at some fishing areas around Novato that could stand some improvements. Proceeds of tonight's affair are to be used for stocking and stream improvement of Novato Creek, and to plant catchable trout at the spray pool in Pioneer Park this spring.

MEMBERS OF the Rogue River Steelhead Club will be there with action movies, and there will be demonstrations of fly tying. Rod casting techniques and a gun safety program, along with refreshments and door prizes, will be on the agenda. If the program succeeds, further steps are planned to use the proceeds from a second affair in September to help restock Papermill Creek with either silver salmon or steelhead. I've been asked to come over to answer questions about fish and game. I'll also bring some Department of Fish and Game films.

Tickets are $5 per father-son combination and all proceeds will be used on the projects. This is just what we need, and I hope it's the start of getting the Papermill Creek fish runs back like they used to be!

FRANK SPENCER, the keeper of the Marin Rod and Gun Club pier just called to say that Chet Lavin of Corte Madera caught a 42½-pound sturgeon off the pier without anyone being there to give him a hand in landing the critter. If you know the pier — it's 20 feet off the water — then you know what a time a lone fisherman would have in playing a big fish, then trying to get a 14-foot net under a fish with one hand, while keeping the fish out of the pilings with the other. Sounds impossible, but he did it, though Frank says, "That man is still shook up!" Frank also reported that Fred Wieand of S. F. landed a 14-pound bass this week. Both fishermen used anchovies for bait.

HERE'S A FANTASTIC story about a pheasant. A hen pheasant was tagged in 1961 at Honey Lake. In 1970, nine years later, that bird was killed by a hunter who thought he had bagged a male because the bird had the bright plumage of a rooster. This color change happens, however, if a hen lives to an age of 6 or 7 years! The actual life expectancy of a pheasant is less than one year! The hunter wasn't arrested — it's like killing a doe with horns, and involves no game law violation.

Norman Quadros called to give me the word for saying that he and a friend got just one bird at Grizzly Island last Wednesday. He says that's all they saw —that it wasn't bad shooting! Probably my reporting this kept some of you home last Saturday. Oh, boy! The wind blew at Grizzly and all of us were watching the East-West game, or we just stood home because of "no birds."

Quadros said they really had a good shoot — those who went! Nope, he didn't go either! So now the wind is blowing —go duck hunting! We don't have much time left —the season closes Jan. 17. Northeast California closes this Sunday. There are lots of birds; it's being there when they are on the move that counts.

WEST COAST BASKETBALL

Strong Pacific-8 To Begin Action

By United Press International

Perhaps the strongest Pacific Eight basketball field in history commences firing tonight, but UCLA still appears to be in a class by itself and ready for its fifth straight title.

The nationally top-rated Bruins, working on a 14-0 winning streak and 9-0 this season, host Washington, tougher than its 5-5 record would indicate.

USC, nationally third ranked and last team to dump UCLA, entertains Washington State, which brings in a 9-2 mark. The Trojans are also 10-0.

Oregon and Oregon State, both with 7-2 records, host Stanford and California, respectively. Stanford's 4-6 mark indicates the Indians may be in for a long conference campaign. The Bears are 7-3, but have played only once at home.

Thus the Pacific Eight's teams move into conference play with a gaudy 63-20 record. They boast at least 10 All-America hopefuls on the eight teams with names like Sidney Wicks and Curtis Rowe of UCLA, Stan Love, of Oregon, Charlie Johnson of California, Steve Hawes of Washington, Claude Terry of Stanford and Paul Westphal of USC springing to mind.

Meanwhile, the West Coast Athletic Conference got going Thursday night with Nevada Las Vegas, UOP and Pepperdine in especially good form.

Nevada Las Vegas hosted tough Loyola and came out on top 73-64 with Booker Washington getting 22 for the winners. The Rebels now have an 8-3 record and could be a dark horse conference contender if they can figure out how to play as well on the road as they do at home.

UOP hosted Santa Clara and got the 72-60 win with big center John Gianelli all over the court. He hit 28, grabbed 18 rebounds and blocked 11 shots. The Tigers, who have also lost three, still are the conference favorite.

Pepperdine is 6-2 and showed it could win on the road by taking the 98-66 win at Nevada Reno. The Waves swished over half of their floor shots with Steve Sims hooping 19.

USF also got out with a victory by taking St. Marys 74-66. WCAC play resumes Saturday.

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — West German's Hamburg soccer team will meet the Northern California All-Stars in an exhibition Saturday at Balboa Stadium.

Black Hawks Dominate The West

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brothers Bobby and Dennis Hull led a record Chicago assault on National Hockey League All-Star nominations as eight members of the Black Hawks were among the 12 players named today to the West Division team.

The Black Hawks, who were expected to dominate the younger West Division after winning the regular season title in the East last year, were shut out only in the voting for right wing. The St. Louis Blues, who dominated the West during their first three years of existence prior to the arrival of Chicago, placed three men on the squad and the Pittsburgh Penguins had the only other representative.

Another eight players will be selected by West Coach Scotty Bowman, now the general manager of the Blues, to complete the team for the 24th annual All-Star Game at Boston Garden on Tuesday night, Jan. 19.

Bobby Hull, who needs only 12 more goals to surpass Maurice Richard's figure of 544 and thus become the second-highest goal scorer in NHL history, was the only unanimous choice to the West team with a perfect 105 points in the voting conducted among 21 members of the NHL Writers' Association.

Dennis, with 17 goals and 31 points, earned the other left wing spot with 39 points.

Joining the Hull brothers on the West team from Chicago were centers Stan Mikita (75 points) and Pit Martin (40), goalie Tony Esposito (87) and defensemen Keith Magnuson (73), Pat Stapleton (59) and Bill White (47).

St. Louis, which ran away to the West Division championship last season but now trails Chicago by 10 points, is represented by goalie Ernie Wakely (27), defenseman Barclay Palger (38) and right wing Tim Ecclestone (2). The other right wing post went to veteran Ken Schinkel of Pittsburgh with 70 points, but he underwent surgery earlier this week for a broken collarbone and is not expected to play again for at least two months. Bowman will name another player to replace Schinkel.

Prep Cagers To Open League Slate Tonight

tion for the team, the steadying influence.

Jim Sullivan and Tim Stone — A couple of juniors, who with Donellan give Marin the best balanced scoring in the league. One or the other is always hot, and Sullivan can rebound with the best of them.

SAN MARIN: Dana LaFerriere — Last year's All North-Coast center, LaFerriere (6-foot-8), is very good when he's good, but has been plagued this season with moodiness that at times has made him ineffective. As he goes, so go the Mustangs. He averaged 23 points a game last year, and, although records are not kept in rebounding, he probably set a league mark there.

Jim Thompson — He is a senior forward, has had the hot shooting hand lately, and could be just the cure for the team's inconsistency. He's getting better each game, and should take some of the pressure off big Dana.

TERRA LINDA: Joe Casteel — A strong, polished forward, Casteel (6-foot-3) is one of the best shooters in the league, and the Trojans' main offensive threat. He can shoot effectively inside or outside, and is a strong rebounder.

Larry Kerr — The name of the Terra Linda game is defense, and you might as well say Larry Kerr. Besides Casteel the Trojans' only returning starter, Kerr is a muscleman, who lacks polish and grace but more than makes up for it with heads-up play and fierceness.

NOVATO: Joe DeMaestri — A definite all-league prospect, DeMaestri may be the best shooter in the league. He needs to become more consistent, but when he's right, Novato can win.

Marty Moroski — Only a junior, Moroski (6-foot-4), is in his second varsity campaign, and is learning all the time. He has all the equipment to become a first rate center. An above average rebounder.

SAN RAFAEL: Jim Thorne — A good all around ballplayer, Thorne has lately been leading the Bulldogs into scoring, and was voted to the all-tourney team in the Pinole Valley Classic.

Wayne Lechner — He's not big for a center (6-foot-3), but he gets in there and mixes it up, and will consistently score nearly 10 points a game.

DRAKE: Jit Singh — Only a junior, Singh is the playmaker to whom the Pirates will look in this season of little promise. He's a good one, though, who can make the most of the team's talent.

Jim Forni — The only player back from last year, Forni is the most experienced and knowledgable player on the club. He's only 6-foot-1, yet he'll be playing center, and it remains to be seen how well he can handle some of the league's big men.

In tonight's opening games, look for Tam to handle San Marin, Redwood to get by Novato, Marin Catholic to beat San Rafael, and Terra Linda to run away from Drake.

Nick Skorich Takes Over Eagles' Job

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Nick Skorich has stepped into a role only two before him have taken on—head coach of the Cleveland Browns—and he said he intends to be here "a long time."

"I intend to be here ten years," said Skorich, a former head coach with the Philadelphia Eagles who has served under retiring Browns Coach Blanton Collier the last seven years.

Skorch was picked to be Collier's successor Thursday in a move that apparently was savored by Collier, Skorich and the front office.

"I'm delighted and Blanton is delighted," said owner Art Modell. "My philosophy is that I believe in continuity, succession and growth within and I'm happy."

Skorich, 49, head coach of the Eagles 1961-63, said the appointment was the expression of a goal.

"Seven years ago when I joined the Browns, one of my wishes was to return as a head coach in this league," the Bellaire, Ohio, native said.

Paul Brown, now coach of the Cincinnati Bengals, was the original coach of the Browns and led the team from the old All-American Conference in 1950 into the National Football League.

Collier had been with the Browns since 1946, left in 1954 for college coaching, and returned in 1962 to take over when Brown was fired.

The holiday season over, 3-year-old Matthew Schendel of Novato mournfully hauls away the family Christmas tree. He deposited it today at the Novato Fire District's training tower on Atherton Avenue, where the professional firemen's association is to conduct a big tree burn this weekend. Trees will be accepted at the tower from 9 a.m. to 4 p.m. both days.

COVE PROJECT

$2.34 Million Damages Asked

Two suits seeking $2,340,000 in damages from opponents of a 102-unit apartment project proposed on Strawberry Cove have been filed in Marin Superior Court by the developer and owner of the property.

The suits were their response to the Strawberry Recreation District's claim filed in the same court in November that the public had acquired an irrevocable right to cross the entire property to get to the bay.

The owner of the 6.7-acre property, Leonard B. Fleischman of Belvedere, filed a countersuit seeking $1 million in punitive damages and $300,000 in actual damages from the recreation district for blocking the development.

The developer, Paul J. Broman of Peacock Gap, took a different legal tactic yesterday by naming 220 persons, including three directors of the recreation district, and 600 John Does, and charging them with "wrongful combination to slander title and interfere with property interests."

Broman's suit seeks $1 million in exemplary damages and $40,000 in actual damages caused by delay of the project by the recreation district suit.

Broman stressed in an interview with the Independent-Journal that his legal action was not aimed at conservationists, but at "obstructionists."

Broman noted that his plans were endorsed by Marin conservation organizations at the time they were approved by both the county planning commission and supervisors.

Broman's plans now face their final hurdle, a fill permit from the Bay Conservation and Development Commission for a boardwalk to allow public access along the entire waterfront of his project. Broman's application for a fill permit said the fill would be for eight hundredths of an acre, and account for $2,500 of the project's total $2 million cost.

The commission will hear the application at 2 p.m. on Jan. 21 in Room 1194 of the

British Envoy Abducted

A group of Tupamaros in a stolen car pulled in front of the ambassador's black Daimler-Jaguar in a narrow street of the old city seven blocks from the heavily-guarded British Embassy while a "fruit vendor" in the street produced the submachinegun from his basket. They dragged the ambassador's chauffeur from his car and used clubs to beat into submission the two bodyguards who were following in a small truck. Then, witnesses said, they drove the ambassador away in his own car with a stolen vehicle following.

The ambassador's car was found damaged a mile and a half from the scene, and witnesses there said they saw a man being transferred into a white car which took off at high speed towards the outskirts of the capital.

Jackson, 55, has been ambassador to Uruguay since July, 1969, and has held several other diplomatic posts in Latin America, the Middle East and Europe. He is an old friend of British trade commissioner James R. Cross, recently released by terrorists in Quebec.

Police immediately launched a widespread search, stopping all cars leaving and entering the capital, but the same group has been holding two other foreign officials for months while police have searched in vain.

On the same day they kidnaped Gomide, they also abducted U.S. police adviser Dan A. Mitrone and killed him when Uruguayan President Jorge Pacheco Areco refused to release political prisoners as ransom. The contest of wills between the president and the Tupamaros has gone on since.

Pacheco Areco has steadfastly refused to release prisoners as ransom for the kidnaped men on the grounds he is a constitutional president, not a military dictator, and as president cannot overrule the courts which have sentenced the prisoners.

The Tupamaros, who take their name from the Inca, Tupac Amaru, leader of an unsuccessful revolt against the Spaniards in Peru in the 17th century, are now demanding that the newspapers of Montevideo publish their manifesto as ransom for Fly and for Brazilian Consul Gomide. They are also asking $1 million.

Jewish Militants Claim Credit As Reds Deliver Stiff Protest

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A building housing some offices and apartments of the Soviet diplomatic mission in Washington was rocked by a bomb explosion early today. Moscow made a strong protest and the United States offered its "deep regret."

No one was injured in the explosion and aside from shattered windows and a damaged metal door, the building—actually a converted dwelling—was not seriously damaged.

A militant Jewish organization which has been leading protests to treatment of Jews in Russia was believed responsible.

Within minutes after the explosion, a woman telephoned Washington news agencies boasting of the bombing and proclaiming: "This is a sample of things to come. Let our people go. Never again!"

"Never again" is a slogan of the Jewish Defense League.

Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei I. Gromyko handed what a U.S. spokesman described as a "very strong protest" over the incident to the U.S. ambassador to Moscow, Jacob D. Beam.

Beam expressed "sincere regrets" and went to the Soviet Foreign Ministry, without being summoned, to discuss with Gromyko the recent series of incidents in Moscow and in the United States involving incidents directed at Russian personnel in America and Americans in Russia.

Even before Beam offered personal regrets, the State Department relayed to the Soviet Embassy in Washington "deep regret" over the bombing, together with a pledge to seek out those responsible and

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The Nixon administration today called off plans to cut off up to $500 million in federal welfare funds for California, citing a last-minute promise by Gov. Ronald Reagan to make more changes in the state's program for aid to welfare families.

The Department of Health, Education and Welfare said Reagan sent a telegram late Thursday. An HEW official announced that the cutoff plan had been dropped at a news conference that had been scheduled to announce the cut.

"I have decided to give the state one last opportunity to solve its problem and thereby a cut-off of federal funds," said John D. Twiname, administrator of HEW's social and rehabilitation service.

The administration's chief objection was that California failed to abide by a law requiring updating maximum payments to poor families with children to reflect rises in the cost of living. Revisions in the monthly payments were supposed to have been made by last July 1.

Reagan said in his telegram that California has been hampered by state courts in an attempt to make state welfare regulations conform with federal welfare statutes. To overcome the logjam, Reagan said he would make a special appeal to the California Supreme Court.

Twiname said California could still lose the money if the court logjam continued, although the state legislature, now in session, could take action to change regulations and bring them into compliance with federal law.

"I am willing to withhold the drastic action previously contemplated for the expected short time it will take the court to resolve the matter one way or the other," Twiname said.

The long-running conflict between HEW and California involves the state's program of aid to families wth dependent children (AFDC). About 1.3 million persons, including 900,000 children, are affected.

California receives about $1 billion annually in federal welfare funds. Sources said the cutoff could have taken from $20 million to $500 million from the $684 million devoted by the state to AFDC.

Mrs. Meir's Ground Rules For Any Talks

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Israeli Premier Golda Meir met in sun-drenched Jerusalem today with U.N. negotiator Gunnar V. Jarring and laid down what observers called a stiff set of ground rules for Israeli participation in the Middle East talks. They included a demand that Egypt quit threatening war.

Before the talks began Mrs. Meir called them "the most important meeting I have had in a long time." Details of what was being discussed came today from Israel Galili, a cabinet minister without portfolio who is Mrs. Meir's close friend, confidante and speech writer.

In a speech to a Tel Aviv trade union gathering, distributed by the government press office and obviously reflecting the Meir-Jarring talks, Galili set forth these ground rules for the peace talks:

—An end to threats by Egyptian President Anwar Sadat and other Arab leaders to resume hostilities. "Threats of renewed war will not make the talks wheels turn but constitute the source of hardening and failure."

—No attempt by the Big Four powers to impose a solution.

—Maintenance of the ceasefire without time limit after its Feb. 5 expiration date. "An ultimatum to reopen fire will bring renewed war and no softening on the part of Israel."

—Israel is ready to discuss withdrawal from Arab territories captured in the 1967 war but only to secure borders. "There is nothing to be gained in talking about getting Israeli obligations in advance for a total withdrawal." Any withdrawal must be part of a contractual peace and the pre-

Nearly Five Million Reported Jobless

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Uemployment increased in December to 6 per cent of America's work force, the highest level in nine years.

The Labor Department in reporting today the rise from a 5.8 per cent jobless rate in November, said 4.6 million people were unemployed last month. That was 2million more than were seeking jobs in December, 1969.

The jobless rate increased by 0.2 per cent despite the end of the General Motors strike which the Nixon administration had said was responsible for a substantial part of November unemployment.

White House Press Secretar Ronald L. Ziegler said last month that if it had not been for the "echo" effect of the GM strike, the unemployment rate for November would have been only 5.5 per cent.

The unemployment rate in December for white workers was 5.5 per cent while the rate for Negro workers was 9.3 per cent. Other rates were 4.3 per cent for all adult men, 3.3 per cent for married men, 5.7 per cent for adult women and 17.5 per cent for teenagers.

The unemployment rate of 6 per cent last month contrasted with 3.5 per cent level in December, 1969. The average jobless figure for the year was 4.9 per cent, highest rate since a 5.2 per cent monthly average in 1964.

December unemployment was the highest since December, 1961.

The number of persons unemployed 15 weeks or more exceeded one million on a seasonally adjusted basis, highest level since mid-1964. The average duration of unemployment was 9.8 weeks, up from 9.4 weeks in November.

The government's announcement of the unemployment figures came less than 24 hours after the Federal Reserve announced the third cut in less than two months in the interest rate it charges for loans to commercial banks. It cut the rate from 5½ to 5¼ per cent.

In another economic development, the Commerce Department predicted that U.S.

Redwood Group Purchases Land

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The Save-the-Redwoods League today announced the purchase of a 55-acre parcel of land adjacent to the Jedediah Smith Redwoods State Park near Crescent City.

A spokesman for the conservation organization said the plot was important to preservation of the scenic foreground of the park and the approach road.

The purchase was made through funds donated by the group's 50,000 members.

The league has contributed significantly to preservation of thousands of acres of redwoods in California.

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The federal government's deficit this fiscal year will total $15.6 billion, a congressional committee predicted Friday.

Solano Jury Wrestles With Riot Trial Verdict

I-J Special Report

FAIRFIELD — A Solano County Superior Court jury today was in its third day of deliberations climaxing the 11-week trial of seven men arrested during a violent demonstration at the Independent-Journal in San Rafael last Valentine's Day.

The case had been transferred to Solano County because the defense contended it could not get a fair trial in Marin County.

The 10 women and two men on the jury deliberated until 7 p.m. yesterday before recessing to dine and then to spend the night sequestered in a Fairfield motel.

Only once did jurors interrupt their secret discussions. Late in the afternoon, they asked Judge William E. Jensen to clarify a point in the 29-page set of instructions he had given them on Wednesday.

The panel went back to work at 9 a.m.today.

The seven defendants are accused of a total of 34 charges, including participating in a riot, failure to disperse, possession of weapons and resisting arrest. All were arrested on Julia Street during a day-long rally called in support of San Francisco Typographical Union 21, which struck the I-J one year ago yesterday.

By GEORGE NEVIN

Preserving open space in Marin County soon may require "telling a property owner he can't build on his land," a conservationist attorney told a symposium in Mill Valley yesterday.

Douglas B. Ferguson, who sometimes serves as a legal adviser to the Nature Conservancy, said this radical approach may be needed to acquire undeveloped ridgelands in Southern Marin although other tools are available as well.

Ferguson was one of three panelists speaking on "balanced housing, open space and Mill Valley in a regional plan" sponsored by the Mill Valley Outdoor Art Club. Other speakers were Robert E. Burton, chairman of the Mill Valley Planning Commission, and John Blayney, of the regional planning firm of Livingston and Blayney.

Ferguson said the most common means of acquiring open space are through buying the land and through restricting development by zoning or other statutory regulations.

But, he said, the time may be coming when "we have to rethink our concepts of private ownership and realize that the public good may best be served by telling a property owner he can't build on his land."

Ferguson compared the idea of taking land from a private owner with freeing slaves in the Civil War. He pointed out that slaves represented a large investment to their owners, but that "social conditions change. Someone at some point had to tell them (slaveowners), 'Sorry, but society's needs are different now and you'll have to give up your property.' Something similar might have to be

Laird In Saigon For Vietnamization Rounds

SAIGON (UPI)—Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird arrived tonight for meetings with top U.S. commanders in the Indochina theater, declaring the purpose of his four-day mission was to "assess the progress of Vietnamization and the military situation."

U.S. officials said a top item on the agenda would be what they described as the deteriorating situation in Cambodia where Communist forces have scored repeated successes in a campaign to isolate the capital of Phnom Penh.

Dispatches from Phnom Penh raised the possibility of a U.S. military airlift for transporting fuel to the capital if the situation worsens.

Laird arrived in an Air Force jet from the U.S. B52 base at U-Tapao, Thailand, with Adm. Thomas H. Moorer, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff. They were joined here by Adm. John S. McCain, the U.S. commander for the Pacific and Vietnam, and the entire party was met by Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, America's top Vietnam commander.

U.S. Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker was at the airport when Laird landed, along with the South Vietnamese defense minister, Nguyen Van Vy, and Abrams' chief deputy—Gen. Frederick C. Weyand.

New Laws Asked On Grass, Guns

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A special study commission on federal criminal law has concluded marijuana offenses should be treated like traffic violations, handguns should be outlawed and capital punishment should be abolished.

The recommendations are included in a report by the 12-member National Commission on Reform of Federal Criminal Laws prepared for submission to Congress and President Nixon today.

The commission is headed by Edmund G. (Pat) Brown, the former governor of California, who said the code would make simple possession of marijuana a misdemeanor, subject to a fine.

"We weren't ready to legalize it and have it sold like cigarettes but we did recognize that many people, particularly the young, are using it," Brown said.

It was anyone's guess what the response of Congress would be to the proposals. During its last session, Congress refused to outlaw handguns and added certain terrorist bombings to the list of crimes for which the death penalty may be imposed.

Spokesmen said there were several areas of disagreement among the commission members.

Rep. Richard H. Poff, R-Va., the commission vice chairman, said he favored retaining capital punishment for crimes such as treason and premeditated murder.

The group studied with inconclusive results the 1970 report of the Commission on Obscenity. Brown said some important testcases in the field still were pending in the Supreme COURT. He said it was the feelng of the commission that the United States was "not ready to adopt the Denmark situation" under which all forms of pornography were legalized for adults.

The proposal would expand federal jurisdiction in criminal law to cover certain crimes committed in the course of another federal offense. It asks stiffer sentences for dangerous offenders, additional parole supervision for hardened criminals released from prison, and would make persistant misdemeanors a felony.

Alioto Asks For Justice Council

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Mayor Joseph Alioto is asking the Board of Supervisors to create a permanent Criminal Justice Council to provide a united city front in seeking state and federal funds.

The council would recommend priorities in getting and spending money on the city's criminal justice system—the police, the sheriff, the courts, the probation department, the prosecutor and the public defenders.

Raphael Painting Is Seized

BOSTON (UPI)—The Boston museum of Fine Arts proudly unveiled a previously unknown and uncatalogued Italian masterpiece in 1969 and valued it at more than $1 million. U.S. customs authorities seized it Thursday, saying it was smuggled into the country.

The painting, a girl thought to be 12 or 13 years old, is on a 10-1-2 by 8-1-2 piece of wood. Museum officials said the portrait was "presumed" to be Elenora Gonzaja, the daughter of an Italian nobleman. It was painted in 1505.

Assistant U.S. Attorney Willie Davis, who was present when the painting was seized under a search warrant, said the Raphael was legally purchased in Italy but taken from that country without a license and brought into the United States Sept. 4, 1969, without being declared to customs at the port of entry. He said a museum representative picked up the painting in London.

Ever since the painting was unveiled Dec. 15, 1969, Italian authorities have maintained it was smuggled out of their country. Rololfo Siviero, head of Italy's department for the recovery of works of art, announced Jan. 23, 1970 he had begun an investigation into how the museum got the portrait.

'Iron Monster' Eats Car Hulks

HOLLAND, Mich. (UPI) — Junk cars which clutter the American landscape are being chewed and shredded into bits of metal the size of large cornflakes by a machine known as the "Iron Monster."

The machine, which needs two minutes to render an old car into steel confetti, was put into operation here Thursday.

A junk car—less engine, tires and transmission—is fed into a hopper at one end of a huge machinery complex. Two minutes later bits and pieces of metal emerge from the other end.

Rippers, shredders, scorchers and magnetic separators work together inside the 650,000-pound machine — tearing, disintegrating and separating the materials.

The machine, costing nearly $1 million and installed at Padnos Iron and Metal Co., is supported by 339 cubic yards of concrete weight over 1.5 million pounds, bringing the total weight to 2.1 million pounds.

Seymour Padnos, president of the Iron and Metal co., said the "Iron Monster" will devour more than 10,400 junk cars in Michigan within a year. With the backlog of old cars, however, Padnos said it would take his company 10 years to clean up the Michigan landscape, working five days a week and eight hours a day.

In the effort to clean up the environment, however, ecologists have pointed out that it is not enough to just chew up the junk cars. For several years efforts have been directed not only at erasing old cars from the landscape but also improving the scrap metal.

Elzinga and Volkers, the Holland construction firm which provided the engineering and design for the 24-foot long, 43-foot wide, 44-foot high machinery, said the operation provides the refinement necessary to satisfy the steel industry.

Company president C. E. Haltenhoff said that although the unit at Padnos is the first in the industry, it may provide the breakthrough for other iron and metal companies to follow suit.

"What used to be considered as unsightly is now considered a serious health hazard and the discarded auto hulks have been properly brought into focus on the ecological scene," he said.

Egypt has 34 million people.

Train Catches Fire On Express Run

LONDON (UPI) — Nearly 200 passengers jumped to safety Thursday when the electric locomotive of a London-to-Birmingham express train burst into flames while moving at about 90 miles per hour.

The engineer guided the train to a gentle stop, then leaped clear of the flames. No injuries were reported.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Denies Romance

LONDON (UPI)—A spokesman for Princess Margaret said today "as far as I know" there is no romance between Margaret's husband, Lord Snowdon, and pretty Lady Jacqueline Rufus Isaacs. Lady Jacqueline's mother, the Marchioness of Reading, denied the story as "absolutely ridiculous."

Both were commenting on a report printed in the New York Daily News saying friendship between Snowdon and Lady Jacqueline, who met at a movie party, "apparently blossomed into romance."

The Marchioness, wife of the Marquess of Reading, said "the rumor is so very horrible. It's quite mad of anyone to think of such a thing."

Maj. John Griffiths, press secretary to Princess Margaret, said "as far as I know there is no romance. Both the princess and Lord Snowdon know the whole family well."

Help Costly

NEW YORK (UPI)—The New York Stock Exchange estimates it will cost nearly $69 million to liquidate and give financial assistance to 15 member firms that have been crippled during the Wall Street crisis since 1968.

Exchange President Robert W. Haack, in a letter to members Thursday, also said the board of governors has approved amendments to incorporate the exchange which is now an association. He said the board has been developing incorporation plans for the past two years.

In Final Week?

LOS ANGELES (UPI) — The Tate-Labianca murder trial entered what was expected to be its final week tojay after seven long and stormy months.

Charles Manson's attorney, Irving Kanarek, assured the court he would conclude his final arguments by the end of the day. One other defense attorney was scheduled to give a summation.

90 Air Deaths

MOSCOW (UPI)—Ninety persons died New Year's Eve in Leningrad when a Soviet airliner's engines failed on takeoff, aviation sources said today.

The sources had reported the crash of the Ilyushin 18 of Aeroflot, the national airline, two days ago. At that time there was no information on the number of deaths. The Soviets seldom report air accidents, and they did not report this one in the public press.

Towel Cleared

TORONTO (UPI) — A surgical towel left in the body of a man during an operation did not lead to his death a week later, a coroner's jury ruled Thursday. But it recommended such towels no longer be used in surgery.

Wilfred English, 68, a retired customers inspector, died at Toronto General Hospital Nov. 22 a week after undergoing an emergency operation for a ruptured aneurysm on the aorta, the main artery leading from the heart to the legs.

An autopsy performed the day after his death showed an 18-by 30 inch towel had been left in English's body.

The jury did not attach any blame for the man's death to either the hospital or the surgeon who performed the operation. It ruled the major cause of death was shock caused by massive abdominal bleeding.

Nuclear Dust

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Radioactivity which leaked into the atmosphere from an underground nuclear test last month has been detected in 12 states and drifted as far as the Canadian border, a scientist said Thursday.

However, Dr. Melvin Carter, director of the Southwestern Radiological Health Laboratory, said the leakage was within the exposure limits established by the Federal Radiation Council and posed no danger to animals or man.

Carter told a news conference that radioactivity was detected Dec. 24 in snow at International Falls, Minn., near the Canadian border.

Phosphate Ban Gets Court Challenge

AKRON, Ohio (UPI)—The Soap and Detergent Association has filed suit against Akron's newly enacted ordinance banning the sale of detergents containing phosphates by June, 1972.

The association said its suit, filed Thrsday in Summit County common pleas court, means to challenge the law's "arbitrary deadlines to remove all phosphates."

To Eye Strike

DETROIT (UPI)—The United Auto Workers will decide Monday whether to strike Chrysler Corp. after rejecting the automaker's three-year contract offer.

The union, calling Thursday's offer "deficient", said the pact lacked a provision for retroactive pay for 120,000 salaried and hourly rated UAW workers in the United States and Canada.

The new offer, which would cost $1 billion in wages and fringe benefits, was virtually identical with the settlements the UAW won from General Motors Corp. after a 67-day strike and with the one it worked out with Ford Motor Co. without a strike.

Begins Sentence

MOSCOW (UPI)—Maj. Wolf Zalmanson began a 10-year sentence today for joining his family and friends in an abortive hijack plot.

The 31-year-old Jewish army officer was sentenced Thursday at the end of a three-day secret court martial in Leningrad, Jewish sources said. He was the last of a dozen defendants, most of them Jews, tried in the case.

All were accused of plotting to take over a small Antonov AN2 plane in Leningrad June 15 and flee in it to Sweden. There they hoped to obtain political asylum and emigrate to Israel.

The other 11 were civilians and were tried by a criminal court in Leningrad last month. Two of the 11 received death sentences.

Airline Probe

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A Senate subcommittee will hold hearings next month into the "deteriorating financial situation" of several major airlines.

The aviation subcommittee will start the hearings Feb. 2. Sen. Howard Cannon, D-Nev., said the subcommittee would study "rising costs, lagging traffic growth and severe operating losses" facing several air carriers, including Pan American, United and Trans World.

Reports from New York Thursday said Pan American would be forced by multimillion dollar losses to eliminate the jobs of 1,400 unionized workers and 5 to 10 per cent of nonunion employes this year.

Bunche Hospitalized In 'Fair' Condition

NEW YORK (UPI)—New York Hospital authorities today said United Nations Undersecretary Ralph Bunche, reportedly undergoing treatment for respiratory and eye ailments, was listed in "fair" condition and no visitors would be allowed to see him.

Hospital authorites said Bunche, 66, admitted last weekend, had been in "satisfactory" condition, but this had deteriorated to "fair." They would make no further comment on his condition nor would they discuss the nature of his illness.

State Water Plan Needs No New Dams

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —The California Water Project can produce enough water to meet the state's needs "for the next two decades" without new North Coast dams, the Reagan administration said today.

The California Water Commission was told the state has "a breathing spell" of a decade or more on water supply development from convention sources such as major dams and reservoirs."

The report was made by the state Water Resources Department after an exhaustive survey of the state's water needs.

In a flat statement the report said, "Development on the Klamath River has been excluded from consideration at this time." Gov. Ronald Reagan last spring refused to endorse construction of the Dos Rios Dam on the Eel River.

The forecast eased the fears of numerous conservation groups, including the Sierra Club, that dams would be built on the Klamath, Eel and Trinity rivers to harness billions of acre-feet of water for transportation to Southern California.

The administration also reported that it was "very close to balancing the books" in financing the vast State Water Project.

The state water resources department cautioned, however, that, "even if all our costs and revenues turn out exactly as now estimated," the margin between deficit and surplus as forecast was "too thin for comfort."

The optimistic report was made to the California Water Commission after the agency studied the project's progress and the status of its financing.

A blue-ribbon committee set up by Gov. Ronald Reagan in 1967 predicted that the state because of improper financing might experience a project fund deficit of $300 million by 1972 and $600 million by 1975.

Department Director William R. Gianelli told the commission that a number of austerity measures have been taken and as a result "we believe we are very close to balancing the books."

Gianelli added, "It is reasonable to expect that we will have adequate funds to complete the project facilities necessary by 1972 and 1975."

The "financial integrity" of the $3 billion project will be maintained, he said, with the delivery of water and power already under contracts.

State Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue.

Because of the recreation district's suit, however, the commission first may have to determine if the title to the holding has been clouded pending outcome of the suit. The commission could act on the application on condition that a permit be effective only after the suit is settled, and then only if Fleischman and Broman win the suit.

The three recreation district directors named in the suit were James K. Garner, Carl Schaefer and Arthur R. Senter. Broman's suit claimed that the district's suit was beyond their authority, and that they were acting on "their own desires and private purposes, and were engaged in their own private and capricious adventures, and those of other defendants."

Most of the other defendants are residents of Strawberry and the Tiburon peninsula.

Broman's suit noted that district directors previously signed an agreement with Fleischman acknowledging that Fleischman owned the property. The agreement was silent on the public rights later claimed by the district, according to Broman's suit.

The object of the defendants, Broman's suit declared, "was to prevent any improvement of the Fleischman property whatsoever by Broman or anyone else, and thereby keep the property unimproved."

He also charged that the defendants, "in furtherance of their common plan," had met both secretly and "under the 'front' or 'cover' of meetings of the aforementioned recreation board." The suit said that such board meetings "were used by some defendants as convenient pretexts for their own gatherings in pursuance of their private and wrongful plans."

Broman's 14-page suit claimed that the defendants "unjustly, maliciously and unlawfully combined to render worthless the ownership rights of Fleischman."

war borders "were neither permanent nor secure."

—No international or big power guarantees can substitute for "secure and agreed borders backed by a contractual peace."

—Jarring must not go beyond his original mandate, if the U.N. Security Council gave him a new mandate this "will be for the worse and not the better" and a new meeting of the Security Council on the Middle East "might add obstacles and not clear difficulties."

—Israel still wants direct talks with the Arabs. "The U.N. envoy can help progress towards an agreement but real peace can be reached only by means of direct negotiations."

Galili said Mrs. Meir and Eban were empowered to discuss with Jarring "all that is necessary for the progress of his mission." But he said they would have to put to the cabinet "every new subject or any matter requiring a new decision."

She was smiling when Jarring arrived on the dot of 3 p.m. (8 a.m. EST) at her official residence. They posed briefly for pictures and she said, "We are very, very happy to have Ambassador Jarring here. Everything looks fine, including the weather."

Israel was sweltering in a June in January heat wave which pushed temperatures up to 86 degrees as the talks began.

Egyptian suspicion of the talks mounted steadily. Cairo's government-supported Voice of the Arabs Radio joined the semiofficial newspaper Al Ahram in suggesting the United States was supporting Israel's demand for the Jarring talks so it could supply more arms to Israel.

The Radio also accused the United States of propaganda to justify its military aid to Israel. This came in a comment on reports from Washington that at least six Soviet ships carrying military equipment to Egypt and Syria had arrived during the past 10 days.

SOVIETS

to strengthen protection of Russian property here.

An official at the Russian Embassy said the explosion shook up one family—including a child—living in an apartment in the building. The building contains various kinds of offices including those of employes of the overcrowded Embassy, located on another street.

A few hours after the Washington blast, four blocks from the Soviet Embassy, a man telephoned UPI's New York office and said the bombing was the start of "a coordinated drive" against the Soviets that would spread to 22 American cities.

The callers did not specifically identfy themselves or who they represented.

The New York caller also concluded his message by saying: "Never again!"

While the New York caller spoke of further actions in 22 cities, Washington and New York are the only American cities where the Russians have any diplomatic or business personnel.

The United States expressed official regret to the Russians for the "senseless act of violence" and announced that "fixed" security posts were being set up immediately at all Soviet offices in Washington.

The U.S. apology was made by Richard T. Davies, deputy assistant secretary for European affairs, in a telephone call to the second ranking Soviet envoy in Washington, Minister Counselor Yuly M. Gorontsov.

The State Department said Davies expressed to Vorontsov "deep regret ... at the senseless act of violence perpetrated against the Eoviet commercial-information office this morning."

Davies told the Soviet official that until further notice, "fixed posts" would be mainlained at all Russian offices and that "every feasible effort was being made to find and arrest the perpetrators of this criminal act."

The Soviet Embassy has been the target recently of demonstrations by Jewish groups.

The demonstrations had been taking place periodically for some months but were greatly accelerated by the Leningrad trials and sentences of Russian Jews in connection with an airline hijacking plot.

In Moscow, meanwhile, a Pan American Airways official, Erastus Corning III of Boston and Albany, N.Y., told newsmen four Russian men had prevented him from entering his car in downtown Moscow for 15 minutes Thursday night and menaced him with such statements as "How would you like it if we beat you up right here on the spot?"

But they did not touch him, Corning, the son of Albany's mayor, said. His report was the second instance of verbal menacing by Russians of U.S. citizens, following that of an American diplomat who was grabbed by his lapels outside a theater Wednesday night.

Delegations of Soviet citizens continued to visit the U.S. embassy to hand in protest letters on the abuse of Russian officials and facilities in America. Four such groups visited by nightfall, making a total of 11 since Wednesday.

Some diplomatic sources said that although the State Department had been apprised of the sidewalk encounteres experienced by Corning and the embassy diplomat, they felt the situation should not be "exaggerated."

Corning, an official of the Moscow office of Pan American Airways, said he was menaced Thursday night by the four Russians in a parking lot alongside the Metropole Hotel.

"The men harangued me for about 15 minutes and without touching me they effectively prevented me from getting in my car," Corning said.

Corning said the four "asked me to do something about the situation for the Russians in the United States" and seemed particularly concerned about an incident where a bottle was thrown through the window of the Soviet U.N. legation into a room where a baby was sleeping.

Ceremony At Presidio For General

Maj. Gen. Stuart D. Menist of Kentfield will be presented the Army's Distinguished Service Medal at a Presidio parade ceremony tomorrow on his retirement as commander of the 91st Division.

General Menist has commanded the 91st, the Army's largest reserve training unit in California, since 1957 but has been associated with the division since World War II, when it was reorganized. The division's history dates to World War I as an outstanding combat infantry division.

More than 2,000 officers and enlisted men will take part in the 11 a.m. ceremony at the Presidio parade grounds. The general will be honored with a 13-gun salute.

In civilian life, Menist is executive vice president of the Firemen's Fund Insurance Co. He has held the position since 1969.

Menist graduated in economics from the University of California in 1934 and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Army Reserve.

He joined Fireman's Fund in 1937, but was called to active military duty at the outbreak of World War II.

He served as battalion and regimental commander in the Pacific and Far East theaters and was decorated with the Legion of Merit, the Bronze Star, the Army Commendation Medal with Oak Leaf Cluster and the Combat Infantry Badge.

Menist, a resident of Kentfield for eight years, rejoined Fireman's Fund in 1946 and in 1959 was elected vice president of the company's Pacific Operations.

He has served as director of the American National Red Cross of San Francisco, the San Francisco Chamber of Commerce and the San Francisco Rotary club.

He has a wife, Elizabeth, daughter, Stacey 4 and a son, Robert, an Army captain stationed at the Presidio.

Recovering After Crash

A Mill Valley woman, driver of a car in which a passenger was killed in a San Francisco accident Wednesday night, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Her passenger, John Durfee, 67, who had just arrived on a plane from Tulsa, Okla., died of injuries suffered in the collision at 6:50 p.m. on the Central Freeway.

California Highway Patrol officers said that Mrs. Wenner's car jumped a divider strip and crashed head-on into one driven by Henry Susskind, 66, of San Francisco. A third car, driven by Karen Bianchini, 26, of Piedmont, then hit Susskind's auto, officers said.

Susskind and his three passengers, Franny Bloch, 60, Milton Tick, 53, and Joanne Tick, 42, all of San Francisco, were reported in satisfactory condition today in San Francisco hospitals.

SPACE

Blayney, whose firm is in the process of concluding a study of housing needs in Palo Alot, said that open space and low and moderate cost housing sometimes conflict, because some open space is suitable for construction.

But, he said, "Open land on hillsides is too costly for construciton sites." The result is that only expensive houses are built in the hills.

Blayney said he did not think that the public good is served by lands classed as agricultural preserves; on the contrary, he said, the system is against public interest and should not be used.

The Land Conservation Act of 1965, which provides for agricultural preserves, grants landowners tax benefits in exchange for agreements not to develop the property for at least 10 years.

The planner said that $650,000 in taxes in Marin were excused last year for agricultural preserves, "and you're getting nothing for it. There isn't one acre of that land would have been developed even if it weren't in the preserve program."

Moreover, he said, the act lulls conservationists into thinking "they have a tool for open space preservation," when actually they are merely subsidizing land speculation by making it attractive for property owners to hold their land and sell when the price is right.

"Landowners," he said, "will sign up for the program only if they see financial advantages to themselves, which means a financial disadvantage to the community at large."

Burton told the audience that Mill Valley has pioneered in acquiring low and moderate income housing. It did so by requiring a developer to build low-cost units in a huge apartment project as a requirement for approval.

Unfortunately, he said, compromises between open space and low cost housing sometimes are necessary. "Just like we may have to fill a small part of the bay in order to get a bicycle path, so sometimes we must give up a little open land to get housing," he said.

All the panelists said they felt problems in Mill Valley and Southern Marin are related to the rest of the county and to the entire bay area. Blayney said Southern Marin should "look at a regional district aimed at specific solutions to specific problems."

Moderator Harvey E. Bragdon, former Mill Valley planning director and now a county planning official, summed up the discussion: "This meeting isn't going to get up open space and balanced housing. We've got to put the pressure where it belongs — on the elected officials who make the decisions."

He urged the audience to attend city and county budget sessions and "play the truth game — tell them we want money in the budget for these things. That's the only way we'll get them."

Extension Granted For PUC Exception

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — California's Public Utilities Commission Thursday granted 28 additional days for the filing of exceptions to proposed changes in its rules.

At the request of Charles E. Mattson, deputy Los Angeles attorney, the time for such filing was extended from Jan. 13 to Feb. 10.

Angela In Prayer At Jail

Angela Y. Davis joined in prayer today in Marin County Jail with Rev. Jesse Jackson of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, who said he is her spiritual adviser."

Rev. Jackson, who arrived at the jail in a chauffeur-driven limousine accompanied by other SCLC leaders from Chicago, complained he was only allowed to talk to Miss Davis for 20 minutes.

One of the purposes of his visit, he said, was to bring her greetings from several black leaders and entertainers who support her. These included, he said, Coretta King, Ralph Abernathy, Billie Eckstein, Harry Belafonte, Sidney Poitier and Bill Cosby.

Rev. Jackson, who came to Marin from Chicago, said that he had been concerned about Miss Davis's spirits but found them to be high. He went on to say he had described to her how many people such as St. Paul, Joan of Arc, Malcolm X and Martin Luther King "used their time in jail to derive meaning out of suffering."

The clergyman, who described himself as a Christian minister of all denominations, said that Miss Davis feels isolated in the jail and that she is concerned that "other political prisoners such as the Soledad brothers" are not receiving their share of the attention.

The minister also suggested that President Richard M. Nixon owes the 26-year-old black militant and avowed Communist an apology and that he should give her an audience for comments he made when she was arrested. "I think that would be a classic conversation — Angela and Nixon," he added.

He also said a nationwide effort to raise money for Miss Davis's defense would begin on her birthday, Jan. 26.

Nol that touched on the fuel crisis in Cambodia and the continued inability of Cambodian troops to reopen Highway 4, the route between Phnom Penh and the oil refinery port of Kompong Som.

"I'm delighted to be back here in Vietnam again and I'm looking forward to the meetings and discussions we're going to have over the next four days," Laird said on arrival.

The Pentagon chief appeared weary after three days of travel from Washington to Paris, where he conferred with the U.S. negotiating team at the Vietnam talks, and a stop in Bangkok where he met Thai officials and inspected the UK Tapao base.

Laird said there would be no new announcements of U.S. troop withdrawals from Vietnam during his stay here, but the subject of more reductions in U.S. manpower was a principal topic of his conferences.

The department predicted that exports would increase by 10 to 12 per cent this year compared with a growth of 15 per cent last year while imports will rise 12 to 14 per cent in 1971 compared to a 10 per cent advance in 1970.

Assemblyman Fears Russians At Trial

A California legislator has joined those who have protested a State Department invitation to 14 Russian scientists to attend the trial of Angela Y. Davis.

Assemblyman Ray E. Johnson, R-Chico, introduced a resolution to revoke the invitation, saying the Russians might "send their 12 best propagandists" and turn the trial into a circus.

A State Department official sent the invitation with the blessing of President Richard M. Nixon after the scientists had written asking that the President "safeguard" the life of Miss Davis.

Earlier, Marin County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, who is in charge of courtroom and press arrangements for the trial of Miss Davis if it is held in Marin County, had also protested to the State Department.

Maloney, like some of Miss Davis's supporters, feared that the Russians, interpreters and guards might take all the seats intended for the public in the 104-seat courtroom.

Miss Davis, 26-year-old former philosophy instructor and avowed communist, is accused of conspiracy, murder and kidnapping in connection with the Aug. 7 shoot-out in which Judge Harold J. Haley and three others died.

She is charged with having provided the guns and having helped plan the abortive kidnap-escape attempt.

At her arraignment Tuesday, she declared she was "innocent of all charges" and called the charges a frameup.

In asking that a "reasonable bail" be set for Miss Davis, her attorneys have called the evidence against her weak and termed the "state's case a sham."

The lawyers claim that the evidence presented to the grand jury was not sufficient to charge Miss Davis and that the case should be dismissed.

The record of testimony before Marin County Grand Jury which indicted her is still sealed and will remain so until at least next Friday. Miss Davis's attorneys have said it was all right with them to publish it immediately, but a court-appointed attorney for her codefendant, San Quentin inmate Ruchell Magee, asked that it remain sealed.

Miss Davis and the 31-year-old convict are due to return to court probably the first week in March with an out-of-county judge to hear the various motions in the case.

Police Link Idea Gets Cool Airing

Proposed consolidation of the Cotati and Rohnert Park police departments got a cool response from the Cotati City Council last night, but a final decision will await a report from City Mgr. Paul W. Salfen.

Four of the councilmen said they largely opposed the merger because they were satisfied with the performance of Cotati's four-man department.

They noted that cities share a dispatching service and already cooperate and assist each other in serious situations.

Councilman Herbert T. Winter spoke in favor of the consolidation, saying it may save the city money in the long run.

Salfen said a full report and recommendation would be made soon.

The Cotati City Council also:

SALARIES — Approved salary increases for salfen, $1,000 to $1,200 per month; patrolman Wayne Barkhousen, from $601 to $644; and maintenance man Charles Hill, $465 to $491.

HIRED — Hired Ronald Baxman and Stanley Hayes as maintenance men at salaries of $465 per month.

ANNEXATION — Requested a joint study session with the Rohnert Park City Council to discuss proposed annexation of 58 acres on East Cotati Avenue planned for future subdivisions by the Forhim Corp.

SEWERS — Received a request for water and sewer service for four properties on East Cotati Avenue and said all property owners in the area should be contacted for possible participation.

Resurfacing Work On California

Resurfacing work which began today on San Rafael's California Street between Fifth and Windsor avenues was expected to be completed by late this afternoon.

Norris M. Rawles, director of public works, said yesterday the California Street project and one which was to start either today or tomorrow on K Street are the last of a street maintenance project started in December.

On Wednesday and yesterday, Mission Avenue between B and H streets was shut down in sections so a new surface could be laid. Contractor for the project is Breslin-Dalecio of San Rafael.

The K Street project will run from Forbes Avenue to Humboldt Street and is expected to take only one day.

Rawles said after the K Street resurfacing is complete, work on other city streets will not begin until April or May.

Holiday Inns Motel Plan Abandoned

Holiday Inns has abandoned plans to build a 210-room motel in Mill Valley because of the tight money picture, but another motel might be built there just the same, an attorney for the firm said yesterday.

Rodric L. Robinson said the four-story motel development, including shops, offices, a service station, a small boat marina and a launch ramp, was to have been built on Shelter Bay just north of Sabella's Restaurant, but the worsening economy made the project "unfeasible at this time."

Also included in the now-abandoned plans was a 13,500-square-foot building containing a restaurant, bar, meeting rooms and a coffee shop. It was to have been built partly over the waters of Richardson Bay.

The motel chain had gained approval of the project from the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission but had run into opposition from the Mill Valley Planning Commission.

Robinson said the eight-acre bayside parcel, half land and half water, was "the most expensive site the company had ever considered," and that, coupled with the need for installation of pilings, walkways and floats, forced up the per-unit cost.

The attorney predicted, however, that another motel might be built on the property. "A related development may be going in there," he said, but declined to discuss specifics.

Chambers Plan Joint Sessions

The Rohnert Park Chamber of Commerce has agreed to join the Cotati Chamber of Commerce in sponsoring a merchants association to meet monthly.

At a meeting of Rohnert Chamber directors Wednesday, Ralph Jones and Stephen Jones of the Cotati chamber suggested the plan as a means of getting merchants together from both cities to discuss common problems. Merchants from Penngrove also have been invited to attend.

Meetings will be held the third Thursday of each month at noon at Chesney's Carriage House, Rohnert Park. Guest speaker at the Jan. 21 meeting will be Richard A. Van Gieson, Sonoma State College economics professor.

Boy, 6, Severely Burned In Car Fire

A Hamilton Air Force Base youngster was in "improved" condition at Letterman General Hospital in San Francisco today after being severely burned in a car fire Wednesday.

Erick Mashburn, 6, was able to get out of his hospital bed briefly, his doctor said. The boy is the son of Sgt. William F. Mashburn of 130 Randolph Drive.

The boy was burned when the family station wagon burst into flames at 12:34 p.m. Wednesday, while parked outside the Ted Schuman auto agency on Redwood Highway, according to Novato Fire Chief Jack Kidder.

The father was inside the agency discussing the purchase of a new car.

The Mashburn car "went up . . . poof," according to auto agency employee Louis Robinette. A customer, Steve Mena of Vallejo, saw the Mashburn boy's hand inside the smoke-filled wagon and pulled him out. Two other customers, Steven Davis and Louis Davis of Richmond, assisted.

Kidder said the fire's cause was under investigation.

Del Monte Lodge-Type Held Right For Marin

Resort centers of the type of Del Monte Lodge at Pebble Beach should be encouraged in Marin County to capture more overnight visitors, an official of Economic Research Associates of Los Angeles told members of the Economic Research Associates of Los Angeles told members of the City-County Planning Council last night.

Herbert Holley, vice president of ERA, presented a 110-page report on how to encourage overnight tourism in Marin. The planning council, meeting at Redwood High School, listed to the report and referred it to the council's tourism committee, headed by Carney J. Campion, manager of the Redwood Empire Association.

Holley recommended construction of 3,000 more resort hotel rooms in the county, with 75 per cent of them in West Marin along Tomales Bay south to Olema, and the remaining construction along San Rafael and Richardson bays.

He said the county could use 2,000 more boat slips, the bulk of these in San Rafael and Richardson bays.

Such tourism and recreation enhancement could generate 3,1000 more jobs and $2.3 million a year in tax revenues, said Holley.

Councilman Stephen Fraser of Sausalito, a council member, said however, he wants no part of Holley's program. "If it is implemented, please move it up north," said Fraser.

The next regular meeting of the planning council is scheduled for Feb. 4.

Children's Play To Be Given At High School

"The Cats and the Cockatoo," an original musical play for children by Shirley Bonbright of Ross and Joann Dunn of San Rafael, will be presented tomorrow at noon in the auditorium of San Rafael High School.

Presented by the Mosque Unit of the Junior Theater of Marin, the production features music by Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Mark Noble of Belvedere. Music director is Mrs. John Hoefer of Belvedere and 19 Marin women appear in the cast.

Two other performances at the high school tomorrow have been sold out, but tickets for the noon show will be sold at the door.

Additional performances are slated for Jan. 20 at 10:30 a.m. at Bolinas School and Jan. 22 at 10 a.m. at Marin Country Day School, 5221 Paradise Drive, Corte Madera.

Overdose Case

Hallie E. Boyd, 82, of 4221 Seventh Street, Petaluma, was reported in satisfactory condition today at Petaluma General Hospital after taking an overdose of sleeping pills. Police said Mrs. Boyd, found in her home yesterday, had been despondent because of poor health.

2nd Knifing Escape At Prison

One San Quentin inmate was stabbed and another escaped yesterday, less than 24 hours after a third inmate was fatally knifed in the prison.

Associate Warden James W. L. Parks aid today there was no evidence linking any of the three episodes, though there were rumors all three convicts had been involved in narcotics dealings.

The escaper was Ronald L. Krueger, 28, of Los Angeles. He was a prison electrician who was allowed to drive a maintenance truck outside the prison walls. He was reported missing at the 4:30 p.m. check, and was last seen at 3 p.m., Park said.

Inmate Leon Gilbert, 28, was found with a knife in his back at 1:40 p.m. yesterday alongside the east cell block. Park reported a 10-inch, prison-made knife was deflected by Gilbert's shoulder blades into his rib cage, and his condition was reported good in the prison hospital today.

Gilbert, a research clerk in the pre-release unit, was away from his office when attacked by an unidentified assailant. He had been sentenced to five years to life on four counts of robbery in Orange, San Diego and San Bernardino counties in October 1968, Park said.

The escaper, Krueger, was sentenced in July 1967 on a Los Angeles County conviction of receiving stolen goods. He was transferred to San Quentin last February after having trouble in a conservation camp, Park said.

The inmate fatally stabbed Wednesday was Harvey C. Fortner, 30, of San Pablo.

U.S. Team Will Visit South Pole

WASHINGTON (UPI) —The State Department plans to send a six-man inspection team to the South Pole Jan. 16 to tour international research stations, including some operated by the Soviet Union.

Officials said the tour was planned to prevent the inspection provisions of the International Antarctic Treaty from lapsing. Previous U.S. inspections were made in 1964 and 1967.

FDA Finds Most Tuna Untainted

WASHINGTON (UPI) The Food and Drug Administration says most canned tuna is free of excess mercury, but all swordfish may disappear from the market because of a high concentration of the poisonous liquid metal.

The FDA said tests on half the nation's entire stock of canned tuna found that less than 2 per cent contained mercury in excess of the safety limit of 0.5 parts per million.

But that limit was exceeded in 89 per cent of the swordfish tested.

The FDA Thursday announced a recall of 1.2 million cans of tuna in addition to the 1 million cans recalled last month. Initial tests of tuna in December found excessive mercury in 23 per cent of the samples, but this included a much smaller sample than the results announced Thursday, and the tests concentrated on lots suspected of containing the substance.

Virgil O. Wodicka, director of the FDA's Bureau of Foods, said when tests of the entire tuna crop are completed next week he expected excess mercury to be found in about 10 per cent. The higher final figure is expected because the remaining tuna to be tested is of the larger varieties, which are more subject to contamination than the smaller tuna.

He said FDA regulations were keeping tainted swordfish off the market.

The FDA said other foods had been tested and found to be free of excess mercury, including milk, eggs, poultry, flour, beef liver, shrimp, fruits and vegetables.

Five GIs Killed In Ambush

SAIGON (UPI)—The U.S. Command said today a Communist unit overran an American paratrooper patrol and killed five of its members in a clash that produced the heaviest U.S. casualties of the new year.

Military sources said the reconnaissance patrol of the U.S. 173rd Airborne Brigade apparently was ambushed in rice paddy country 295 miles northeast of Saigon Thursday.

Another airborne unit found the bodies of the slain GIs after clashing with a larger Communist force. They said radio contact with the first group was lost suddenly some hours earlier.

The fighting broke out 16 miles south of Bong Son in the coastal plain. Helicopter gunships were called and two platoons of paratroops were brought in by helicopter after loss of radio communication.

Military spokesmen declined to say how large the ambushed patrol was but said there apparently were some survivors. There was no report on Communist casualties.

It was the heaviest American casualties since Dec. 31 when five American sailors were killed in an ambush of their boat on a canal deep in the Mekong Delta.

Binh Dinh province, scene of the fighting, has been a Communist stronghold for years and many Viet Cong pockets there have provided stubborn resistance to Allied pacification efforts.

Monsoon Rains

KUANTAN, Malaysia (UPI) —Monsoon rains today again drenched the flood-stricken east coast of western Malaysia where as many as 300,000 persons are homeless. The government said the flood had taken 48 lives.

Novato Police Urge Community Support

Novato Police Chief Allen V. Klemme, citing $152,645 in property loss due to crime last year, asked yesterday for community support in crime prevention at a Novato Chamber of Commerce luncheon.

"We're trying to maintain a force on the streets, but we need public support," he said. "Not one neighbor has called to report a suspicious circumstance."

He suggested that residents show their support of police work by "becoming involved — and notifying police when they see or hear something suspicious."

He said the $152,645 loss resulted from burglaries, robberies, auto thefts, petty thefts and bad checks.

During the year there were arrests of 719 juveniles and 655 adults, he reported.

The department also issued 4,000 citations for various offenses during the year, he said.

There were 125 business establishments and 165 homes burglarized during the year, the chief said.

Reinstatement Hearing Set For Petaluma Officer

A hearing has been set for Jan. 25 in Sonoma County Superior Court on a suit filed by former Petaluma policeman Robert Blagborne seeking reinstatement.

The hearing will be before Judge Kenneth M. Eymann at 9:45 a.m. Blagborne has contended he was illegally fired from the department because of his activities during wage negotiations last year. In addition to reinstatement, Blagborne is seeking back pay since his Dec. 10 dismissal.

Blagborne was fired after a 15-month probationary period. Defendants in the suit are the City of Petaluma, the city council, City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer and Police Chief Larry D. Higgins.

The city is expected to contend that Blagborne's activities in the negotiations that nearly led to a strike were not the basis for dismissal, but that he was fired because he had failed to meet departmental standards despite a lengthened probationary period.

Tape Deck Taken

Leftists Threaten Nerve Gas Move

NAHA, Okinawa (UPI)—The U.S. military today pushed ahead plans to ship 150 tons of mustard gas Monday while leftwing Okinawan groups threatened to forcibly disrupt shipment.

Chief executive Chobyo Yara Thursday announced backing for American plan to move gas by two convoys Monday morning through the seven-mile route from Chibana storage area to a waiting ship at Tengan pier.

Rubella Shots Can Still Be Had

Rubella make-up clinics will continue next week for children who missed the vaccination program November and December.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht, county health officer announced the following make-up schedule for next week:

Wednesday — 4 to 7 p.m. at 920 Grand Avenue, San Rafael.

Friday — 4 to 7 p.m. at Corte Madera Recreation Center.

The clinics, an extension of the earlier program, are for children 1 through 11, said Dr. Albrecht. "No fee will be charged, but donations of up to $1 to the Marin Medical Society Rubella Fund would be appreciated from any parents who have not already made a contribution through the schools."

The mass vaccination campaign is aimed at preventing an epidemic of rubella (German measles), which has potentially harmful effects on unborn infants.

Clark Fails To Appear On Charge

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A bench warrant was issued yesterday for the arrest of Wayne M. Clark of San Rafael after he failed to appear for arraignment on charges stemming from a post-game scuffle among spectators at Kezar Stadium Sunday.

Clark, 27, was to appear before Judge Joseph G. Kennedy of the San Francisco Municipal Court.

Clark could not be reached today, but his wife said he had been in Monterey and did not learn of his scheduled appearance until it was too late. Arraignment had originally been set for Tuesday, but was continued to yesterday.

Clark and attorney Thomas H. Thorner of Kentfield were arrested along with 18 others after the Kezar Fray.

Thorner, 38, a former candidate for Marin Municipal Court judge, was arraigned Monday on charges of inciting to riot, disturbing the peace and interfering with a police officer. He is to plead Monday.

Closed Session On School Salary

The Tamalpais High School District board will hold a closed session Monday at 8 p.m. in the district office with its contract negotiating team.

Shift To Marin In 6th Predicted

Marin probably will replace San Francisco as the dominant county in the Sixth Congressional District, Rep. William S. Mailliard predicted yesterday.

Mailliard, whose Sixth District was last reapportioned by the Legislature under court orders in 1967, said that the reapportionment this year "logically" would shift more of his district into Marin.

But he acknowledged "there is a lot of politics in reapportionment, and I recognize there'll be a lot of political trading."

Mailliard, whose pre-1967 district was entirely within San Francisco, said that San Francisco's other congressional district will need to take a good share of the San Francisco portion of his district to meet the one-man, one-vote requirement. The other district, the fifth, is represented by Phillip Burton.

Mailliard, speaking on radio station KTIM's "Sounding Board" program, said that his district in turn probably would pick up part of North Marin now in the First District of Rep. Don H. Clausen.

Questioned about President Richard M. Nixon's criticism of the 91st Congress, Mailliard said that the President was aiming his remarks mostly at the Senate. It was the upper house, Mailliard said, that bottled up most of the administration's proposals.

He conceded that it was a "pretty poor way of running things" for Congress to have waited until half way through the fiscal year to pass the budget.

Mailliard said he would reintroduce in the next session a measure to create a Golden Gate National Recreation Area out of surplus federal holdings on both sides of the gate, and would push for minor expansion of Muir Woods National Monument to provide for parking and concession facilities that now are "crowding the grove."

Mailliard discounted new rumors that Hamilton Air Force Base may be closed soon, though he added its closing always was a possibility.

Asked to comment on Marin County voters' approval of a measure in November asking complete withdrawal of all U.S. forces from Southeast Asia by July, Mailliard said all combat ground troops probably will be removed by then — but he strongly disagreed with setting a deadline on removal of all forces from the area.

He said he favored total withdrawal as "an objective, but not on a deadline."

The program, moderated by Kitty Oppenheimer, will be rebroadcast at 10:05 a.m. Sunday.

Guilty Plea In Car Theft

George Edward Myers, 23, of no known address, has pleaded guilty in Marin Superior Court to a charge of car theft. He had earlier pleaded innocent.

Sentencing was set for Jan. 26.

Myers was arrested Oct. 29 after a high-speed chase through downtown San Rafael after being seen driving without car lights. The car had been reported stolen from a San Anselmo man.

Schapiro Named To Federal Grand Jury

Max Schapiro, 16 Pacheco Street, San Rafael, has been named to the New federal grand jury for the Northern California district.

Elmer E. Strand of Burlingame and Madeline J. Sheehan of Oakland were selected foreman and deputy foreman of the 23-member jury.

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Baxter Labs For Growth Accounts

By Roger E. Spear

Q. We bought 100 shares of Baxter Labs at 32. Someone has advised that we buy more to average down. Do you agree? — L.K.

A. Yes. This leading producer of intravenous feeding solutions and medical specialty products has established itself as a true growth situation, having maintained an excellent record of sales and earnings gains since 1954. Despite inflated costs and the general economic slowdown, it appears that 1970 may be Baxter's fifteenth year of rising sales and earnings.

Record earnings of $10 million, or 37 cents a share, were posted for the first nine months of 1970, an 11 per cent increase over 1969's results. Sales rose 15 per cent year-to-year, to $134 million. A vital factor in Baxter's good growth performance has been the wide array of new products and marketing programs which the company has and is bringing into the field.

Continued gains are projected for Baxter, with an approximate 20 per cent earnings advance forecast for 1971. Product price hikes together with the healthy growth of disposable biomedical devices and medical solutions enhance the longer-range outlook. Use periods of weakness to add to shares.

Q. We have $20,000 which we wish to invest for maximum income. We must maintain the principal while the children are young as my husband is no longer insurable. What investment would you advise? — J.J.

A. High grade corporate bonds can be purchased with varying maturities from one up to 40 years, and, in your case, the maturity date would depend in part on the ages of your children. Maximum yield with a low risk factor can be obtained in AA or A-rated utility bonds with 25 to 35 year maturities.

In the 15-20 year category, yields to maturity are around 7 to 7½ per cent, about one per cent below the longer term bonds. Suggested issues include Boston Edison 4 5/8s of 1987, Union Electric 4 3/4s of 1991 and General Telephone of California 5s of 1987. These three issues are selling well below face value for current yield of 6.3 per cent.

NEW STORE FOR OLD FIRM

National Parts Co., on Lincoln Avenue, San Rafael since 1936, has occupied this new store at 55 Vivian Way designed by Hageman-Thomas-Eklund and constructed by builder Al Villa. The automobile parts and accessories firm first opened at 910 Lincoln Avenue and has been located for the past 25 years at 809 Lincoln Avenue.

Construction Cost To Go Up, Builders Say

WASHINGTON (UPI) — Inflationary labor wage settlement and increased materials costs will cause a sharp increase in construction prices, the Association of General Contractors of America said.

The AGC said projected new construction dollar volume for 1971 is $98.2 billion, up 7 per cent from 1970, but that actual physical volume put-in-place will increase little if any because of the increase in prices.

The AGC said a national survey it conducted indicated that stronger dollar gains will be made in residential construction which will increase 16 per cent to $32.7 billion, followed by utility and water suppoy construction which should increase 15 per cent to $9.2 billion.

Total building construction, the AGC said, including residential building, will increase 4 per cent to $65.6 billion. Heavy construction dollar volume will be up 4 per cent to about $13.2 billion and highway construction will be up slightly to a little more than $10 billion, the AGC said.

New Location For Bank Branch

Sierra National Bank will move its Corte Madera office from 5587 Paradise Drive this weekend and open for business Monday morning at 56 Corte Madera Shopping Center.

The office has been located on Paradise Drive since its opening about four years ago. Appointed manager at the new location is Wayne Polvado of Santa Rosa, who has been at the Greenbrae office.

FTC Hits Firm's Beauty Cream

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The government has claimed that a certain jar of beauty cream was not all it was crocked up to be.

The Federal Trade Commission took issue with "Irma Shorell Countour/35," which costs $27.50 a jar and is sold at such leading stores as Saks Fifth Avenue, Neiman-Marcus and Marshall Field. It is produced by Irma Shorell, Inc., New York.

The company had claimed that skin-restoring cream is equivalent and may be used instead of surgical face lifting, and will have a permanent or lasting effect.

Following the FTC complaint, the company promised to desist from such claims. "It's just a matter of changing phraseology and switching a few words here and there," a company spokesman said.

Dow Jones Off After Big Week

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stocks closed mixed in moderately active trading today.

The Dow Jones industrial average was off 0.75 at 837.08 near the final bell. Standard & Poor's 500 stock index showed a loss of 0.22 at 92.16. But of the 1,672 issues crossing the tape, advances edged declines, 713 to 689.

A volume of around 14,000,000 shares was down from 16,460,000 shares traded Thursday.

Closing prices included: Am T&T 50 5-8 up 1-8; Beth St 23 1-8 up 1-8; Chrysler 25 3-4 off 1 1-8; Dupont 134 3-4 off 1-4; Ford 55 up 1-4; Gen El 93 5-8 off 1-4; Gen Motors 78 3-8 off 3-4; and IBM 314 1-2 off 1 3-4.

The news background was mixed, but demand for stocks generally appeared to be restrained by profit taking following some sizeable market advances in the middle of the week, which had been attributed to President Nixon's encouraging statements on the outlook for the economy and a new wave of reductions on interest rates.

Late Thursday, the Federal Reserve Board (FED), which fixes the nation's credit policy, announced the third cut in less than two months in the interest rate it charges for loans to commercial banks. The move brought the rate to 5 1-4 per cent from 5 1-2 per cent.

The FED said "the move was in recognition of further declines that have taken place in short-term interest rates."

DINING OUT AND INNS

One restaurant that for me seems to have an appeal that is most difficult to resist is San Rafael Joes.

Actually part of its attraction is based on something that goes back many more years than Joe's has been in business. As a boy I recall going with my family on numerous occasions to the old Saddle Rock Grill on downtown Broadway in Oakland. I am convinced that if it were in existence today it could very well be called Saddle Rock Joe's or some such, so strongly has my mind built up this association.

In the period before and during World War I and during some of the immediate years following, it was an Oakland landmark and had the same quality that Joe's has of being an "everybody's restaurant." It also attracted noteworthies of the day. Some I remember seeing were stage stars Jimmie Gleason and his mother (Jimmie later became a well known character actor in motion pictures) and J. Anthony Smythe (later to head the cast of radio's One Man's Family). And there, too, though I never saw him, came Jack London as a frequent visitor always with a stock of books under his arm, according to my dad, who seemed to know all of them by their first names. Apparently the famed novelist did not spend all his spare time in Oakland's waterfront square which now bears his name.

While I don't remember ever seeing a famous stage or movie star or writer at San Rafael Joe's, yet it is the type of place they would visit. It has some of those same qualities for its habitues that Damon Runyon found at Lindy's. It lives and breathes with its people, who do not go there to be seen but to enjoy it for what it is.

Joe's has other attractions, of course — the food and personal charm of the Rubinis and Farinas who own it — and for many the fine playing of Larry Vannucci, known as "the organists' organist."

For me these are frosting on the cake. In some way they are all part of the symbolism of that spot in my memories that was the old Saddle Rock Grill in Oakland.

THE HSIN HSIN RESTAURANT at 1559 Fourth Street, San Rafael is now serving a daily merchants lunch from 95 cents to $1.50 in addition to its regular Chinese menu.

Chinese family dinners are $2.50 per person. This restaurant is well attended and advance reservations are recommended. Closed Monday.

CAFE AMBROSIA, new venture of George, Bonnie and Angelo Loizos at 112 Spaulding Avenue, San Anselmo, has received its on sale wine and beer license which had been a little delayed.

Specialities here are Mediterranean food. Cafe Ambrosia is also retailing the wines of Fred Cherry, who formerly had his Cafe Bon Vin and Wine Discovery Shop here.

ANGELO AND VERA CAMPOREALE, who used to prepare the food at Anjo's at 535 Fourth Street, San Rafael, are back from New York and are living in Petaluma, I am told.

Food has not been served at Anjo's for some time, though Joe Scotto opens the bar daily at 3 p.m. He still keeps the name of Anjo's and has converted the dining room into a cocktail lounge. Guitarist Sal Sage provides entertainment Tuesday through Saturday nights.

MARIE'S PUEBLO, Marin County's oldest Mexican restaurant, now has a license for both wines and beers.

PIZZA PARLORS have been on the increase in Marin as elsewhere. There's one planned now for 7079 Redwood Highway, Novato - the Straw Hat Pizza Parlor. An application has been made for a wine and beer license, but the opening is still several months away. Straw Hat (a division of Saga Foods) has about 100 outlets in the West.

EITHER ONE of the Pizza Huts planned for Machin and Novato Avenue, Novato and 810 Sir Francis Drake Boulevard, San Anselmo may open earlier. Michaels Construction Co. will build them.

NOW ON THE LUNCH MENU at Bill and Adolph's West End Villa, San Rafael: Veal fricadelles. The name doesn't indicate it, but this is a dish of Danish origin.

THE MARSHALL HOTEL at the coast is featuring Dixieland jazz by the five-piece Bay City Jazz Band for the next four Sundays through January. Concerts are from 3 to 7 p.m. and there will be dancing.

The band is led by Ev Farey, cornetist, who has been with Turk Murphy at various times over the past 15 years. With him are Bob Helm on clarinet, Lee Valencia on banjo, pianist Ray Skjelbred and Bill Carroll ontrombone. Beer, wine and other refreshments are available.

THE LION'S SHARE in San Anselmo has two entertainment billings for tonight and tomorrow night - Barry McGuire and the Doctor and Juarez.

Two more are down for Sunday — Big Mama Thornton and the Chico David Blues Band.

CHAMPAGNE DRINKING among Americans is increasing.

California sparkling wine shipment totalled about eight million gallons for 1969, but the first 10 months of 1970 topped the 10-million mark for the first time in history - almost 63 per cent more than during the first 10 months of 1969.

All table wines, in fact, are now outstripping dessert wines in volume. In the relatively few years since prohibition was repealed, wine is being used with greater frequency with meals in the home and restaurants.

TIBURON ARCHITECT M. Arthur Gensler Jr. designed the new English pub Thomas Lord's, which recently opened on Union Street, San Francisco. He managed someway to blend the decor with its surroundings and also make it reminiscent of London and New York pubs that have been serving fine foods and potable spirits for as long as 100 years.

It is owned by Peter Lee, Robert Freeman and Richard Bradley, who also own the Victoria Station Restaurant in San Francisco.

Menu includes a potted vegetable salad, hot and cold sandwiches, steak and kidney pie, Oxford stew, bangers and mash and Cambridge barbecued ribs. Aside from cocktails, only imported English beer is served. Food is served continuously from 11 a.m. to 1 a.m. daily.

Priest To Spend His House Salary On His District

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Rep. Robert F. Drinan, D-Mass., has answered some questions about how he will go about being the first Roman Catholic priest ever elected a voting member of Congress.

—He will continue to wear his clerical attire since "It's the only clothes I have. I haven't bought any others."

—He will live in the Jesuit community in Georgetown University and spend his $42,500 congressional salary, except for living expenses, on services for his district.

—He has no preference about being called "Father Drinan" or "Congressman Drinan" —"I don't mind what they call me, as long as they call me."

Rita Taxed By Hundreds Of Callers

GREENSBORO, N.C. (UPI) — Rita Ann Galyean is probably the only 17-year-old high school junior in the United States whose telephone bill is paid by the Internal Revenue Service.

The embarrassed IRS volunteered to pay Rita's phone bill for an entire year last week after temporarily flooding her with calls from across the nation from people seeking tax information.

Rita's number was printed by mistake on one million income tax booklets distributed in the United States as that of the IRS center here.

Rita's telephone began ringing more than usual on Dec. 18 with taxpayers seeking information. By the first of the year, she was getting several hundred calls a day from across the nation.

"It's fun," said the brownhaired, dark-eyed girl before the IRS representative visited her and apologized. She said her boy friend "thinks it's funny-real hilarious.'

The fun ended quickly, and Rita's telephone rang less often after the IRS made arrangements with the telephone company to enable persons dialing the number listed in the booklets to reach a special operator who asks whether the caller is trying to reach the IRS or Rita.

Thief Likes Tiffany Lamps

One was stolen Wednesday from the living room of a Portland home, police said, and a similar lamp was taken from a Falmouth house earlier this week. In both instances, nothing else was missing.

Here's Campaign You Can Join: Free John Citizen

We've had "free Huey Newton "free the Chicago Seven," and "free the Soledad Brothers." Now we have "free Angela Davis."

All of these "free" campaigns have made a lot of noise, but none of them has attracted really widespread support. All have asked for freedom for persons accused of crimes — regardless of the evidence.

We propose a "free" campaign that should attract support from the great mass of Americans. It's in behalf of someone accused of no crime except working while others shirk, saving while other spend, voting while others demonstrate.

Free John Citizen!

FREE HIM from having to support, through his taxes, those who don't want to support themselves.

Free him from having to pay, through his taxes, for the wasteful prodigality of elected officials and appointed bureaucrats.

Free him from having to furnish for other services and amenities he cannot afford for himself.

Free him from the fear that haunts him when his wife and children have to go into the streets at night, that forces him to lock his doors in what used to be a safe, pleasant neighborhood.

Free him from the subjection of himself, his wife and children to the daily insults of obscenity and pornography in the mails, on the airwaves, in public places.

Free him from being gouged by manufacturers, merchants and service men, coerced by union bosses, harassed by the very public servants he employs.

IT REQUIRES no revolution to free John Citizen.

It requires merely those changes in laws that would restore them to the purposes for which they were intended, correcting the distortions that have made them serve the selfish purposes of pressure groups.

It requires merely that the laws be enforced and administered to protect society, not to provide a game of skill for those licensed for legal practice, and that those pledged to enforce the laws remember that their obligation is to society as a whole, not any special segment of it.

It requires merely that those in positions of power exercise the same careful husbandry of the taxpayers' dollars that they would if those dollars had to be earned by their own labor.

It requires merely that each of us — in office or out, in public or private employment, in business or unions — treat each other with the consideration we would like in return.

It requires merely that integrity and decency be recognized for what they are: the cardinal, necessary supports for an orderly, livable society — without which such a society cannot exist.

IT REQUIRES common sense, common decency, common effort.

Without these things, John Citizen cannot be free. With them, there is no place for bombs or bombast, riots or revolution.

Free John Citizen!

Thoreau On Sparrows

"God did not make the world in jest; no, nor in indifference. These migratory sparrows all bear messages that concern my life. . .I see that the sparrow cheeps and flits and sings adequately to the great design of the universe; that man does not communicate with it, understand its language because he is not at one with nature. I reproach myself because I have regarded with indifference the passage of the birds."

Here, in Marin, we might well take heed of these words by the mystic wayfarer of Walden Pond. We have several varieties of sparrows that are winter visitors. We have no doubt that future generations will regard us as ignorant for neglecting the empathetic study of these migrants.

Bigger Tax Bite Now Certain, With Welfare Drawing Blame

By HENRY C. MacARTHUR

SACRAMENTO — (CNS) — Sometimes it appears redundant to talk so much about increased taxes, but there is no better method of making the fact known, loud and clear, that 1971 is going to be the year of another big increase in the state government's "take."

Even in the fanfare of inaugural activities, the new leaders of the legislature made it quite apparent their aim would be to cost the taxpayers more money this year.

Despite the aversion of Gov. Ronald Reagan to assessing increased taxes, the Democrats in Senate and Assembly have declared this is the only "out" to solve the immediate fiscal situation.

SEN. JAMES R. MILLS, D-San Diego, the newly elected president pro tempore of the Senate, says a tax raise is inevitable, while Assemblyman Bob Moretti, D-Los Angeles, says he knows no way for the governor to go, except to ask for new taxes.

The people of the state do not yet know how the cloth will be cut, but do know it will be in one way or another. So the battle will be on to see who bears the brunt of the ever-growing burden of taxation.

Who it will be — the common people who even now have trouble making ends meet; the wealthy, who have grown wealthy in the process of despoiling the poor, or the big corporations, who some claim do not now and never have paid their share of the tax burden — depends on the legislative activities of the next few months.

THE BETTING around the capitol on the winner of this undesirable race is that the common people will come in first by several lengths.

The reason for the heavy odds on Mr. Average Taxpayer first is precedent. The people have always been the fall guys.

More odds are on the people because of the fact the wealthy and the corporate enterprises have sufficient lobbying interests at work to protect them in the clinches. And the tax battle is going to be a real clinch this year.

OF COURSE, the politicians are confronted with the task of finding a patsy to take the blame for the prospective tax increase, which won't hurt any of them individually very much as 1971 is an off-election year. If the governor and the legislature can manage to hold down the increases to something within reason, they will be forgotten come the 1972 elections.

The patsy wasn't hard to find this year. It is called welfare. And the reason it's throwing the state off its fiscal course is that it has progressed over and beyond its original purpose. Under welfare, the government is attempting to support a small army of non-producers at the expense of the taxpayers who earn a legitimate living.

But there is one thing certain in the potpourri of words and argument that will take place in the next few months — taxes will increase.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

Banker August Belmont, no spendthrift he, once admitted that he paid his secretary more than double the going wage. "She's invaluable," he explained. "She speaks three languages fluently besides English — and knows how to shut up in all four of them."

KID STUFF:

1. Claudette: "I just flew in from Paris."

Marie: "My! Your arms must be tired."

2. "Casper, have you given the goldfish fresh water today?"

"No need to, mom. They haven't finished what I gave them yesterday."

BY NO MEANS NEUTRAL

New Breed Of Scientists Challenge Objective Ideal

By ERNEST B. FURGURSON

WASHINGTON — We have just survived a decade of war and assassinations, moon landings and massacre. It also was the first decade of the Age of the New Math. Now the products of schools where 2 x 2 no longer equals 4 are beginning to emerge from college into manhood and the professions, and predictably the results are scary.

Not because the young teachers and would-be leaders cannot add up a column of figures without a computer. That in itself is as immaterial as whether an aspiring politician has ever met a payroll. But the apparent illogic of the New Math symbolizes something broader.

What is unsettling is that in the past decade we have lost not only world leaders and romantic myths about the moon but also another few degrees of respect for a quality that gave each field of intellectual work a constant reference, like the North Star or the old-fashioned proposition that 2 x 2 does equal 4.

That is the concept of objectivity, in math, history, science, journalism and elsewhere.

IT HAS BEEN under attack for years, and of course the first sally against it always is that there is no such a thing as objectivity because every man is the prisoner of his own experience. Beyond that comes the contention that to be objective is to be neuter — that man is not a machine, and for his work to be a worthwhile human product it must reflect his own particular background.

Truisms all, all true. If historians stuck to dates and documents, American history would not have been enriched by Frederick Jackson Turner's idea of the receding frontier as the principal influence on our life and growth; if Albert Einstein had stuck to simple trigonometry, he would not have dared his theory of relativity; if Henry Mencken's ambition had been to be the most accurate wire service reporter living, we thousands would never have been inspired by his "Prejudices."

But none of those truisms adequately refutes the ideal of objectivity. Even if all the points cited against it are accepted, it remains the proper starting point for scholarship and reporting, the standard for production of that basic material around which opinions and theories are then validly developed. And that applies not only to the product, but to the producer: A man cannot qualify as theorist or interpreter before he is master of the unadorned raw material of research, portage.

ALL THIS STRUGGLES to mind now because in field after field young people are bringing their habits of thought and behavior from the New Math classroom and the streets where they demonstrate to challenge their elders in the professions. They demand to substitute their inexperience for experience and themselves for men already proven.

The radicals' complaint was that Seaborg was guilty of "the crime of science against the people," that research in technology was going into weaponry and research in industry was contributing to pollution. Reasonable complaints, perhaps, but paraphrased much more effectively by Stewart Udall, the former secretary of the interior, in a strong and orderly speech at the same convention.

At Boston, without knitting needles or disruptions, younger, more radical historians enlivened the American Historical Association convention by challenging the traditional views of the long-established Harvard professor, Oscar Handlin. Handlin's position, provocative to them, was that historians amid internal division and external racket had allowed their trade to "slip into the hands of propagandists, politicians, dramatists, novelists, journalists and social engineers."

THIS IS THE antithesis of the beliefs of the new breed of historians and scientists (and journalists) who conceive the very purpose of their work to be social engineering.

It is a struggle taking place in universities and academic conventions and somewhat less publicly in the newsrooms of the larger newspapers all across the country. It is one in which the young men who challenge the North Star as readily as their fathers' arithmetic do have a point, but in which they cannot be allowed to prevail, for the result would be to turn the whole body of our future learning into so many columns of propaganda.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

Jan. 8, 1961

President Charles de Gaulle's plan for limited self-government for Algeria, to be followed by self-determination when the Algerian nationalist rebellion ended, won 54 per cent approval in a three-day worldwide French referendum.

20 YEARS AGO

Thomas F. Keating was installed as judge of Marin Superior Court, succeeding Judge Edward I. Butler, who retired at the end of his term after 31 years on the bench.

Allied forces yielded the ruins of Wonju, 55 miles south of Seoul, to Chinese and North Korean forces.

THE DRUMMONDS

By ROSCOE AND GEOFFREY DRUMMOND

He now knows that harsh partisanship made little appeal to the voters.

And he has concluded that another year of unproductive, partisan fighting between himself and a Democratic Congress will be hurtful to the nation and perilous to his re-election.

This is why Nixon has decided to change tactics in midterm. He began to make this change apparent in his recent TV conversation with network correspondents.

This is a good beginning and there is reason to expect that the President's olive branch will be reflected in his State of the Union message Jan. 22.

BUT WILL the new Democratic Congress respond in kind after putting on such a sorry performance last year?

The unanswered question is:

Will the liberal-oriented, election-minded, presidential candidate-packed Senate do its part to limit the excesses of partisanship and join with Mr. Nixon to do the urgently needed things?

The answer will come early in the new session.

IF THE PRESIDENT proves his own good faith in a firm determination to forego the excesses of partisanship, there is a fair chance that the Senate Democratic leaders will draw the same lesson he has — that it is better politics to get on with the job of governing than to play politics instead of governing.

It will not be easy for the Senate Democrats to match Mr. Nixon's offer of co-operation. The reason is that all of the Democratic presidential hopefuls are senators, and there are so many of them — at least nine now — competing for visibility and favor. They are nearly as suspicious of each other as they are of the President.

Each of them — Ed Muskie, Ted Kennedy, Hubert Humphrey, George McGovern, Henry Jackson, Harold Hughes, Birch Bayh, Fred Harris, William Proxmire — wants to get his name on popular legislation, and some would rather defeat a Nixon proposal than to have the President get credit for it.

NEVER HAVE there been so many presidential chefs busy in the senatorial kitchen. The outlook for co-operation is very uncertain unless they conclude that continuing the mess which the Democratic Senate made of itself last year will do much to defeat whomever wins the 1972 nomination.

They will avoid this mistake if they follow the best of their own past.

Under the leadership of Sen. Lyndon Johnson and Sam Rayburn, Democratic congresses gave President Eisenhower constructive bipartisan support — and they didn't lose by it. They won the presidency in 1960 in part because Kennedy could run on a positive Democratic congressional record.

They will need such a record in 1972. They will need it badly.

RICHARD NIXON will be offering to Congress a far more imaginative, activist, meaningful legislative program than anything has has offered in the past. It will embrace the crucially needed welfare reform, greatly enlarged revenue-sharing to save the states and the cities from imminent bankruptcy, a new health program, and an expanded, deficit-spending budget to stimulate the economy.

This is what the nation needs. This is what the nation can't afford to be without. This is reordering priorities the way they need to be reordered.

We believe that those who do most to help bring these measures about will have the best chance of winning in 1972. We believe the voters will reward the doers, not the "do-notters."

Passenger Train Routes Show Extent Of Decay

(Reprinted from Washington Evening Star)

The tentative routes outlined for the government-sponsored rail passenger system point up the pitiful plight of what should be a healthy form of transportation. The Department of Transportation contemplates the retention of about 150 intercity passenger trains, less than half the number now operating and a laughable fraction of the 11,000 trains that ran in 1946 and of the 20,000 that chugged along in 1929.

Economically, this is all the service that DOT officials think the business will support when the new National Rail Passenger Corp. takes over next May 1. They may be right, though we hope that further study over the next two months justifies filling in a few gaps in the map, particularly on the West Coast, where there would be no north-south service.

The plan seems to make adequate provision for the congested Washington-New York-Boston corridor, where the demand for train seats has stayed relatively high and the potential is greatest for reviving rail service as an important and efficient means of moving people. Washington also would keep passenger rail links with the South and Midwest, though a trip to Chicago would require a connection en route.

The initial $40 million cash outlay by the government for the rail setup is small compared with the billions shelled out for highways and the hundreds of millions that subsidize air travel in the United States. Transportation Secretary Volpe cited the need to save rail service to avoid "intolerable" congestion of roads and airways. While the further disappearance of passenger trains under the present plan continues a gloomy trend, the service had no future at all under the management of most of the nation's railroads, which are interested only in moving profitable freight.

The crucial task will be for the quasi-public corporation to upgrade rail service, making it attractive to enough potential customers so that the passenger train can make a long-awaited comeback. This will require imaginative management and promotion — not the kind that the railroads, by and large, have employed in latter years.

Rubbish Collection Plan Failed; Recycling Depot To Take Over

A six-month rubbish collection experement has ended in Tiburon with mixed results.

Under the two-phase pilot project, begun July 1, monthly pickups were made in Little Reed Heights. Residents in other areas were allowed to take rubbish to a debris box located behind the Tiburon Sanitary District plant on Mar West Street.

The pickups appeared to work well, but the debris box phase had problems. Acting City Mgr. Robert L. Kleinert said that not enough residents used the box to make it worth the cost.

Kleinert didn't say so, but there were many objections to mounds of trash piled around the debris box, especially after Christmas. In fact, some people thought the removal of the box on Monday was a result of complaints about the post-holiday mess.

Abuse of the debris box also was reported. One man told of seeing a Belvedere resident dumping trash into the box. When confronted, the man grinned weakly and admitted the debris box in Belvedere was full.

The vacuum left by the demise of the pilot program will be filled to a certain extent by a recycling depot which opens tomorrow at the same site on Mar West Street.

Under the program, being operated by the Tiburon and Belvedere environment committees, residents of both cities may take bottles, cans, newspapers and cardboard to the depot each Saturday. There the materials will be separated and sold to scavenger companies. The committees hope the program will be self-sustaining after initial expenses are paid.

NORMAN WOHLSCHLAEGER, Sausalito's public works director, is living proof that not all city officials are faceless and humorless.

Witness an excerpt from the first issue of the department's monthly newsletter, "Public Works Works." It gives the department's telephone number and than invites: "Call us if you have something good to say — otherwise, forget it or we'll dig a hole in your street."

ALTHOUGH IT ISN'T a widely known fact, free parking for those who attend night meetings at Tiburon City Hall is available in the parking lot next door.

Developer Fred G. Zelinsky, who owns the lot and much of downtown Tiburon, agreed to make the parking available at the request of the city council some years ago.

But the fact was so little known that one city councilman paid the 75-cent parking fee for months before finding out he was entitled to park free.

A DINNER marking the 20th anniversary of St. Hilary's Church in Tiburon will be an unusual affair. Fred and George Mantegani, co-chairmen of the event, shot most of the 200 pheasants which will be served.

The anniversary celebration will begin with cocktails at 7 p.m. on Jan. 23. Dinner will be served at 7:30.

COUNTY COMMENT

By WILLIAM D. (BILL) FUSSELMAN

How Column Came Into Being, And Glimpses Of New Year

This being the start of a new year, it seems a proper time to say some things about this column and about you and me — about the fine rapport that has developed between us.

Late in December of 1964 Jack Craemer, the managing editor of the I-J, called me up and said, "Bill, did you ever consider being a columnist for the I-J?" I said heck no. "Well, I think you should. If you were on the board, you would have something to say about what was going on." I asked for a day or so to think it over. Then I called him and said OK, just what kind of column do you want? He told me to write what I thought and that with certain obvious limitations they would print what I sent in.

We agreed to try it for three months and that either one could quit at any time. At the end of three months he said go ahead — keep it coming.

DURING THE PAST six years, I have missed very few issues. There is one thing that few of you have known about. I have been in the hospital six times and have written the column there. I watched President Nixon's inauguration on TV while the doctor and a nurse worked me over, then wrote the column the next day.

After a four-hour operation on both legs in June of '67 I was forced to stay in the hospital for a month and wrote the column there each week. The past two years I have had eye trouble — a sort of double vision which has been a nuisance. But you know, the show must go on.

My sincere thanks to you wonderful ones who sent me the big stack of Christmas cards, with the warm personal concern and encouragement. They came at a time when this guy deeply needed them, I tell you.

YOU KNOW, it doesn't give me any pleasure to put down other human beings, but if their performance is such as should not go unnoticed or be swept under the rug, I owe it to you to comment. This I shall do.

During the sojourn with those remarkable British Columbia Indians, I have been clipping and filing quite a batch of items and I propose to give some of them a bit of airing.

An editorial in the I-J on Dec. 22 headed, "Cuts in Private Sector — How About Public One?" certainly had material in it deserving some serious contemplation. It's more than possible that because of the closeness to Christmas Day it may have not been ready by many of you.

Then there was a fine profile story by Paul E. Peterzell in the Marin Magazine of Dec. 26. It was about Dale W. Luehring, manager of the Golden Gate Bridge District.

This brought to mind a situation that few of you were aware of at the time it occurred. This will be opened up for some post-observation.

THERE IS A NEW chairman of the board of supervisors for the year ahead — Bud Baar. I have been told by close observers of the scene out at Brasilia that he was the only one of the supervisors who really did his home work. It will be interesting — extremely so — to watch what will happen.

My very best wish to each of you for a really good year during '71.

Aranson To Give His 'Moby Dick'

Aranson will play all seven roles in his version of the story.

INCOME TAX FACTS

By PETER J. WIKEL

If Your Tax Life Is Simple, Let The IRS Figure It Out

We have a new revised individual income tax return form 1040 for the calendar year 1970, with the tax computation on the reverse side instead of being on a separate piece of paper. Otherwise, the form remains a summary of the attached tax schedules.

The tax return is actually a building block type of thing wherein for each individual kind of income or deduction, you prepare a separate form and attach these separate forms to your tax return.

You list on page 1 or page 2 of form 1040 the separate forms you are attaching and the amount of income, or deductions shown, and put the summary total on your tax return.

Does this sound too complicated? Actually, it's probably the only way in which the law can be reduced to a tax form.

COMPLEX LAW

It has long been said that some day Congress would pass a law so complex that it would be impossible to get it on a tax form and they almost made it. In fact, you can't get it on one form or even a dozen forms and so the Revenue Service is taking the most practical way by creating a tax return form which is in effect a summary of the various tax return forms that are necessary in order to report your income and expense.

This year, form 1040 has a little joker at the top of page two and you must answer the question, "Did you, at any time during the taxable year, have any interest in or signature or other authority over a bank, securities, or other financial account in a foreign country (except in a U. S. military banking facility operated by a U. S. financial institution)?"

If you answer yes, you must complete and attach form 4683.

The purpose of this question is to turn up those taxpayers who have so-called secret numbered bank accounts in Switzerland and other countries. Most of us can answer with a clear conscience — No. A very few will have to answer — Yes, and fill out form 4683 and the secret bank account will be secret no more.

SIMPLE LIFE

If you have a very simple tax life with total income of less than $20,000 consisting of wages reported on form W-2, dividends, interest, pensions and annuities, all you have to do is complete the top part of the return and lines 1 through 18, 24, 26, 27 and 28, if applicable, and attach a copy of your W-2 forms and send the return to Uncle Sam.

The IRS will figure it out for you and it may well be that you would be better off to let them do it for you than it would be for you to struggle with this form or pay someone else to do it.

There are no less than 15 separate tables for determining the amount of tax that you owe if your income is less than $10,000 and you elect to use the standard deduction, plus the surtax tables or computation.

By letting the IRS figure this, you automatically claim the low income allowance and standard deduction allowed by law for personal expenses such as contributions, taxes, interest payments, medical expenses, and the like. If your allowable deductions for these items is in excess of 10 per cent of your income or $1,000, you should itemize your deductions.

If you elect to have the IRS compute your tax for you and there is any additional tax due, they will send you a bill. This can result in your having a little extra time in which to pay the tax due since, otherwise, you have to pay it on April 15th.

You are expected to pay your taxes on the lowest basis possible and if you have anything in the way of itemized deductions or employee deductions or business expnese, chances are you would be better off to use the long form.

Homestead Group to Elect Officers Slate

Homestead Valley Community Association will elect officers at its meeting Jan. 27.

Placed in nomination by the nominating committee are: Paul Peyrat, president; Orville Erringer, vice president; Virginia Spalding, secretary, and Ira Okun, treasurer. Nominations from the floor also will be accepted, said secretary Audrey Peterson.

The meeting at Brown's Hall, 390 Miller Avenue, Mill Valley, will begin at 7 p.m. with cocktails. A potluck dinner will start at 7:30.

Club directors Tuesday agreed to allow Education on Location, an experimental education group from Tamalpais High School to meet at Brown's Hall on a trial basis.

Explosion Kills 3 In Building

DIJON, France (UPI)—A violent explosion of unknown origin reduced a three-story apartment building virtually to dust today, leaving only a gaping hole shrouded with smoke and flames.

Police said at least three persons were killed and six injured.

Police said no trace of gas was found in the area. An investigation continued into the cause of the explosion.

Meanwhile, in Auch, France, funeral services were held for 11 of 14 persons killed in the explosion of an apartment building Jan. 4.

Hub Schools Face Cutback, Tax Issue

The San Anselmo School District board has been informed it will be faced with deficit spending and a cutback in programs within two years.

Supt. W. Kenneth Lowry said he informed the board Tuesday the district is currently depleting its reserve fund at a rate of $100,000 per year.

At the begincing of this fiscal year, he said, the district had a reserve of $150,000. But he predicted a reserve of only $50,000 would be left 1971-72.

Lowry said he recommended the board consolidate its April 20 trustee election with a tax increase election to avoid deficit spending. The board will decide Jan. 19 whether to go to a vote. Lowry said the district could cut programs next year to keep from entering the red, but added: "It's the year after that we have to worry about. Fiscal 1972-73 will be the year we actually begin a deficit if voters turn down" a tax hike.

The district currently has a tax rate of $2.25 per $100 assessed valuation. Lowry said a rough estimate of the minimum tax hike needed would be about 50 cents, but added he would probably recommend 85 cents — the added funds to be used for program improvements.

Lowry said if the measure is turned down by voters, the Miller-Unruh reading program, remedial reading teacher positions and psychological services offered by the district could be jeaporized.

He said the San Anselmo district has been especially hard hit because it has the lowest tax rate of any Marin district and it is third lowest in assessed valuation.

The San Anselmo School District also:

CUSTODIAL — Heard a report that a revised staffing plan for custodial and maintenance work in the district would save about $10.50 per day, or $1,300, through the rest of fiscal 197)-71. The board approved using the savings for added maintenance.

SKI CLUB — Approved use of a district bus by students from a seventh and eighth grade ski club.

PROGRAM — Approved preliminary plans for a mentally gifted student program which will begin Feb. 5. The state-required program will serve as a model for personalized instruction.

PRINCIPAL — Set a special meeting for Jan. 12 to interview candidates for the position of principal of Hidden Valley School.

Furniture Stolen

Strawberry Rec Board Chooses New Chairman

Carl L. Schaefer has been selected chairman of the Strawberry Recreation District board, replacing Arthur R. Senter, who was chosen vice chairman at Wednesday's meeting.

According to clerk Jeanne Heick, James K. Garner was elected to a second term as secretary and Manuel K. Lehua for another term as property manager.

Directors also appointed Senter and Lehua to a committee to meet with representatives of the Strawberry Swim Club to discuss renewal of the club's lease for the swimming pool and bathhouse.

The lease will not expire until April 1972, but Mrs. Heick said swim club members have asked the board to consider an extension now.

Hidden Legs To Come Out For Spring

NEW YORK (UPI)—Who said legs went into hiding under the midiskirt? Not so. Despite the midis on the winter scene, the latest female style stepping into spring is the minishort aimed to guarantee one of the leggiest of leg shows come warmer weather.

Already New York's avant garden in fashion is wearing the short shorts under furs ... and wearing cropped pants for all occasions too, even for evening, not just for sportswear as in the olden days of the so-called short shorts.

"SOME OF the new gener of city pants are so abbreviated, they make the micro-mini seem conservative," said Betty Curry, fashion director at Burlington. She spoke at Burlington's leg-attire show this week during the New York Coature Business Council's semi-annual shows for visiting reporters.

Just who kicked off the city shorts fad is up for the guessing. Paris claims the idea. So does New York. And certainly New York's fashion industry at all price levels is giving the new leg-showers the full push.

Adolfo's spring collection, opening this week but apart from the couture group, was laden with shorts paired with blazer or cape tops.

At the Burlington show, shorts supporters included "haute couture" designer Halston, who made an evening shorts costume of a piglet-printed pink stretch satin, Dorothee Bis who featured a one-piece knit with navy bottom and orange-striped top, and manufacturers Benson & Partners who did shorts like a sawed-off jumpsuit in a lively print.

It is not the minishorts alone which stress that the leggy look is alive and kicking. When skirts are long, the designers slit them up the sides or front to show legs, with patterned hose beneath.

Something new in bootery also arrived at one firm. They were "Shin-Shams," fake boots actually a one-piece legging and foot that went inside regular shoes. Shown with pantyhose, the new "boots" were of imported stretch nylon fabric with a plastic sheen coating that looked like crinkled leather but was very light (for summer days) and flexible.

They were shown in many colors, often patterned, and most often coupled with the city shorts.

LIVELY PRINTED city shorts outfits, such as at left promise the leggy look to come alive and kicking for spring. But even long skirts are opening to the idea of the leg showing, with slits up the side. At right, a long siren slink in blazing orange, purple and green is slit to reveal the model's patterned hose underneath. (UPI Telephoto)

MINI SHORTS such as these may guarantee a rebirth of the leggy fashions come spring. And to go with the shorts is something new in bootery — the "Shin-Shams," fake fur boots worn inside regular shoes. Lightweight Shin-Shams are fine for summer days and will come in a number of colors and patterns. (UPI Telephoto)

NEW NOSTALGIA

Fashions From Yesteryear Inspire The Latest In Hats

By CAROLYN A. BOWERS

NEW YORK (UPI) — The new nostalgia for the clothes of yesterday lends inspiration for the hats of today. The peasant look, spats laced up boots and the long clingy dresses of the 1930s and '40s have brought back the wide brimmed leghorn, milans and straw braids.

Most are trimmed with feathers or such nostalgic flowers as roses, poppies or buttercups. These styles were featured Wednesday by the Millinery Institute of America during the 56th semiannual "Press Week" for visiting fashion reporters.

The "new nostalgia" designs included a creation by Frank Olive in purple felt with a matching ostrich feather in the back, inspired by the peasant look. A winged number in shiny red straw by Chanda was worn with a long slinky outfit from the 30s.

HATS ALSO followed the lead of classic clothes such as plaid capes, shirtwaist dresses and blazers. These millinery styles included the snap brim felts, milan fedoras, and other brims that sculptured the face or turned up at the side. Westbury offered the classic Stetson and Adolfo Boutique did a lovely wide-brimmed number in natural straw.

Milliners were inspired also by the apparel of the workingman. Clothes from the working man's wardrobe already have been copied for ladies sportswear, from porter's suits to overalls to cowboy apparel. Matching hats will provide complete coordination.

"The look —new respect for the working man and his type of clothing —will be the spring replacement for the hippie fashion," said Maybelle F. Hall, producer and director of the millinery show.

AMONG THE "hard hat" styles shown were a floppy, wide-brimmed denim, worn with a matching work shirt and pants, a denim railroad cap with overalls, a safari hat for the hunter and a panama for the Wall Street executive.

Pants, which have become so big on the fashion scene, can be topped with their special hats too. Most were done in felt or straw and ranged from the wide off-the-face in milan to the puffy crowned newsboy cap in leather to the printed silk scarf. The newsboy cap was shown with a jumpsuit and matching jacket or a gypsy scarf hat with knickers.

To combat the smog soot and grayed-over sunshine of our times, there was a special group of hats in anti-pollution colors —muted green, beige, white, blue orange and coral. One striking style was done in red felt with a big floppy brim that looked like a garden of poppies.

Hats are made for evening wear too. They varied from turbans to wide straw brims with a garden of flowers. One by Frank Olive was natural straw with two large pink roses on the front. Netting over the roses and top of the hat completed the look. Another by Jack McConnell was a gigantic collection of flowers.

CLOTHES FROM the workingman's wardrobe have already been copied for women's sportswear, from overalls to porter's suits to cowboy's range apparel. Now the hard hat of the construction worker gets the bid from millinery designers for spring. (UPI Telephoto)

What Causes Tooth Decay?

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UPI)—Tooth decay and gum disease are the result of specific oral bacteria which colonize on the teeth when certain substances are present in the mouth, according to Dr. Paul H. Keyes, of the National Institute of Dental Research in Bethesda, Md.

Dr. Keyes, reporting at the annual meeting of the American Dental Association here, said the bacteria become especially active when dextran-producing foods are present in the mouth, especially sucrose (sugar).

HELEN HELP US!

By HELEN BOTTEL

DEAR HELEN:

Recently our little seven-year-old girl went to the hospital. Upon admission, she watched open-eyed and without tears as the technician took blood samples. There she was told she was a "very brave young lady."

Arriving at her destination, fourth floor pediatrics, she heard again how brave she was.

After a restful night, our brave patient was taken to the operating room. When she awoke in a strange recovery room, she became frightened. Then the tables were turned. Now the nurse in charge called her "cry-b a b y , ' ' and a few other choice words, even though the anesthetic hasn't worn off yet.

Well, thanks to that "devoted nurse," our little patient now hates hospitals and doctors' offices and especially nurses.

I wonder if this woman would use the same forceful hand and harsh voice to her own children — if she has any? — DISGUSTED MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER:

Probably,

A good nurse isn't always a gentle soul. That's why it's best, if possible, for a parent to be at the bedside when the child comes out from under the anesthetic.

As for lasting traumas: Not if you handle this incident wisely; which means, don't make a big thing of it. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

After reading your column on "favoritism in families" I just had to write this letter.

As I grew up I could list a thousand and one examples of the way my p a r e n t s showed favoritism to my brothers and neglected me. One day when my o l d e r brother was home on leave from Vietnam, he, my younger brother and I sat up all night talking.

Somehow we got around to the subject of "who was the favorite." I shared with my brothers how lonely and isolated I felt because the folks made so much over them . . one was older and got all the new stuff; the other was younger and got his own way; one was athletic; the other a brain; one had a delightful personality; the other was handsome. Poor little me was Miss In-b e t w e e n Nobody. So I thought.

"You?" my older brother exclaimed. "Why I thought I was neglected and you two were the chosen one." And on went his list: My brother and I both got high grades; we were better looking, and favored as the youngest and the only girl, besides my being the only granddaughter on both sides.

My younger brother, the silent member of the family, shrugged his shoulders and said, "And here all the time I thought I was the outcast. Do you two know what it's like to live up to the athletic prowess and academic standards you have set? And so it went . . .

I g u e s s when there is more than one child in the family there will be times when each feels he or she is the least loved. — NEGLECTED, OR WAS I?

DEAR NEG:

How right you are — and this even in families where communication is no great problem. — H.

Moonlighters Work An Average Of 13 Hours

Does moonlight conjure up thoughts of a soft romantic evening — or exhaustion over a second job?

Whatever the term imparts, there are some 4 m i l l i o n "moonlighters" — persons holding down two or more jobs in 1970 America — notes the Institute of Life Insurance.

In a special study, the U.S. Department of Labor said that 5.2 per cent of the 78 million persons employed last May held two jobs or more. This figure was just a fraction higher than the preceding year.

MALE TEACHERS, policemen and firemen had the highest moonlighting record, more than double the rate for all other dual job-holders.

The issue of holding down two or more jobs has raised some questions, however, such as: is it healthy? does the family suffer? does the primary job suffer?

The National Industrial Conference Board recently published findings on how the corporation reacts to outside jobs. Their survey found that 80 per cent of the companies that responded neither explicitly permit nor forbid outside employment for their full-time workers.

WHETHER THE second job is permanent or temporary, the main reason for holding it is a financial one. The Labor Department survey found that second job earnings of moonlighters a v e r a g e d $30 a week for a median work span of 13 hours. Although earnings on the second job varied widely in industry and occupation, men in the manufacturing field pulled in the highest moonlighting paychec.

However, there are some detriments to working at two jobs. It is often taxing psychologically. If the second job is similar to the first, monotony and fatigue result.

ON BEING BLACK

By SANDRA HAGGERTY

Contemporary society has been bombarded with theories that motherhood is void and defunct.

Spokeswomen for Women's Lib and population control extremists have cited every possible reason — reasonable and unreasonable — for throwing out this long revered institution.

In the black society, however, most of us still dig mama. This could be a matter of programming. (After all, we have been diagnosed by the various ologists as being a matriarchal society. But experts no longer buy this theory.)

Most blacks have neither had the opportunity (or experience) of being personally analyzed (too expensive) nor have studied the theories of Freud and the like — to any great extent. Consequently, we have not been apprised of the fact or theory that it is natural — even chic — to hate your mother.

Yes, we still dig mama. Notice, I said mama — and not mother. Let me explain who mama is.

Mama is a legend in her own time. Of the generations of black mothers — ranging from the mammies of slavery days to mommies of today — mama has perhaps worked the hardest and sacrificed the most.

Mama is probably between the ages of 40 and 60. She very likely looks much o l d e r — hard work and abandonment of artificial adornments and attention to b e a u t y aids have taken t h e i r toll on her appearance. She is not as chic and b e a u t i f u l as the 20-to 30-year-old mommies.

Mama is tired. She raised her own parcel of children and may be currently raising her grandchildren. She is nowhere near being senile like "Ma-Dear" (her own m o t h e r whom she takes care of also) but there is much about the younger folks that she finds difficult to understand.

Mama has always worked outside of her own home — and worked hard. Sh's probably done domestic work most of the time. She can cook like "nobody's business!" and her own home is always orderly and clean. (Mommies wonder how she does it!)

The younger generation is often impatient and even critical of some of mama's funny ways, but ironicaly they pay tribute to her in many indirect ways — like: after a delicious meal saying "Oooh, Mama!" in approval of how good the food is. When little black children play hide-and-seek, scaring each other, they utter "Oooh, Mama" (Of all people, she's the one person who can save t h e m .) Or when the kids on the playground play past curfew hour and a f r i e n d says "Your mama's callin' you . . ." The day and the play are over.

When a male friend (even your husband) says "Oooh Mama! You're lookin' kinda' good!" It's a compliment in a very special way.

Whatever happens to motherhood (in the verbal sense) may mama live on.

ART REVIEW

By MARY LOU STRIBLING

Guatemalan folk art is on display through next Friday at the College of Marin Art Gallery, Kentfield. With the exception of one case of artifacts belonging to Alonzo Gonzalez, the exhibit is from the collection of Anne Hermann Lamborn, who served in Guatemala for two years as a member of the Peace Corp.

The majority of the pieces — retaining the flavor of an ancient Mayan civilization — are contemporary and were created for personal use, rather than commercial trade.

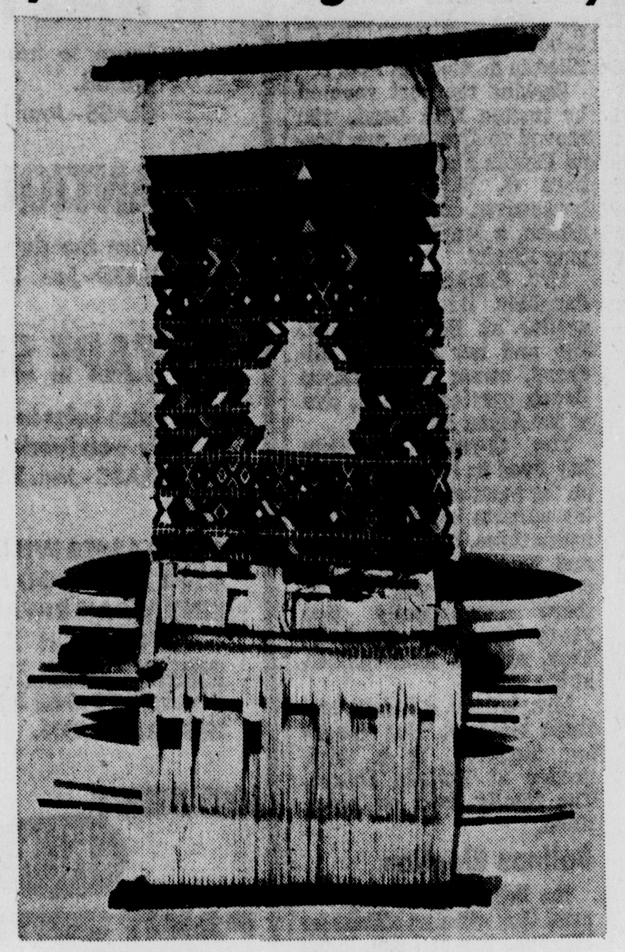
Guatemalan Indians are recognized as masters of weaving and a variety of techniques are demonstrated among the large fabrics designed for skirts, and narrower strips which are used for belts, sashes, and grocery "knapsacks." Some of the weavings are as delicate and smooth as fine linen. Others incorporate soft, thick yarns with tightly twisted threads for high-low patterns in brilliant colors.

From the aspect of technical and decorative excellence, the weavings would merit high praise from any critic. But when they are evaluated against the primitive devices used in their production, the accomplishment becomes awesome, indeed. Several looms with incompleted garments are included in the show. They consist of tree branches, some of which are twisted or bowed, and crudely shaped heddles which appear to have been polished by years of use.

Earlier examples of Guatemalan art are represented by ceramic urns, masks, miniature vases, and beads, baskets, hand made tools, and combs carved from horn and bone. A glimpse of more ambitious work is provided by a large crayon rubbing on muslin of a carved stone bas relief.

There are many boxes, ranging from tiny matchbox sizes to large storage chests, all painted in bright streaks and splashes which have a spontaneous, carefree quality.

In the collection of Gonzales, several artifacts strike a macabre note. Several of these, including a "witch whistle" and a carved obsidian torso, are very old and extremely rare. There are also ceremonial knives, chipped from obsidian, which were used in ancient rites to extract the hearts of sacrificial victims.



GUATEMALAN LOOM — Guatemalan weavings still follow traditions established hundreds of years ago, as exemplified by this primitive loom and incompleted shirt. It is part of an exhibit of Guatemalan folk art at the College of Marin Art Gallery. (Independent-Journal photo.)

Commute Bus Expressway 'Works Well'

UNION CITY, N.J. (UPI) — Partial relief to the massive traffic jams which accompany the daily commuting of New Jerseyans to Manhattan has been afforded by a 2½ mile road reserved exclusively for commuter buses.

The road, which connects the Jersey Turnpike with the Lincoln Tunnel, was opened on Jan. 18, 1970. A Port of New York Authority spokesman said Thursday that the 35,000 persons who travel it daily have found their commuting time cut down by 15 minutes each way.

The road was financed jointly by the U. S. Department of Transportation ($500,000) and the New Jersey Turnpike Authority ($134,000). The Port Authority, however, is responsible for its maintenance as well as the police who patrol it.

A State Transportation Department spokesman said that it is believed to be the first of its kind in New Jersey.

Plans Group Names Leaders

Robert Eklund has been named chairman and James Gordon , vice chairman, of the Novato Plan Review Committee.

The committee also approved landscaping plans for Rancho Village Unit 10, a 12.5 - acre subdivision, and gave architectural approval to Sambo's for a restaurant at the northwest corner of Novato Boulevard and Seventh Street.

Petaluma Dairy On Group's Agenda

FAMILY

Aristocats" — Very clever, delightful musical animated feature in the best Disney tradition about a high society cat who inherits a fortune and the villianous butler and his plans.

"Niok, Orphan Elephant" Charming story of a baby elephant who is befriended by a native boy. Photography, customs and rituals of Cambodian people adds interest.

"Smith" — An inteesting and amusing but compassionate contemporary western that depicts the Indian as thoughtful people with gentle humor, whosw way of life is different from ours but not inferior.

"Son of Slubber" 8 Reissue of Disney's comedy about Prof. Brainard's perfected rainmaking device that produces a crop of mammoth vegetables. Good cast.

"Twelve Chairs" — Slapstick historical comedy about family jewels that were hidden in a chair before the revolution in Russia. Motivated by pure greed the frantic search provides a delightfully entertaining treat. Don't miss it.

ADULTS AND TEENS

"Monte Walsh" — That time in history when Eastern progress came rolling over the old West. Work for the cowboy didappears and hungry men turn to violence. It is a serio-comic study of two cowboys in this situation.

"Patton" — Excellent characterization by George C. Scott who portrays an indomitable spirit that could achieve its destiny only in wartime. A strong film makes use of violence and frequent profanity.

"Rio Lobo" — A typical John Wayne vehicle, the story of an ex-Union Colonel out to uncover men under him who informed of Union activities to Rebel soldiers, causing several of his troops to be killed. Plenty of beatem-up, shoot-em down violence. (Motion Picture Daily).

BORDERLINE

(Most sources say Adults Only)

"Getting Straight" — Cynical thought provoking melodrama presents a cogent satiric view of the Establishment and the radicals on college campus. Violence, explicit sex and foul language is abundant.

"Loving" — The quiet desperation of suburban life is artfully explored in this bitter contemporary drama. Well acted by excellent cast. Language and sex scenes extremely frank.

"Strawberry Statement" — A hokey expooitation of student unrest with lots of music and psychedelic photography that substitute for an honest examination of the issues. Unnecessary scenes of sex and nudity inserted and an orgy of police brutality proves only that riots are very cinematic.

ADULTS ONLY

"Diary Of A Mad Housewife" Acidly funny look at the disintegration of a modern marriage in New York. Good comedy with sex and dialogue that is very frank.

"Five Easy Pieces" — Free-form portrait of an exile from a highbrow musical family who cops out of a routine lower middle class existence. Explicit sex and frank dialogue.

"Joe" — Chilling but excellent tragi-comedy about our troubled society. Two men form an unlikely alliance founded on their envy and hatred of today's youth. Language and sex scenes are shockingly bold and the violence of the ending will haunt the viewer.

"No Blade of Grass" — Unsubtle melodrama. Pollutors have triumphed worldwide - Red China has nerve-gassed its entire urban population. A British family escaping from choking London conditions to the north, resort to killing all who block their path. This spectre of doomsday is a sensationally contrived vision. (Catholic Film Newsletter).

"There's A Girl In My Soup" — A shallow little sex farce about a 40-ish Lothario, a hyppersexed television gourmet, galloping from kitchen to bedroom practicing his well perfected but corny technique to conquer any female he meets. (Motion Picture Daily).

Bagshaw To Speak

T. F. Bagshaw, former secretary to the state Division of Highways, will speak at the Marin Coast Chamber of Commerce at 7:30 p.m. Tuesday at the Silver Dollar Inn, Point Reyes Station.

6.5 Million Crossing For N. Bay Span

Vehicle crossings of the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge rose to 6.5 million for the year ending Sept. 30, 1970, the state has announced.

In the preceding year, 5.96 million motorists paid tolls, the division of the Department of Public Works said.

Gross revenue rose from $4.98 million to $5.3 million despite a toll reduction in July 1970 from 75 cents to 65 cents.

Pumping Station Bids Are Due

San Rafael Sanitation District directors will open bids for construction of its new Francisco Boulevard pumping station at 5 p.m. Feb. 3.

The board approved plans and specifications for the project at its regular meeting Wednesday, according to Norris W. Rawles, district administrator. The plans were preapred by Dan Coleman Associates.

The pumping station will replace a major storm drainage pumping facility displaced by work on Highway 101. It is expected to cost about $400,000, Rawles said.

Foes Hit Plans On Bay Filling

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Proposals to ease two restrictions on bay filling were condemned yesterday before the Bay Conservation and Development Commission by both conservationists and those who want to develop the bay.

Conservationist argued that the amendments of the commission's bay plan would open the door to wholesale filling of the shoreline, while the developers objected that the amendments would not go nearly as far as they should in lifting restrictions.

The first change would allow filling for water-oriented commercial-recreation when an amount of existing fill equivalent to the new fill is removed from the bay.

The second change also would extend to publicly owned land the right, now limited to private holdings, of filling for water-oriented commerical-recreation where the property is "substantially on existing land."

Both amendments were proposed by the BCDC staff to meet the need to upgrade deteriorated waterfront areas. They would apply in Sausalito and Tiburon as well as in San Francisco and Oakland.

Spokesmen for San Francisco city agencies objected that the amendments still would not allow hotels and office buildings on the waterfront.

The BCDC last month rejected a permit for the Ferry Port Plaza project north of the Ferry Building, which would have put a hotel and office building on fill and piers. The rejection came after the attorney general ruled that such projects must be water-oriented.

The commission never has defined precisely what was meant by "water-oriented commercial-recreation," and both conservationists and developers yesterday argued that a precise definition must be made.

The commission has preferred to be vague about the definition generally on the grounds that such vagueness prevented polarizing the commission and permitted greater flexibility in dealing with bay projects.

In other business, commissioners asked the attorney general start legal action against what they called illegal filling by the City of Oakland. The action came after they rejected a staff compromise with the city, which is filling in San Leandro Bay for a corporation yard.

Oakland contended its project was exempt from BDCD jurisdiction because work on the fill began before the commission's powers became effective in September 1965. The commission disputes with the city's contention.

Pantsuits Get Legislative Nod

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — Female employes today had the permission of the Assembly to wear pantsuits on the job.

"I'm for minis and against maxis but I haven't banned maxis," said Burton, D-San Francisco.

Women employes had been allowed to wear pantsuits when the legislature was not in session. They had been instructed to wear skirts during legislative sessions.

Session Off

The regular monthly luncheon meeting of the Mill Valley Chamber of Commerce at the Palate Restaurant will not be held tomorrow because the restaurant is closed. The luncheon has been rescheduled for Jan. 16 at noon according to secretary-manager George Beedle.

Man Found Way Out Of Working

Since 1963, when he was involved in an automobile accident in Zagreb, Buzancic, 37, spent his time in hospital beds all over Yugoslavia.

On that first visit he was treated for a minor injury and when asked for his social insurance card he said he had left it at home.

When nobody questioned his lack of the card he decided to use the same ruse to gain admittance to other hospitals, claiming involvement in traffic accidents or pretending heart attacks.

Last August he gained admittance to a hospital at Zenica, central Yugoslavia. He spent a comfortable four months there until doctors decided there was nothing physically or mentally wrong with him.

On Wednesday police called at the hospital and took him to jail. They said he told them he had never worked in his life.

Marines Get Unique Warplane

WASHINGTON (UPI) —A British-made fighter-bomber that takes off vertically like a helicopter has been added to the equipment of the U.S. Marine Corps.

The Marines took delivery Wednesday of their first AV8A Harrier, produced by Britain's Hawker-Siddeley Corp. It is the first aircraft used by the American military capable of taking off straight up and the first U.S. warplane built outside North America.

The Marines hope to buy 114 of the Harriers. They cost $4.8 million each.

Filling Land For Bike Path Snagged

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — Marin County's hope for quick approval of a permit to fill one-sixteenth of an acre in Richardson Bay for a bicycle path yesterday ran into a last-minute hitch before the Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

The unexpected hitch arose when the BCDC staff objected that the fill permit would be for property only leased by the county. The owner of the property, the Northwestern Pacific Railroad, could cancel the lease in the future and then use the fill for railroad purposes, the staff noted.

The staff suggested that a solution to its fears could be for the railroad to dedicate the narrow strip to the county. The railroad, however, traditionally is reluctant to abandon any portion of its right-of-way.

The staff objections were raised informally before the commission's regular meeting, and a scheduled public hearing on the fill permit was postponed to Jan. 21 at 2 p.m. in Room 1194 of the State Building, 450 Golden Gate Avenue. The hearing was postponed because other agenda items consumed the afternoon.

The fill would be 450 feet long and up to six feet wide. The narrow area has been leased by the county from the railroad for three years at $1,000 a year. The lease is renewable on a year-to-year basis after the first three years.

The fill would be part of the final link in the bicycle path between Sausalito and Mill Valley. The $30,000 cost of the link, running from the northern boundary of Sausalito to the southern end of the Richardson Bay Bridge, will be met under a state grant. The path already connects south over the Golden Gate Bridge to San Francisco.

Lie Detector Test For Elvis

HOLLYWOOD (UPI)—A Superior Court judge has ordered Elvis Presley to undergo a lie detector examination and blood tests in a paternity suit brought by a 21-year-old waitress.

Judge William P. Hogoboom ordered the tests Wednesday at a hearing in which Patricia Parker claimed Presley, 35, was the father of her son, Jason, born Oct. 10. She is seeking medical costs and $1,000 monthly child support.

Presley, currently at his home in Tennessee, was represented in court by his attorney who agreed the singer would submit to the tests which Miss Parker also will undergo. Presley is married and the father of a daughter.

Three File For Trustee In Bolinas

Three Bolinas residents have filed for a vacant seat on the Bolinas-Stinson School board which will be filled in an election Feb. 2.

Seeking the post vacated by trustee Erik Lund, who moved to Oregon, are Donna Driggs Fischer and Barbara G. Wilson, both housewives, and Michael E. Aitken, a Marin County deputy sheriff.

Mrs. Fischer, 35, has one daughter, Beverly, a third grader at Bolinas School. She and her husband, Richard, owner of a Stinson Beach service station, live at 320 Aspen Road.

The 27-year-old Aitken has lived in Bolinas off and on for most of his life, since his parents had a summerhouse there. He and his wife and two children, who live on Bolinas Road, moved there permanently five years ago. His daughter, Tina, attends kindergarten at the school.

Mrs. Wilson, a widow, has three children. Her daughter, Rebecca, is a third grader at Bolinas School. The family lives on Alder Road.

Bolinas Election

The Bolinas Beach Improvement Club will elect officers for 1971 tomorrow at 7 p.m. in the Mesa Clubhouse, 270 Elm Road, publicity chairman Alice Silva reported.

HEROIN SUBSTITUTE

By MARY LEYDECKER

Although the drug methadone has been highly praised for allowing heroin addicts to lead useful lives, officials in the drug treatment field are concerned it is available only on a limited basis in Marin County.

Officials estimate there are at least 1,000 heroin addicts in the county, with short-term users making the number even higher.

Methadone, a synthetic drug which provides an addictive but harmless substitute for heroin users, is now given out only at a few locations designed for in-patient treatment of withdrawal symptoms.

Concerned that the drug is not available yet in Marin under legislation passed last year which allows methadone to be used on a full-time basis, several Marin doctors and other leaders in the drug field are trying to put a program together.

"We think if we can get a methadone program going, we can demonstrate that secondary criminality can be reduced drastically," Dr. Smith said.

By "secondary criminality," Dr. Smith means the thefts, robberies — and even prostitution — committed by addicts in order to pay for their expensive heroin habits.

(Heroin addicts who are what Dr. Smith calls "fully immersed" in the drug subculture usually spend $50 to $100 a day for the illegal narcotic. Law officers have estimated the expensive habit means addicts must steal $500 to $1,000 in goods daily since they often only get about 10 per cent of the value from persons to whom the contraband is sold.)

Even on the clean streets of Marin, women addicts practice prostitution in order to maintain their habits.

"It's more subtle than in the big cities," said Marvin Cahn, an attorney who has represented in court many persons absorbed by the drug culture.

Cahn said that Marin's prostitutes operate very quietly in bars for the most part, and few patrons suspect the activity. "They probably turn one or two tricks a night," he said.

He explained in a court hearing that the drug is now available only for withdrawal symptoms and that his client, a jail inmate, had already gone through withdrawals "cold turkey" while locked up.

Neither Dr. Smith nor others in the treatment field suggest that methadone will solve completely the drug addiction problem. Dr. Smith sees it as a "holding action" which can be used to give an addict "time to work on the real problems" which caused the addiction.

He estimated the cost of methadone treatment at about $10 a week for the first year, dropping off in the second year. The biggest cost, he explained, is for initial physical and psychological examinations.

Once a person is on methadone, Dr. Smith said, he expects the person to get a job or start training or schooling which will lead to employment, thus enabling him to pay for his own methadone.

Federal laws provide the drug must be administered under strict provisions. First, the addict must have been using opiates for at least two years and secondly, he must have tried at least one other cure for addiction and failed.

Other rules require a complete physical examination and prohibit the drug use for persons under 18 years, pregnant women and those with serious physical illness.

If Dr. Smith is able to get a methadone maintenance program going, the Community Mental Health Center plans to contract for 20 patients.

Dr. John S. Guerrant, head of the center, said the only facilities there now for drug addicts are those available to patients with withdrawal symptoms. Methadone is also available at OpenHouse and Ross General Hospital on the same basis.

Buses Over Rail Land Backed

Residents of San Anselmo want a bus rapid transit system over existing railroad rights-of-way, generally paralleling Highway 101 and not cutting a "swath" through Ross, Kentfield and San Anselmo.

That was the consensus expressed last night at a public hearing on five alternate rapid transit plans under consideration by the Golden Gate Bridge District directors. The hearing, at Sir Francis Drake High School, was attended by about 100 persons.

A committee of the bridge district, including Board President Lowell Edington of Napa County, presented the alternate plans with the help of bridge engineers and consultants. Dean N. Meyer of Mill Valley presided.

Of the five plans presented, one calling for rapid tansit buses on exclusive rights-of-way from Montgomery and Post streets in San Francisco to Novato drew the most support from the audience.

The buses would use a lower deck on the Golden Gate Bridge, emerge at the north end on an aerial structure between the north and southbound lanes of highway 101, and go through a third Waldo Tunnel. To the west of Richardson Bay Bridge, it would join the Northwestern Pacific right-of-way and follow it to Novato.

Strongest opposition came on a proposal which calls for an underwater tube from San Francisco to Sausalito with a fixed guideway (perhaps rails) through Corte Madera, Larkspur, Kentfield, Ross and San Anselmo. At the Hub, the fixed guideway would tunnel under Red Hill and emerge near the Marin Civic Center.

Anne West of San Anselmo said she favored the bus plan because of its lower cost ($495 million, compared to the more than $900 million required for each of the other systems) and its flexibility.

She asked bridge directors to plan the bus system so that it could be converted later to rails if necessary.

"I would oppose the rail plan because it would send rails through Ross Valley," said Mrs. West. "Rails through Ross and San Anselmo would be a pity."

Warren R. Perry, a San Anselmo city councilman, joined Mrs. West in opposing any rails or major construction through Ross Valley.

"Any swath for rail or right-of-way through town would be unacceptable," he said.

John F. West of San Anselmo, a county planning commissioner, asked the bridge district to coordinate closely the rapid transit system with Marin's local transportation systems.

John F. West of San Anselmo, a county planning commission, asked the bridge district to coordinate closely the rapid transit system with Marin's local transportation systems.

John Clow of Ross called for removal from consideration an alternate plan which calls for the extension of Bay Area Rapid Transit trains over the Richmond-San Rafael Bridge and north to Novato. The area south of San Rafael would be served by buses.

Clow also complained that each plan would provide major stops in Marin City but showed no stations to serve valleys like Ross Valley or Terra Linda.

Robert E. Shields, bridge engineer, assured him that feeder systems would serve the valleys and connect with the main north-south system.

Several others in the audience said they favored the bus system and opposed any rail line through the Ross Valley.

Last night's hearing was one of more than 20 scheduled in various communities from Crescent City to San Francisco to enable bridge directors to sound out public opinion on the five alternates.

Flood Of Applicants At College Of Marin

Dean of Students Irwin P. Diamond told the Marin Junior College District board last night that 3,500 applications are expected for the spring semester. A total of 2,000 were received last spring, he said.

To date, Diamond said, 2,649 applications had been received, compared to 1,480 last year.

In the fall, enrollment was 5,616, compared to 5,679 last year, but Diamond said the normal spring dropoff will be very small this year.

Diamond also presented reports on the characteristics of the student body, dropouts and the number of black students.

He said that 157 blacks enrolled for the fall, compared to 142 last year. More than one-third received financial aid each semester, he said.

Diamond also pointed out that the typical student in the fall of 1970 tended to be older, a resident of Marin and a military veteran.

His report of dropouts indicated that 60.2 per cent of 216 students surveyed in the spring of 1970 dropped some units. Diamond said this was not cause for alarm, given the experimental nature of students, but the board ordered a study that included all students.

The Marin Junior College District board

RAISE — Raised the pay of Hazel Torres, dental assisting instructor and coordinator of the program. The increase from $15,025 to $16,706 on the basis of credits earned made her pay equivalent to the possessor of a master's degree.

TRAINEES — Approved an agreement whereby the University of California will provide not more than three student teachers this academic year.

NAME — Deferred consideration of changing the district's name to Marin Community College District until after a contemplated resubmission of a $16.9 million bond issue to voters. The issue was turned down in November.

COMPUTER — Declined to sign a letter of intent for purchase of almost $400,000 worth of computer equipment because the wording of the letter was unacceptable and because the board felt the district could drive a harder bargain with Radio Corporation of America on the cost of interim equipment and signing of the final contract.

COURSE CHANGES — Set Jan. 21 for approval of proposed course changes for 1971-72.

COMMITTEE — Discussed a revised set of procedures proposed for the college's committee system.

SCHOOL YEAR — Set Jan. 21 for final approval of school dates for 1971-72.

INSTRUCTORS — Set for Jan. 21 discussion of a proposal to restrict part-time instructors to nine units of teaching to avoid confusion over tenure.

BACK LOANS — Set for Jan. 21 signing of an agreement with National Account Systems whereby that company would collect delinquent student loans for 35 per cent of the amount collected.

Group Seeks An 'Open' Civic Center

A new organization called County Employees For An Open Civic Center was launched yesterday to encourage fellow workers and the public to express opposition to what they call "repressive security measures" at the Civic Center.

Raymond J. Ahearn, a member of the group's steering committee, said the organization will invite all interested employees to a meeting at noon next Friday in Room 308 of the Civic Center.

"We hope to get widespread employee involvement so that their views can be expressed at a public hearing which the county supervisors have set for Jan. 19," said Ahearn.

He said the organization agreed that certain security measures are necessary. "However, several present building security measures clearly infringe upon individual civil rights and deter the public's lawful use of their Civic Center," he said.

The group wants to stop personal searches, reopen the building at night and weekends, halt the use of employee identification cards, and stop physical changes to the building.

The steering committee is composed of Ahearn, a member of the county planning staff; Barbara Coffie of public social services; Jan Fairchild, county library; Ursual Gealey, human rights department; Marjorie Macris, county planning department, and William Schutt, social services.

Wanted Man Surrenders

An 18-year-old San Rafael man, wanted by San Rafael police and the Army has surrendered to Novato police.

Dennis Hugh Jensen of 425 First Street, was booked into Marin County Jail on suspicion of burglary and being absent without leave from the Army. He was being held for the army.

San Rafael police said they sought Jensen in connection with the theft of $200 cash and $75 in liquor Nov. 11 from the Country Club Bowl at 88 Vivian Way.

Millin Elected By Knoll Homeowners

Louis G. Millin of Mill Valley has been elected to the board of directors of the Enchanted Knolls Homeowners Association, President Robert B. Rankin reported.

Millin, a truck salesman for a San Francisco firm who resides at 67 Millay Place, will replace Robert Murphy, who resigned because of business commitments, Rankin said.

Hike In Postal Rates Is Seen

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Federal sources have predicted a 33 1-2 per cent boost in postal rates by May.

A new U.S. Postal service board of governors will ask the five-member Postal Rate Commission for the increases in order to make the post office pay for itself, the sources said Thursday.

Under postal reform legislation passed last year, the board's proposed increases will go into effect within 90 days if the rate commission fails to act.

Ferry Accident

SEOUL (UPI)—A fish-freezing boat rammed an overcrowded ferry Thursday just outside Yosu port. Thirty persons died, most of them women trapped in the ferry's cabin, police said today.

Coors To Pay Cent Per Bottle

GOLDEN, Colo. (UPI)—The Adolph Coors Co. announced Wednesday a new program to recycle empty beer bottles. Coors will pay one cent a bottle for all Coors beer bottles that are returned.

The bottles will be broken up and sent back through the bottle-making plant to be melted down and made into new bottles.

The returnable bottle program will be effective in colorado immediately and will be put into operation throughout the company's 11-state marketing area within the next several weeks. Last year Coors used 618 million bottles.

Misspelling

Tough Smog Guidelines

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—The County Board of Supervisors Thursday approved the nation's strictest standards for control of oxides of nitrogen from power plants.

Under the plan, existing generating facilities must be modified by 1974 to bring oxide of nitrogen emissions down to 125 parts per million when burning gas and 225 ppm while using fuel oil.

There were no guidelines for maximum emission under existing laws but county air pollution control officer Robert Chass said most boilers emitted approximately 650 ppm.

$35,000 Bubble On The Market

EUGENE, Ore. (UPI)—Anybody want a $35,000 bubble that will fit an olympic size pool or football field?

The University of Oregon has a surplus three-ton inflatable nylon bubble it no longer needs.

The bubble had been used for two years to cover rainy weather outdoor sports, but was removed when indoor courts and astroturf were inserted. It has been deflated and placed in storage.

ALMANAC

By U.P.INTERNATIONAL

Today is Friday, Jan. 8, the eighth day of 1971.

The moon is between its first quarter and full phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Venus, Mars and Jupiter. The evening star is Saturn.

On this day in history:

In 1918 President Woodrow Wilson presented his 14 point plan for peace to Congress, which later turned it down.

A thought for today: American poet James Russel Lowell said, "Then it is the brave man who chooses while the crowd stands aside."

$10,000 Award To Margaret Mead

SEATTLE, Wash. (UPI)—Anthropologist Margaret Mead Wednesday became the first woman to win the $10,000 Arches of Science award, characterized by the sponsoring Pacific Science Center as "an American Nobel Prize."

The award, which includes a medal as well as the $10,000 cash prize, goes annually to the American who "has made an outstanding contribution to the public understanding of the meaning of science to contemporary man."

HOW TO PLAY

WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Make Risky Bids To Avoid Bad Score In Tournament Play

Tournament bridge is hard to explain in a single column or even in a whole week of columns. It's quite different in many important respects from rubber bridge, and the best I can say in a few words is: Try it. Go to your local club and watch a tournament for an hour or so; and then play a whole session at a later time. All it can cost you isan evening of your time and your card fee (usually less than a first-run movie). Millions of enthusiasts like it better than rubber bridge.

East dealer
Neither side vulnerable

	NORTH ♠ A K ♡ 6 5 2 ◇ 9 4 2 ♣ Q 10 9 6 3
WEST ♠ Q 5 2 ♡ Q J 4 ◇ A J 10 5 ♣ 7 4 2		EAST ♠ 10 6 4 ♡ A K 10 9 8 ◇ K Q 8 ♣ 8 5
	SOUTH ♠ J 9 8 7 3 ♡ 7 3 ◇ 7 6 3 ♣ A K J

East	South	West	North
1 ♡	Pass	2 ♡	Pass
Pass	2 ♠	Double	All Pass

Opening lead — ♡ Q

IMPORTANT DIFFERENCE

One of the important differences between the two games is shown in today's hand. At rubber bridge, South should cut his losses; in a tournament, he should play desperately to avoid a bad score.

Few rubber bridge players would bid two spades with the South hand; every tournament expert would make this risky bid like a shot. The object is to push East to three hearts, at which he would be beaten by four top cards in the black suits and a spade ruff.

ANOTHER POSSIBILITY

A further possibility is that South may not get doubled at two spades. In that case he can afford to go down two, for a loss of only 100 points. This is better for South than allowing East to score 110 for making two hearts. (East would get 50 points for making a part score and 60 points for the tricks.)

DESPERATE PLAY

The defenders lead three rounds of hearts, and South ruffs the third. He leads out dummy's two top trumps and returns to his hand with a club. If South then leads another trump, and finds that West has both the queenand ten of spades, the defenders will take the rest and South will be down four.

The alternative is to play the clubs, allowing the defenders to take the queen and ten of spades even if they are not both held by West. That way South is down a "safe" two. But South would get a zero (or a bttom score) for being minus 300; and he would not be any worse off for being minus 700.

Therefore South must lead a trump and hold his breath. When the trumps break favorable, South is down only one. Minus 100 is an acceptable tournament score.

DAILY QUESTION

Dealer, at your right, bids one heart. His partner bids two hearts, and this is passed around to you.

You hold:

♠ - A K
♥ - 6 5 2
♦ - 9 4 2
♣ - Q 10 9 6 3.

What do you say?

You should not risk a disaster at total points, but you can afford to compete actively at match points.

Rep. Moss Receives Ralph Brown Award

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —Rep. John E. Moss, D-Calif., today was presented the Ralph M. Brown award for "an outstanding contribution in the field of freedom of information."

The annual award is bestowed by the Central California Professional Chapter of Sigma Delta Chia, a national journalistic society. Moss authored the 1967 Freedom of Information Act which opened most federal government records to the public.

Want Not, And Ye Shall Receive

WALSALL, England (UPI)—Rev. James Curtin said today he only bet that $25 on the soccer pool lottery only with an eye to paying church debts.

"I had it in mind to win only a few thousand pounds to pay off outstanding bills on a new church hall," the 51-year-old priest told newsmen. "I do not consider gambling wrong when it brings benefit."

Father Curtin won more than the "few thousand pounds" he'd bargained for. He won $240,000.

CRLA In Denial To New Counts

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—The California Rural Legal Assistance (CRLA) Thursday labelled charges against it by the Reagan administration "totally and absolutely untrue."

Martin Glick, director of litigation for CRLA, said the group had not yet been furnished a copy of the charges, but had investigated most of those made public and found them false.

The charge that CRLA lawyers tried to arrange a meeting in prison between Angela Davis and the convict brother of a youth killed in the San Rafael shootout "just didn't happen," Glick said.

He said he had talked to every CRLA attorney in the Salinas office and all denied the charge. The report of Reagan's antipoverty chief, Lewis K. Uhler, said attorney Faye Stender and CRLA attorneys interceded at Soledad in an attempt to arrange a visit for Miss Davis with George Jackson.

David Kirkpatrick, an attorney in the Salinas CRLA office, said he had written to the governor demanding "a full retraction" of charges against him he said were "totally false and untrue." He said he was "considering libel action" if no retraction was made.

The report said documents showed that Kirkpatrick "subtly threatened an inmate at Soledad and suggested that the inmate, at best, suppress evidence, and, at worst, commit perjury in the soul brothers murder case."

Kirkpatrick said he had merely been contacted by former CRLA attorney Peter Haberfield of the Marysville office to see if an inmate recently transferred from Folsom to Soledad was satisfied with the transfer and if he had any more need for Haberfield's services.

"I saw him and he said he was satisfied with the transfer. I asked if he wanted further help and he said to thank Mr. Haberfield and tell him he needed no more help. That was the extent of my involvement," Kirkpatrick said.

Glick said of 18,900 cases filed by CRLA last year, only eight dealt with prisons. He also mentioned that the administration report claimed CRLA was excessively interested in "class actions" and not interested enough in individuals.

"Since 1966 there have been 70,000 individual cases handled by CRLA and only 55 class actions," he said.

The report said Judge Claude J. Miller of the Yuba Judicial District had stated that in 1970 at least five cases had come before him in which CRLA attorneys had represented criminal defendants.

Glick said the Marysville office was investigating this charge but he felt that the administration was not distinguishing between criminal cases and those that were juvenile or habeas corpus actions.

Mario Obledo, director of the Mexican-American Legal Defense and Education Fund, attended the news conference and called the administration charges against CRLA "frivolous."

"The governor has his own war on poverty," Obledo said, "but it is not a war to alleviate it —just to perpetuate it."

He called the veto of CRLA funds "purely a political issue" and "a shameful act on the part of the governor."

Board Refuses To Delay U.S. Steel Corp. Order

SACRAMENTO (UPI) —A state antipollution board today refused to postpone implementation of an order directing U.S. Steel Corp. from discharging wastes into waterways of the Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta.

But the state Water Resources Control Board did order its staff to examine the petition of U.S. Steel seeking a review of a cease and desist order and to report back Jan. 21 with a recommendation.

The cease and desist order against the giant firm was issued in November by the San Francisco Regional Water Quality Control Board. The state board is the parent of the regional agency.

The order said the firm's plant near Pittsburg violated state antipollution rules. The company dumps about 20 million gallons of waste and cooling water into New York Slough each day, the board said.

The five-member state board unanimously denied the steel company's appeal for a stay of the regional board's order. Member Ronald Robie called grounds on which U.S. Steel sought the stay "fairly weak."

The firm said the order should be stayed to avoid labeling petitioner (U.S. Steel) as a polluter and unfairly subjecting petitioner to severe penalties."

The state agency said that the only "penalties" provided by the regional board's order was requesting the attorney general to prosecute the discharger unless its directives were obeyed.

A U.S. Steel representative, William Everetts, told the board the company "regretted" the denial. He asked that it be given the opportunity later to present "evidence" to support its position.

"We'd like very much to hear from you," said Kerry Mulligan, board chairman.

U.S. Steel, in seeking the postponement, asserted that the San Francisco board's timetable for construction of additional discharge facilities were "too vague" and "unenforceable."

Marin Prep Basketballers To Open League Season

By David Einstein

The Marin County Athletic League, as powerful as it has ever been and probably better balanced, opens its 1971 league season tonight after more than a month of preseason play.

All teams will see action in four games beginning at 8 o'clock. San Rafael is at Marin Catholic in Kentfield, Redwood is at Novato, Terra Linda is at Drake in San Anselmo, and Tamalpais and San Marin meet at the College of Marin.

The favorite to win the title, now as before the first jump ball of the season last November, is Tamalpais of Mill Valley. The Indians are seventh ranked among Bay Area teams, and have won nine of 11 preseason games. They took the championship of the Redwood Empire Tournament in Healdsburg, and beat such powerhouses as Sacred Heart, Oakland and Petaluma.

Yet Tam is no lead-pipe cinch to win the crown, for there are two other tournament-winning teams in the MCAL, and three besides those which have shown brilliance at times.

Redwood, league champions for the past two years, has achieved a No. 17 ranking in the preseason, having won the Yuba City Tournament and defeated eighth ranked St. Ignatius.

The Larkspur team lost four of its first six games, but since then has won five of six, for a 7-5 preseason mark.

The other tourney winner, and the Cinderella team in the league this year, is Marin Catholic. The Wildcats of Kentfield, last place finishers in league play last year, have run up an impressive 10-4 record so far. With a starting lineup composed of four juniors and a senior, the Wildcats won the Rose City tourney in Santa Rosa, and their other preseason wins include a victory over powerful Lowell of San Francisco.

San Marin (6-7), Terra Linda (7-4) and Novato (6-5) all will have much to say about the title race. Terra Linda has been more consistent than the others, but has played a somewhat weaker schedule. San Marin has shown a tremendous ability to score, but like Novato has fallen prey to inconsistency.

Finally, there are San Rafael and Drake, the only weak teams in the league. Each suffers from inexperience and lack of height; for them, 1971 will be a building year.

Tamalpais' Will Garner — a junior transfer from Texas, Garner is, right now the best player in the MCAL. He does things seldom seen outside of college, relying on tremendous body control and incredible leaping ability. He can score almost at will when he's hot, and will control the boards almost all the time. At 6-foot-3, he's not the tallest man on the team by far, but he can jump so high there's no place to put him but in the center.

John Earl Huff — He's the only returning starter from last year, is the team's playmaking guard. He has all the tools — can drive, control the ball, pass, and shoot from anywhere on the court. He's also a determined defensive player, who can break up any game. He was named most valuable player in the Healdsburg tourney.

Redwood: Scott Trobbe — Last year's sixth man, Trobbe has matured into something of a superstar in the preseason. Voted to the all tourney teams both at Fresno and Yuba, the 6-foot-6 forward has consistently scored in the 20s, sometimes in the 30s. His touch from anywhere around the circle is precise.

Steve McGee — Steve is the brains of the outfit - the only holdover from last year's starting five. At 6-foot-6, he may be the best big man in the league. He has speed, great rebounding ability, and can work the fast break to perfection.

MARIN CATHOLIC: Bill Donellan — He is the only senior in the starting lineup. He's the most consistent scorer on the team, averaging about 15 points per game. He's the founda-

Outdoor Sports Can Go Indoors

Tom Rooney, the squire of Kenwood in Sonoma County and originator and managing director for the San Francisco Sports and Boat Show, was holding court on the eve of the 29th annual event which opens today at the Cow Palace.

Naturally, Rooney likes to talk about money because his show features thousands of outdoor sports and recreation items and it makes the record of 550-plus exhibitors feel good to sell a few items.

"We feel very optimistic for 1971 for the marine and outdoor industry," Rooney told a group of scribes, "based on the number of exhibitors for our show. The marine industry showed a large economic upturn this fall, and the boating industry held remarkably well this year — better than color TV, appliances and commercial travel. The history of recessions shows that there is a great turn to recreation as the dollar for big items is not necessarily there, but it is for recreation which is generally a low-priced item."

The boat show, which utilizes every inch of space in the mammoth Cow Palace, always features the usual outdoor sporting equipment.

Asked to describe his spectacle which brings the great outdoors indoors, Rooney succinctly called it: "The World Series of Folk Sports. A toy shop for children eager to explore the wonders of the outdoors."

This show, which runs through Jan. 17, again will feature the perennially popular Huck Finn Fishing Pool where many youngsters get their first taste of angling. Also, the canny Rooney estimated there are 20 million fishermen in the country and pointed out that as of last November the California Fish and Game Commission had issued 2,197,084 fishing licenses.

Yes, anglers will find every imaginable fishing item on display.

One of the biggest hits of the show, Rooney pointed out, will be the unique skyboat, the "Boataloon." It's a round, fiberglass boat attached to a rubberized plastic 48-foot high balloon which enables it to travel on water or in the air.

"It's no gimmick," the veteran managing director said, "because it is grand for people who want to change their lakes without fighting the traffic. It is powered by a 30 h.p. outboard motor which acts as a fan when airborne. The boat will be flown four times daily in the center arena of the Moo Mansion.

"Hot air or free air ballooning is becoming a big sport and we are the first to introduce an 'airphibious' model," said Rooney.

Boaters will have a field day because every type of craft ranging from an inflatable model that can be carried in the trunk of a car to a 51-foot houseboat will be on display. Also, many sailboats, cruisers and powerboats.

Bring your checkbooks.

The colorful Rooney, whose work at the S.F. show has earned him such titles as "Superb Showman" and "Super Salesman," added that camping and hunting and Vacationland Hall will get their share of exhibit space.

"We'll have many more innovations which won't be revealed until the show opens," he teased as he headed off on a whirlwind tour of the Guernsey Gym to make sure everything would go on schedule.

Show times are 2 p.m. to 11 p.m. weekdays, 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Saturdays and 11 a.m. to 7 p.m. Sundays.

See you there, sports.

Trio Tied In L.A. Open; Arnie's Beer Can Trouble

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Bob E. Smith, handsome Sacramento, bachelor, gets off to an early start today in the second round of the 72-hole $110,000 Glen Campbell Los Angeles Open to break out of a three-way tie for the lead.

This was the scene:

Defending champion Billy Casper and Tom Shaw, the boyish-looking pro from Milwaukie, Ore., both involved in the first round tie with Smith, had to wait until around noon to begin the second round of this tournament, the first event of the new year on the $7 million 1971 pro tour.

Smith, 28, who loves to describe himself as "still a bachelor," finished about dusk Thursday (hence the early start today) with 32-34—66, five under par for the Rancho Park municipal course.

Palmer took a par 71 on nines of 38-33 but should have been two strokes lower. On the fifth, hole, his tee shot landed in the rough under a beer car.

Palmer, 41, a pro for 15 years, said he should have called for a ruling and he could have gotten out of the fix without a penalty. Instead he moved the can and the ball moved. He played his second shot and it hit a tree and bounced onto the fairway. He took a par five on the hole but when, like a dutiful and impeccably honest pro, he reported the beer can incident, officials ruled he had to take a two-stroke penalty.

So the man who has won this tournament three times fell victim to a litter bug. He wouldn't name the brand of beer but swore off it on the spot.

"It was really my own fault," said honest Arnold. "Sometimes you don't do what you know you should do."

The first round was chilly and the start was delayed a half hour because of frosty greens.

Thirty-five golfers broke par 36-35 — 71 and another 20 equalled it.

Former San Rafael golfer Ron Cerrudo, who missed about half of last year with a bad back and subsequent operation, fired a 71.

Bob Payne, 27, an unknown pro from Mt. Vernon, Ill., was a stroke behind the leaders with 33-34—67. There were eight at 68 including the veteran Jerry Barber, George Archer, Dale Douglass, Bert Greene, Bob Lunn and Ray Floyd.

Tony Jacklin and Bruce Crampton, representing the British Empire, landed at 69 with Don January and five other pros.

Net Tourney Reaches Semi-Finals

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — America's premiere woman player, Billie Jean King, has her work cut out in the semi-final round today of the $15,000 British Motors' Women's Professional Tenns Tournament.

Mrs. King, making a comeback from knee surgery, has looked anything but steady in her first two matches. She had to battle 1 hour, 45 minutes Thursday to defeat France's Francoise Durr to advance to today's match against Ann Haydon Jones, 1969 Wimbledon winner, who stretched her set victory string to four by downing Kerry Melville.

Mrs. King's scores over Miss Durr were 4-6, 7-5, 6-1, and Mrs. Jones defeated Miss Melville by counts of 6-1, 6-0.

In the second semi-final match, hometown product Rosemary Casals, 6-1, 6-3, victor over Mary Ann Curtis, St. Louis, will meet Nancy Richey, who topped Peaches Bartkowicz, 6-2, 4-6, 6-2.

Strange Happenings In America Bowl

TAMPA, Fla. (UPI)—Nebraska Coach Bob Devaney and Miami Coach Fran Curci battled time and the elements today to put together the opposing teams for the American Bowl football game Sunday.

Players for the all-star game did not begin arriving until Tuesday and drills have been hampered by the weather.

The offensive units of the two teams got together for the first practice Wednesday but some players had yet to arrive.

Thursday the teams were chased inside by day-long rain and the defensive units got together for the first time.

Both Devaney and Curci hoped for clearing weather for today's sessions and will send the teams through full-scle workouts Saturday.

Kickoff for the game is 2 p. m. EST. Games officials said an estimated 15,000 fans are expected.

Joe Spagnola, who led Arizona State to an undefeated season and a Peach Bowl victory over North Carolina, will share quarterbacking duties for the South with Bill Montgomery of Arkansas.

The American Bowl, counted out by many after two years of financial losses and lawsuits, was revived late this year and received NCAA sanction late in September, long after many college seniors had been approached by the Senior Bowl game and the Hula Bowl game, both of which will be played Saturday.

But former college Coach Chelo Huerta was hired to round up the talent and came up with players for 30-man squads.

But there has had to be some juggling done, Huerta said, to keep the teams balanced. So the game will have the unique situation of two players from one college playing on opposite teams in the all-star game.

Speedy Bobby Tolan Has Serious Injury

CINCINNATI (UPI) —A torn achilles tendon suffered in a basketball game will put Cincinnati Reds outfielder Bobby Tolan out of action at least through the first two months of the 1971 major league baseball season.

The fleet-footed Tolan, who led the majors in stolen bases last year with 57, was playing a benefit game in Frankfort, Ky., with other members of the Reds, including Johnny Bench and Pete Rose, when he injured the tendon in his right heel Wednesday night.

"He was in center court on a fast break when it happened," said Reds utility pinch hitter Jimmie Stzwart, a member of the basketball team formed by a group known as Professionals, Inc.

"There was no one within ten feet of Bobby when it happened," Stewart said. "He just went down."

Tolan underwent surgery Thursday at Christ Hospital here and following the operation was placed in a full leg cast which he will keep on for four weeks.

Team physician Dr. George Ballou said he would not be permitted any visitors for at least 24 hours.

Dr. Dale Fox, who performed the surgery, said Tolan would be fitted with a walking cast after four weeks and wear it for another four weeks, after which he will start a slow rehabilitation process.

Offensive Fireworks Expected

MOBILE, Ala. (UPI)—The favored North today made public its battle plan for Saturday's Senior Bowl football game: the Yankees plan to attack by air and figure the Rebels will do the same.

"We won't be surprised if the South puts the ball in the air and so will we," said North coach Lou Saban of the Denver Broncos.

"I'm rather impressed with our squad. We've got two great quarterbacks (Don Pastorini of Santa Clara and Lynn Dickey of Kansas State)," added Saban, "they can really throw the ball."

Saban coached the North here last year and with Terry Bradshaw, the pros' No. 1 draft choice, at the controls the Yankees waged a 37-37 tie with the South, quarterback by Dennis Shaw who was this past season's American Football Conference rookie of the year.

"Both of these squads have great offensive ability," said Saban. "I wouldn't be surprised if this year's game turns out a lot like last year's."

"Hunter has a knot on his shoulder," Ewbank explained. "He's not throwing like he used to. He will have to throw better than he is now to make it in the pros. If I was going to draft him, I'd have an orthepedic man look at him."

But if Hunter does bog down, Ewbank has Duke's Leo Hart standing by. Hart was good enough to break most of the Atlantic Coast Conference passing records —erasing the names of such standout pros as Roman Gabriel, Sonny Jurgenson and Norm Snead.

Cool, clear weather is forecast for Saturday's 1 p.m. CST kickoff. A sellout crowd of 41,000 is expected for the nationally televised (NBC) contest.

This will be the first play-for-pay game for the college seniors. Members of the winning team get $1,500 (plus expenses of course) and the losers get $1,200. If the game ends in a tie like last year, all players get $1,375.

PROTHRO SUCCESSOR

Pepper Rodgers In UCLA Return

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Franklin "Pepper" Rodgers has cashed in on the popularity he won in two years on the UCLA campus as an assistant coach. Rodgers was named Thursday as the Bruins' head football coach to replace Tommy Prothro.

The appointment of Rodgers to succeed Prothro, who took the head coaching job with the Los Angeles Rams last Saturday, came as little surprise.

Rodgers had been brought West by Prothro when he was named UCLA's head coach in 1965 and the former Georgia Tech quarterback's ability was noted quickly by the University of Kansas. Kansas hired him in December, 1966, as its head coach.

With four years as head coach to season him, Rodgers did not take long to accept the UCLA job and the Jayhawks immediately named long-time assistant coach Don Fambrough as his replacement.

UCLA athletic director J.D. Morgan announced Rodgers' hiring after having conferred with the 39-year-old coach earlier in the week. Rodgers came here after receiving permission from Kansas Athletic director Wade Stinson to talk to the Bruins, returning to Lawrence, Kan., prior to the announcement.

"He is a fine student of the game and relates well to the student athletes, to his associates in the athletic department and to the academic community," Morgan said.

"He has served the University of Kansas well and we felt indeed fortunate to be able to attract him to UCLA."

At Kansas, Rodgers had a 20-22 record but he coached the Jayhawks to a tie for the Big Eight championship with Oklahoma in 1968 and took his team to the Orange Bowl where it lost a disputed 15-14 decision to Penn State that season.

"It is a tremendous thrill and challenge in replacing someone who is such a good friend and outstanding a coach as Tommy Prothro," Rodgers said. "I am thrilled UCLA would think enough of me to ask me to be their head football coach."

During his tenure at UCLA Rodgers helped develop Gary Beban, who won the Heisman Trophy in his senior year, and Mal Farr, who went on to star for the Detroit Lions. At Kansas, he turned quarterback Bobby Douglass and end John Zook into nationally prominent performers.

Within hours of his appointment, Rodgers announced four of his Kansas assistants—Doug Weaver, Terry Donahue, Dick Toma and Billy Matthews—would accompany him to UCLA. He said he would retain Bruin assistants Jerry Long and Tony Kopay, both of whom had been on Prothro's staff with Rodgers.

San Rafael Wrestlers Win

San Rafael High School's wrestling team won in 10 of 13 weight classes yesterday to defeat Redwood, 38 to 13 in a Marin County Athletic League opening match at San Rafael.

Gurney: A Natural In World Of Racing

The secret of race driving is measuring up exactly to your limits of courage, reflexes, judgment, daring, eyesight and strength. If your limit is 174 miles-per-hour and you drive 174 miles-per-hour, you're a race driver. If you drive 173.8 miles-per-hour, you're a motorist. If you drive 174.6 miles-per-hour, you're dead.

The arithmetic equation of race driving is that your limit is the square of your potential. Dan Gurney was one of the great American race drivers because he knew precisely that. He knew precisely how fast to go. And he knew precisely how slow to go.

"YOU HAVE to feel the car is an extension of yourself," is the way he explains it. "It is an extension of your nerves and senses. If you feel it is a foreign body you are struggling to control, you will end up in a pit, on a wall, on foot, or on a stretcher."

When Dan Gurney hung up his goggles last year after 15 years as probably the best Grand Prix driver America ever produced, auto racing had to be as relieved as it was saddened. No one ever went through the corners at Indy or the turns at LeMans, or the trees of the Nurburgring any smoother than Dan Gurney. Even the most timorous never hesitated to dice with Dan. He was as natural to race driving as Snead to golf, Mays to baseball, or the shark to swimming. He fell out of bed with his ability. For Gurney to have ended up in a burning race car would have argued that nobody had a real chance in this game, that it is a rigged wheel and the house always wins.

AMERICAN race drivers are usually cigar-chewing, dirt-track types. The urge to go fast in a circle is incomprehensible to the average 9-to-5 guy. But the guys who do it are usually blood brothers to the ones who rustle steers, or die for gold, or jump out of planes, or ride sharks. They don't usually like to drive where people talk funny or drink tea with three fingers.

Dan Gurney's people, on the other hand, come from concert and opera. They hadn't had a monkey wrench in their hands in that family for generations. A salad fork was more their utensil.

WHAT WAS not so surprising was that Gurney graduated from Riverside drag racing to sports cars to Grand Prix. What startled the automotive world was, when he was an established Grand Prix and Formula One driver of the stature of the Marquis de Portago, Count Von Trips, Fangio, Jimm Clark or Stirling Moss, he came to Indianapolis in 1963 with a daring scheme for an international invasion of that muscular, he-man 500-mile character-tester.

It was Gurney who recommended (first to Chevy who declined and then to Ford who agreed) that the rear-engined Lotuses be equipped with Detroit motors, and take on the brutish Offenhauser roadsters at their own game.

INDIANAPOLIS was never the same. Gurney's teammate, Jimmy Clark, finished second that year, and was to win two years later. Gurney was to take two seconds and a third at Indy in the next six years, although he finished seventh that first year in a car slightly less well set up than Clark's.

Gurney won Grand Prix races in three countries. He won endurance races, Can-Am races, stock car races. Grand Prix drivers had historically shuddered at the thought of taking on the reckless Americans on their macadam tracks with searing heats and treacherous winds and for prize money that frequently drove a man to exceed his personal limits in a desperate gamble for a lifetime of gold —or a lifetime of one lap. Gurney was almost the first to take the challenge.

GURNEY RETIRED to Moosehead Lake in Maine, a snowmobile and a fishing boat last year. But he will be grand marshal at the Motor Trend Riverside 500 for "Dan Gurney Appreciation Day" this weekend. He will be a spectator at a race he has won five times.

As usual, Dan Gurney, now 39, knew exactly when his limit had been reached and he brought it in well before fate would have to black-flag him off the course. He also knew precisely when to park it.

MR. LUCKY — Evel Knievel, who became a motorcycle stunt rider five years ago, plans to become the first rider to make a million dollars and says, in fact, he may do it this year. He starts tonight in Houston's Astrodome, where he intends to set an indoor world record by jumping over 13 cars. (UPI Telephoto)

MOTORCYCLE MADNESS

Evel Knievel At It Again; This Time In Astrodome

HOUSTON (UPI) — Robert "Evel" Knievel, who used to crack safes for the thrill of it, plans on becoming the first man to make a million dollars riding a motorcycle and he said Thursday he may do it this year.

Knievel, who became a motorcycle stunt rider five years ago, starts his $1 million conquest with a $25,000 appearance in the Astrodome Friday and, if he's still healthy, Saturday night.

The 32-year-old Butte, Mont., native will try to set an indoor world record by jumping 13 cars placed side by side in the floor of the domed stadium. He holds the world record of 11 set in the Cow Palace in San Francisco.

He tried to jump 12 last year in Vancouver, B.C., and failed. Undaunted, he tried to jump 13 outdoors at Mount Pocono, Pa., last October, missed again and suffered a broken back.

At Mount Pocono, he had a half mile runway to gain speed and momentum for the spectacular leap, but missed. At the Astrodome Friday night, he will have 80 yards.

"That's why this thing has got me spooked here," Knievel (as in devil) said. "The chance you got to make it, the runway is the main thing. The track here is rough and that's a damn big problem."

But by starting in the hallway of the Dome, he can get enough room to accelerate to 75 miles an hour by the time he reaches the jump ramp and he can go out the centerfield ramp into a parking lot to slow down — if he makes the jump.

He plans to try to jump 19 cars, which would be a world outdoor record, during the Grand National NASCAR race at Ontario, Calif., next month. That's worth another $25,000, he said.

The last time he tried to jump 19 cars, in Seattle, Wash., last year, he missed and suffered another broken back. He had set the record of 18 at Seattle.

The biggest leap of Kneivel's career will be sometime next year when he attempts to jump a mile-widewide section of Snake River Canyon which he bought when the government refused to let him jump Grand Canyon. The canyon is 1,000 feet deep where the jump is planned and Knievel has installed a parachute on a specially built cycle.

The vehicle, which resembles a rocket with two wheels and uses jet fuel and beer, cost $100,000. It travels 350 miles an hour.

Knievel, who walks with a cane with a golden knob, has had 13 accidents since he graduated from motorcycle racing five years ago. He's such a bad risk now that he can't buy insurance.

It even costs him $5,000 a year insurance for a $100,000 trailer truck he uses.

1971 World Series Game To Be Under The Lights

NEW YORK (UPI) — Thirty-six years after Larry MacPhail introduced night baseball to the major leagues, a World Series game will be played under the lights.

Baseball Commissioner Bowie Kuhn announced Thursday that the fourth game of the 1971 Series — in the park of the National League champion on Wednesday, Oct. 13 — will be the first night game in the history of the classic.

The decision by Kuhn follows several years of speculation that baseball would put its showcase event on at night for the benefit of national television.

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Jerry Williams will be back at the helm of the Philadelphia eagles next season, but on a "win or else" basis.

Eagles' owner Leonard Tose said Thursday that Williams would be retained to finish the third year of a three-year contract, thus sparing him the fate of three other pro football coaches the past week.

Tose, who had said after the Eagles finished the 1970 season with a 3-10-1 record that he was going to "reevaluate" the coaching job, made the announcement accompanied by Williams and general manager Pete Retzlaff.

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Cleveland Browns quarterback Bill Nelsen has confirmed that he does not plan an immediate operation on his right knee, which hampered him much of the season.

Nelsen has undergone two operations on his knees and played without cartilage in either of them last season.

A GREAT SKI SEASON

Most ski resorts in the Sierra Nevada area are reporting great ski conditions these past few weeks. Shown getting in on some of the action at Sugar Bowl in the Tahoe Basin is ski patrolman Jim Rogers of San Rafael. The report from the Sugar Bowl at Donner Summit is 25 feet of packed powder, and that should be enough snow for just about anybody.

Black Hawks Dominate The West

NEW YORK (UPI) — Brothers Bobby and Dennis Hull led a record Chicago assault on National Hockey League All-Star nominations as eight members of the Black Hawks were among the 12 players named today to the West Division team.

The Black Hawks, who were expected to dominate the younger West Division after winning the regular season title in the East last year, were shut out only in the voting for right wing. The St. Louis Blues, who dominated the West during their first three years of existence prior to the arrival of Chicago, placed three men on the squad and the Pittsburgh Penguins had the only other representative.

Another eight players will be selected by West Coach Scotty Bowman, now the general manager of the Blues, to complete the team for the 24th annual All-Star Game at Boston Garden on Tuesday night, Jan. 19.

Bobby Hull, who needs only 12 more goals to surpass Maurice Richard's figure of 544 and thus become the second-highest goal scorer in NHL history, was the only unanimous choice to the West team with a perfect 105 points in the voting conducted among 21 members of the NHL Writers' Association.

Joining the Hull brothers on the West team from Chicago were centers Stan Mikita (75 points) and Pit Martin (40), goalie Tony Esposito (87) and defensemen Keith Magnuson (73), Pat Stapleton (59) and Bill White (47).

St. Louis, which ran away to the West Division championship last season but now trails Chicago by 10 points, is represented by goalie Ernie Wakely (27), defenseman Barclay Palger (38) and right wing Tim Ecclestone (2). The other right wing post went to veteran Ken Schinkel of Pittsburgh with 70 points, but he underwent surgery earlier this week for a broken collarbone and is not expected to play again for at least two months. Bowman will name another player to replace Schinkel.

Prep Cagers To Open League Slate Tonight

Jim Sullivan and Tim Stone — A couple of juniors, who with Donellan give Marin the best balanced scoring in the league. One or the other is always hot, and Sullivan can rebound with the best of them.

SAN MARIN: Dana LaFerriere — Last year's All North-Coast center, LaFerriere (6-foot-8), is very good when he's good, but has been plagued this season with moodiness that at times has made him ineffective. As he goes, so go the Mustangs. He averaged 23 points a game last year, and, although records are not kept in rebounding, he probably set a league mark there.

Jim Thompson — He is a senior forward, has had the hot shooting hand lately, and could be just the cure for the team's inconsistency. He's getting better each game, and should take some of the pressure off big Dana.

TERRA LINDA: Joe Casteel — A strong, polished forward, Casteel (6-foot-3) is one of the best shooters in the league, and the Trojans' main offensive threat. He can shoot effectively inside or outside, and is a strong rebounder.

Larry Kerr — The name of the Terra Linda game is defense, and you might as well say Larry Kerr. Besides Casteel the Trojans' only returning starter, Kerr is a muscleman, who lacks polish and grace but more than makes up for it with heads-up play and fierceness.

NOVATO: Joe DeMaestri — A definite all-league prospect, DeMaestri may be the best shooter in the league. He needs to become more consistent, but when he's right, Novato can win.

Marty Moroski — Only a junior, Moroski (6-foot-4), is in his second varsity campaign, and is learning all the time. He has all the equipment to become a first rate center. An above average rebounder.

SAN RAFAEL: Jim Thorne — A good all around ballplayer, Thorne has lately been leading the Bulldogs into scoring, and was voted to the all-tourney team in the Pinole Valley Classic.

Wayne Lechner — He's not big for a center (6-foot-3), but he gets in there and mixes it up, and will consistently score nearly 10 points a game.

DRAKE: Jit Singh — Only a junior, Singh is the playmaker to whom the Pirates will look in this season of little promise. He's a good one, though, who can make the most of the team's talent.

Jim Forni — The only player back from last year, Forni is the most experienced and knowledgable player on the club. He's only 6-foot-1, yet he'll be playing center, and it remains to be seen how well he can handle some of the league's big men.

In tonight's opening games, look for Tam to handle San Marin, Redwood to get by Novato, Marin Catholic to beat San Rafael, and Terra Linda to run away from Drake.

Nick Skorich Takes Over Eagles' Job

CLEVELAND (UPI) —Nick Skorich has stepped into a role only two before him have taken on—head coach of the Cleveland Browns—and he said he intends to be here "a long time."

"I intend to be here ten years," said Skorich, a former head coach with the Philadelphia Eagles who has served under retiring Browns Coach Blanton Collier the last seven years.

Skorch was picked to be Collier's successor Thursday in a move that apparently was savored by Collier, Skorich and the front office.

"I'm delighted and Blanton is delighted," said owner Art Modell. "My philosophy is that I believe in continuity, succession and growth within and I'm happy."

Skorich, 49, head coach of the Eagles 1961-63, said the appointment was the expression of a goal.

"Seven years ago when I joined the Browns, one of my wishes was to return as a head coach in this league," the Bellaire, Ohio, native said.

Paul Brown, now coach of the Cincinnati Bengals, was the original coach of the Browns and led the team from the old All-American Conference in 1950 into the National Football League.

Collier had been with the Browns since 1946, left in 1954 for college coaching, and returned in 1962 to take over when Brown was fired.

FISH AND GAME

Father-Son Night For Novatans

By AL GIDDINGS

Tonight is the big night at the Novato Community Club. The Novato Kiwanis Club, in cooperation with the Novato Creek Committee, will present a first Novato Father-Son sportsmen's night, starting at 8 p.m. You can get your tickets at the door.

What's it all about? A group of sportsmen decided to give their sons a look at some fishing areas around Novato that could stand some improvements. Proceeds of tonight's affair are to be used for stocking and stream improvement of Novato Creek, and to plant catchable trout at the spray pool in Pioneer Park this spring.

MEMBERS OF the Rogue River Steelhead Club will be there with action movies, and there will be demonstrations of fly tying. Rod casting techniques and a gun safety program, along with refreshments and door prizes, will be on the agenda. If the program succeeds, further steps are planned to use the proceeds from a second affair in September to help restock Papermill Creek with either silver salmon or steelhead. I've been asked to come over to answer questions about fish and game. I'll also bring some Department of Fish and Game films.

Tickets are $5 per father-son combination and all proceeds will be used on the projects. This is just what we need, and I hope it's the start of getting the Papermill Creek fish runs back like they used to be!

FRANK SPENCER, the keeper of the Marin Rod and Gun Club pier just called to say that Chet Lavin of Corte Madera caught a 42½-pound sturgeon off the pier without anyone being there to give him a hand in landing the critter. If you know the pier — it's 20 feet off the water — then you know what a time a lone fisherman would have in playing a big fish, then trying to get a 14-foot net under a fish with one hand, while keeping the fish out of the pilings with the other. Sounds impossible, but he did it, though Frank says, "That man is still shook up!" Frank also reported that Fred Wieand of S. F. landed a 14-pound bass this week. Both fishermen used anchovies for bait.

HERE'S A FANTASTIC story about a pheasant. A hen pheasant was tagged in 1961 at Honey Lake. In 1970, nine years later, that bird was killed by a hunter who thought he had bagged a male because the bird had the bright plumage of a rooster. This color change happens, however, if a hen lives to an age of 6 or 7 years! The actual life expectancy of a pheasant is less than one year! The hunter wasn't arrested — it's like killing a doe with horns, and involves no game law violation.

Norman Quadros called to give me the word for saying that he and a friend got just one bird at Grizzly Island last Wednesday. He says that's all they saw —that it wasn't bad shooting! Probably my reporting this kept some of you home last Saturday. Oh, boy! The wind blew at Grizzly and all of us were watching the East-West game, or we just stood home because of "no birds."

Quadros said they really had a good shoot — those who went! Nope, he didn't go either! So now the wind is blowing —go duck hunting! We don't have much time left —the season closes Jan. 17. Northeast California closes this Sunday. There are lots of birds; it's being there when they are on the move that counts.

WEST COAST BASKETBALL

Strong Pacific-8 To Begin Action

By United Press International

Perhaps the strongest Pacific Eight basketball field in history commences firing tonight, but UCLA still appears to be in a class by itself and ready for its fifth straight title.

The nationally top-rated Bruins, working on a 14-0 winning streak and 9-0 this season, host Washington, tougher than its 5-5 record would indicate.

USC, nationally third ranked and last team to dump UCLA, entertains Washington State, which brings in a 9-2 mark. The Trojans are also 10-0.

Oregon and Oregon State, both with 7-2 records, host Stanford and California, respectively. Stanford's 4-6 mark indicates the Indians may be in for a long conference campaign. The Bears are 7-3, but have played only once at home.

Thus the Pacific Eight's teams move into conference play with a gaudy 63-20 record. They boast at least 10 All-America hopefuls on the eight teams with names like Sidney Wicks and Curtis Rowe of UCLA, Stan Love, of Oregon, Charlie Johnson of California, Steve Hawes of Washington, Claude Terry of Stanford and Paul Westphal of USC springing to mind.

Meanwhile, the West Coast Athletic Conference got going Thursday night with Nevada Las Vegas, UOP and Pepperdine in especially good form.

Nevada Las Vegas hosted tough Loyola and came out on top 73-64 with Booker Washington getting 22 for the winners. The Rebels now have an 8-3 record and could be a dark horse conference contender if they can figure out how to play as well on the road as they do at home.

UOP hosted Santa Clara and got the 72-60 win with big center John Gianelli all over the court. He hit 28, grabbed 18 rebounds and blocked 11 shots. The Tigers, who have also lost three, still are the conference favorite.

Pepperdine is 6-2 and showed it could win on the road by taking the 98-66 win at Nevada Reno. The Waves swished over half of their floor shots with Steve Sims hooping 19.

USF also got out with a victory by taking St. Marys 74-66. WCAC play resumes Saturday.

If there was ever a right time to take your wife and kids to New York this has got to be it.

Because if you fly there with us for the full coach fare between February 1 and 25, you can take the whole family along for only $110 each.

That's $260 less than you'd pay for a family of four on the family plan. And $136 less than you'd pay for your wife alone on the excursion fare.

This low price is good for families traveling together Monday through Thursday. On any of our flights to New York. And to Washington, D.C., Baltimore, Boston, Providence, Hartford and Philadelphia as well. (No stopovers permitted.) And you can stay as long as fourteen days.

And to make the trip even nicer, you can charge it with our Vacation Credit Card.

And who knows if there ever will be again.
